The College of Law of the University of Kentucky, was organized under the provisions of an act of the Legislature passed in 1908, and was opened for the admission of students in September of that year.

After the experience of the first year, the course of study was so amended as to meet the requirements of the Association of American Law Schools; application for admission to membership in that association was made, and the following year was granted. Other improvements are constantly being made in order to keep pace with the most approved law schools of the country.

Our country is experiencing remarkable growth and development. The requirements for a successful career in all lines of business and in all professions, necessitate the laying of a broader foundation before encountering these greatly changed conditions. The design of this College is to teach the student the fundamental principles of English and American law, and to so extend the course of study as to fit him for the bar in any state. The course offered is thorough and comprehensive, giving such training as will prepare him for usefulness as a citizen, and success as a practitioner. The instruction will not be limited to persons who may choose the law as a profession, but will be given also to special students who may elect to take a limited course in such subjects as will be found useful in the pursuit of some other business or occupation. A good knowledge of the law is now being generally recognized as necessary and fundamental in making up a well-rounded preparation for a business life. Besides this, the study of the law, as now taught, with its collateral work, is an important part of a liberal education.

EXPENSES.

Tuition is free to all law students who are residents of Kentucky, but each student will be required to pay an incidental fee of $20.00 which will be used in paying for use of illustrative case books in payment of a ticket which will entitle the holder to free admission to all public lectures given under the auspices of the Public Lecture Bureau, to medical advice from the resident physician, to the use of the university hospital, and free admission to all athletic contests and exercises given under the auspices of the University Athletic Association. Non-resident law students will pay an additional fee of $5.00. Students entering the second semester will pay one-half the above fees. Each graduate will pay a diploma fee of $10.00. The books for the required work will cost about $25.00 a year. Good board and lodging can be had in private families at prices varying from $3.50 to $4.50 per week. Or rooms may be had in private families and meals obtained at the university dining hall at very reasonable rates.

ADMISSION.

Applicants for admission to the first year classes of the College of Law must be at least eighteen years of age. Each of such applicants, if required must present evidence of good character. This may be in the form of a certificate of credit from the school last attended by the applicant, or by a letter signed by a reputable citizen. Students who carry their full line of work in other colleges of the University may during their senior year and by the consent of their dean, have the privilege of attending, free of charge, any of the lectures and recitations of the College of Law.

Entrance Requirements.

All students who are candidates for graduation must be able to offer credit for fifteen units* of high school or other secondary school work. This credit can be secured:

1. By examination.
2. By certificate from an accredited school.
3. By transfer from some other university or college.

Of the fifteen units required for admission, 8½ are specified as follows:

*A unit represents a subject pursued for five periods a week for one school year.

†Graduates of first class high schools who have had four full school years' work in English of five recitations per week may offer four units in English.

No subject offered as an entrance requirement can be counted again in the total credit required for the completion of a college course.
The remaining $6\frac{1}{2}$ units may be selected at will from the following list:

A student will be received and classified as first year law student if he offers as many as thirteen of the fifteen units, but he must make up the two additional units before the beginning of his second year's work.

College Work.

All candidates for graduation who are under twenty-one years of age when matriculated, must before beginning the last year of the law course, complete at least fifteen credits of college work equivalent to the freshman year of this University. This work will be chiefly elective, but must be so chosen as to satisfy the Dean, and must in the first year include English and forensics. Credit for this work or any part of it, will be received from other acceptable schools.

Advanced Standing.

Applicants for admission to advanced standing in law must first satisfy the foregoing entrance requirements. By presentation of satisfactory certificates issued by an approved law school, which requires entrance credits equal to above, or by examination, such applicants may then obtain any advanced credits in law to which they are entitled. For admission to the junior year, satisfactory evidence must be shown of the completion of the work of the first year of the course in law or its equivalent. For admission to the senior year, evidence must be shown of the completion of the work of the first and junior years of the course in law or its equivalent. All law credits offered for advanced standing must be submitted to the Dean for adjustment. In no event will credit be given for more than two years' work done outside of this College.

Special Students.

Persons who are at least twenty years of age, whose preliminary preparation is not such as to entitle them to enter the regular courses as candidates for a degree, or persons who have read law for a considerable period before making application for admission, and such reading has not been sufficiently extensive to bring them within the rules for admission for graduation, are allowed to become special students, with the privilege of pursuing the courses of study, in any of the specified subjects, but without the privilege of being enrolled as candidates for a degree. All such students must satisfy the Law faculty that they are qualified to pursue the work with profit to themselves, and will be required to complete the subjects selected with the same thoroughness as regular students.

