Bibliographic Policy and Procedure (2003/2004)

- When all the formats represent the same copy of a serial such as backfiles or replacements in another format for a paper original, then only one bibliographic record with separate holdings (MFHD) records would remain the standard practice. [GAPS]
- For records from aggregator databases, separate records for each aggregator will be maintained, although both records represent an electronic resource. This will allow unique coverage to be maintained and keeping the records separate will reduce maintenance efforts as these records are updated. [AGGREGATOR SPECIFIC]
- If a serial is superceded by an electronic resource, the 856 for the electronic resource may be added to the serial record as appropriate. [SINGLE]

“Aggregator neutral”

- “Policy of creating a separate record for each aggregation became confusing and hard to maintain”--CONSER
- More and more print cancelled in favor of electronic
- Redundant coverage in packages
- Firmly moved to separate records for print and electronic versions of Serials

Bib linking

Bib Linking – What is it?

- Bib linking creates hyperlinks between separate related catalog records such as print and electronic serial versions with the same content.
- Each hyperlink is created at the time of the catalog search, it is not persistent.
- No backend maintenance required to maintain the links, though some initial cleanup of some of the records is needed.

What's it look like?

The screenshot shows the InfoKat web interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with links like 'LCC Library', 'Other Library Catalogs', 'Interlibrary Loan', 'Electronic Journals', 'Ask a Librarian', and 'Library Site Index'. Below this is the 'INFOKAT' logo and a banner about a library link relocation. A search bar is present with the text 'Search Headings Titles My Library Account Preferences My Records My Searches Requests History Help Exit'. The main content area displays search results for 'Abacus'. It shows the database name, search request, and search results. A 'Next' button is visible. Below the search results, there are tabs for 'Brief View', 'Full View', and 'MARC Format'. The 'Full View' tab is selected, showing details for 'Abacus'. The details include the title, publisher, description, frequency, and location. A table under 'Other Format(s):' shows a link to the electronic resource. A yellow arrow points to this link. A text box on the right explains that this is the bib link to the e-journal record. The interface also includes a 'Print display with Bib Link to e-journal display' button on the left and a 'Next' button at the bottom.

The screenshot shows the Infokat University of Kentucky Libraries Online Catalog & Gateway interface. The browser window title is 'Infokat Brief View'. The top navigation bar includes links for LCC Library, Other Library Catalogs, Interlibrary Loan, Electronic Journals, Ask a Librarian, and Library Site Index. The main header displays the University of Kentucky Libraries logo and the title 'INFOKAT UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY LIBRARIES ONLINE CATALOG & GATEWAY'. A notice states: 'Beginning May 10th Library Link has relocated to Little Fine Arts Library and will return to the 108 POT on August 17th.' Below the header is a navigation menu with links: Search, Headings, Titles, My Library Account, Preferences, My Records, My Searches, Requests, History, Help, and Exit.

The search results section shows the following information:

Princeton model

- Bell, Joyce. “Bib Linking print and electronic records.” Presentation at EndUsers 2006.
- Provided the how to manual.
- Princeton focused primarily on ISSN and ISBN links

Upon further investigation ...

- Additional programming was needed to implement this into our catalog.
- We obtained a quote to index four of our MARC fields to set up the relationships in both our training database and our live catalog.
- Another quote was obtained that would provide our patrons the ability to move between all related records such as earlier and later serial titles, and records with a parent/ child relationship.

Integrated Library Systems Committee Proposal

- Bib linking would link our print and electronic materials to make things clearer to our patrons in the OPAC display by providing seamless transport between the print and electronic versions.
- October, 2006, we submitted a Request of funds for Bib linking print and electronic records

How did we do it?

We obtained programming to create new left- anchored indexes in our Voyager database for:

- Additional physical form entry 776 field
 - |w Record control number
 - |x ISSN
- Nonspecific relationship entry 787 field
 - |w Record control number
- Bid ID Voyager record number 001 field

Voyager Systems Administrator

Set up profiles to define relationships between certain fields in the bibliographic records

- 022 |a to 776 |x
- 035 |a to 776 |w
- Voyager Bib ID to 787 |w

How does it works?

- Voyager checks each retrieved record for the presence of one of the established relationships and then Voyager checks for a record which meets the matching part of the relationship.
- Link is created as each record is retrieved
- There is no permanent link between the two records

Characteristics

- Relationships determined by the bib content
- Very flexible
- Reciprocal/Multiple links
 - e-journal to print / print to e-journal
 - Print to both microfilm and electronic/
Microfilm to both print and electronic/
Electronic to both print and microfilm
- One-sided links
 - Distinct title in series to a parent serial

When Voyager retrieved this record:

- It checked for the presence of a 776|w. It was found, so it searched for a match of the same content [46593967] in an 035|a field
- When the match was found in the 035|a field, it created a hyperlink in the OPAC
- Both records have both 035|a and 776|w, so the process works in reverse, or reciprocal links.

Bib Linking Benefits

Things are clearer to our patrons in the OPAC display by providing seamless transport between :

- print, microfilm, and electronic formats
- print and electronic serial versions

So what else is left?

- Maintenance
 - Minimal regular maintenance
 - Suppressed records need to suppress the 776 field
 - If you remove one half of the linked pair, the link disappears
- Ongoing
 - Routine workflow during cataloging
 - Verifying 776 links as records are added

Ongoing procedures

- Cancelling print, subscribing to electronic
 - Standardizing cancellation notes
Print subscription cancelled after [e.g. v.50 (2008)]
- New e-subscriptions
- Continuing clean-up
- Storing print backfiles

Copy Cataloging

- Choose matching record based on title, ISSN, publication dates, format/GMD. Choose CONSER authenticated record whenever possible, identifiable by presence of 042 field.
- Once the record has been identified, add the 099 and 506 fields to the record
- In Voyager, add the 856 link to SFX: SFX URL + ISSN, or the SFX URL + journal title; ISSN or Journal title will need to be copied and pasted into the URL
- Delete extraneous 856 fields
- With the record on screen, review the record closely. It should have the following elements:

Form: s

006 m d (for computer format)

007 c |b r |d c |e n (for remote access computer file)

022 |a electronic ISSN |y Paper ISSN (if available)

099 SEE Internet Access

130 Uniform title with qualifier (Online) (if this is an electronic version of a print)

245 |h [electronic resource]

500 Title from title screen (viewed on date)

538 Mode of Access: World Wide Web

506 Restricted to subscribers.

530 Also available in a paper version. (if available)

6xx At least one LC subject heading

776 1 |t title of paper version |x [ISSN] |w (OCoLC) (If available)

856 40 |u URL for SFX link

The Future

- Maybe ERM
- Next Gen Catalog/OPAC
- More backfiles
- More clean-up, more storage
- Incorporating CONSER Standard Record
- Reducing duplicate effort