Should a special student desire subsequently to become a candidate for a degree, he must make up the work required for admission and do the required college work before the beginning of the year in which he proposes to graduate.

DEGREES AND SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

The Degree of Bachelor of Laws (LL. B.)

The degree of Bachelor of Laws (LL. B.) will be conferred upon students who have satisfied the entrance requirements, completed the college work and the work in law as prescribed, have passed the final examination and have reached the age of twenty-one years.

The Degree of Master of Laws (LL. M.)

Persons who can offer the required entrance credits and are regular graduates from an acceptable law school, may become candidates for the degree of Master of Laws (LL. M). For details concerning this degree address the Dean of this college.

Certificates.

A student who has been connected with the College for a period not entitling him to graduate, may on application to the Dean receive an official certificate of attendance and the degree of his attainments in the subjects taken.
Removal of Conditions.

Students who fail to receive their degrees in due course, because of conditions in the law work, will be permitted to remove those conditions at any time not later than one year after the graduation of their regular class. Further time may, however, be granted by a vote of the Law faculty.

Combined Arts-Law Course.

Seniors in the College of Arts and Science may elect as part of the requirements for graduation in that college, courses from the first year's work in the College of Law. By so doing they will be able to shorten from seven to six years the time required to earn the degrees in both courses.

Special Lecturer.

Each of the persons designated in the Law faculty as a lecturer, will before delivering his course, furnish the Dean with his manuscript, and copies of same will be made and furnished each student of the class to be addressed. Each page of the copies will have a wide blank margin so that the student may follow the lecturer and make his note. The subjects will thus be treated on practical lines, and the student's copy will be of practical value to him.

Privileges and Library.

Students of the College of Law will be admitted to all the privileges of the literary societies, gymnasium and university library, upon equal terms with other students of the University. They may also attend any of the classes or lectures in other departments of the University without extra charge. A law library containing 9,000 volumes of carefully selected law books has been accumulated and placed in the library rooms of the department, and is open daily for the free use of students. This library embraces the entire National Reporter system, and the separate volumes of the reports to a majority of our best states from the beginning up to the publication of that system. The Supreme Court reports and all other Federal Court reports are complete. There is a complete set of all reported English cases from 1650 to the present time. Trinity system, Halbury's Laws of England, CYC., L. R. A. Corpus Juris, Encyclopedias, and many other valuable sets of law books, including a large collection of the best text books are on hand. All the best publications of law books being issued are obtained for this library.
The Henry Clay Law Society is an organization composed of the law students, which convenes once each week in a hall provided for its use. In this society the students, by study and actual practice, will learn the rules of parliamentary law and their use in deliberative assemblies. They will organize legislative assemblies and learn the procedure in the framing and passage of bills, both state and federal. Subjects of a public nature will be discussed so as to familiarize the students with the affairs of the country which will confront them in their experience as citizens and professional men.

PRIZES.

The American Law Book Company Prize.

The American Law Book Company of New York offers a prize to the student who takes the highest scholarship honors upon his graduation, a complete set of forty-three volumes of the Cyclopedia of Law and Procedure (CYC).

The Lawyers Co-operative Publishing Company Prize.

The Lawyers Co-operative Publishing Company of Rochester New York offers as a prize to the student who makes the best general average in the junior year, a set of seven volumes Co-operative Digest of the United States Supreme Court Reports.

Callaghan & Company Prize.

Callaghan & Company, Law Book Publishers of Chicago offer as a prize to the student who makes the second best general average in the junior year, a copy of the Cyclopedia Dictionary.

The W. H. Anderson Company Prize.

The W. H. Anderson Law Publishing Company of Cincinnati Ohio offers as a prize to the student who makes the best general average in the first year, a set of Page on Contracts, three volumes.

Henry S. Barker Prize.

Henry S. Barker, President of the University, offers a prize of twenty dollars to be awarded to the law student of the Henry Clay Law Society, who prepares and delivers the best oration upon some legal topic.
METHOD OF INSTRUCTION.

The method of instruction pursued will be the use of text-books, lectures, cases, and such other methods as the faculty may deem advisable. The value which the study of cases possesses, in illustrating the practical application of legal principles, is fully appreciated, and in addition to the use of prescribed case books the student will be required to use the library freely, in searching for cases illustrative of the principles taught him. He will be required to present the result of his investigation in the law library, to the class-room, that the subject may be discussed before the class until thoroughly understood. The preparation of all applicable legal instruments will be taught in connection with the respective subjects.

Examinations will be held on each subject as it is completed, and a general examination will be held at the end of the year upon the entire year’s work.

Moot Court.

The student enters more thoroughly into the spirit of his law work and obtains a clearer understanding if he is given exercises from which he may draw conclusions by applying his knowledge of the principles of the law taught him in his class. Therefore students in the second year of their law course are required to do an amount of moot court work, which is based upon assumed statements of facts given by the professor in charge. From the statement of facts, each member of the class is required to draw his own conclusion as to what principle is involved, and support his conclusion by the law he is able to gather from his investigation in the law library of text-books and court decisions. The reports are made by the students and debated before the class. This plan teaches the student how to analyze facts, how to find and apply the law, and how to present his case and debate it. Brief making and criminal procedure will be taught in this connection.

Practice Court.

The training given in a law school is not complete unless the student acquires a knowledge of actual practice. This is secured by the introduction of the practice court, which is presided over by one of the professors, and this work is required of all students in their senior year. A room is especially equipped for this work, with all the furnishings usually found in a well regulated court-room. The court will be provided with a full corps of officers made up of the students, each of whom will alternate in official service until each member of the class has had sufficient practice to become familiar with the duties of each office.

Students will be required first to acquaint themselves with the various courts, their jurisdiction, original, concurrent and appellate. They will then be required to carry many default cases in common law and in equity, from the filing of the original papers to the conclusion. Each student will be required to write out in long hand and explain all steps possible to be taken in each case, including the duties to be performed by the various officers of the court. In this connection they will be taught the actual use of the practice code of this and other states, as well as the application of the common law procedure.

Many cases will be prepared setting forth facts upon which issues will be joined. For the purposes of this work, court will be opened and in the contests in making issues, the practice of handling pleadings, demurrers and motions of every kind will be experienced.

Contested equity cases will be made upon given statement of facts, students will be assigned as attorneys on each side of the cases, other students will act as special judges of the court. In each case, the attorneys will be required to look up the law thoroughly, debate their cases before the special judges, and file briefs with same. The court will deliver written opinions. Students will alternate in this kind of service.

Actual controversies will be arranged and assigned for trial on issues of fact before regularly impaneled juries made up of students, when witnesses will be examined, depositions and other evidence heard, juries instructed upon the law of the cases, arguments made before the court and jury, and all other incidents of a contested trial will be had. Some of these cases will be prosecuted to the Court of Appeals.

Students will at intervals attend the courts of Fayette County which are in continuous session. Experience gathered there and in the practice court of the College will give a good knowledge of the practical part of the course of instruction.

Students who may desire to spend some part of their spare time in the office of a practicing attorney, in order to gain some acquaintance with the office work and the manner of handling business by the active practitioner, will have this opportunity offered them.

Two hours per week. Second semester. Professor Chalkley.

31. Seminar on Contemporary Legislative Problems. Each student will be required to investigate a particular legislative problem of interest to lawyers, and to present informally the present law in Kentucky, the evils for which a remedy is sought, the way the problem has been met in other states and countries, and a proposed statute for Kentucky. After criticism by the instructor and other students, he will prepare a thesis embodying the results of his investigation. Elective, limited to sixteen students. One hour per week. Second semester. Professor Hutchcraft.

SUMMER COURSE IN LAW.

In connection with the summer courses of instruction offered by the University of Kentucky, the College of Law will offer special courses in law, beginning June 14, 1916, and continuing eight weeks. These courses will be given on many of the subjects set out in the regular courses, and are offered for the benefit of those who have not completed the work of the previous year and wish to continue the law course to its completion; for those who are preparing for admission to the bar and have had no training in a law school; for lawyers or students who wish to review the law to familiarize themselves with the theory, or to prepare for advanced standing in pursuing the law course to graduation in this University. Work successfully completed during the summer term will be credited as if done during any regular term, thereby lessening to that extent the period of time necessary for graduation.

Students who enter the Summer Law School will be permitted to supplement their law studies by taking instruction in any of the classes in other departments of the University without extra charge. The surroundings of the University are peculiarly favorable for summer work. The campus of fifty-two acres is well located, well elevated, and covered with trees and shrubbery.

The tuition for the summer term is $12.50. Students will be allowed to room in either of the two large dormitories, including use of furniture and lights, for a nominal sum. Meals may be had at prices ranging from $2.75 to $4.00 per week.
