INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT

HISTORY AND PURPOSES OF THE COLLEGE OF LAW

The College of Law of the University of Kentucky was organized under the provisions of an act of the legislature of the State of Kentucky passed in 1908 as one of the colleges of the State University. It was opened for the admission of students in September, 1908, and the first class graduated in June, 1910. The next session beginning September 20, 1926, will be the nineteenth session of the College of Law. The school has always been open to men and women students.

Within four years after the organization of the school, it became a member of the Association of American Law Schools, and it has endeavored to advance steadily the ideals of legal education in the State. In 1921, the American Bar Association made certain recommendations for standard colleges of law, and in 1924 the College of Law of the University of Kentucky was placed on the approved list by the American Bar Association, and has been ranked since 1925 as a grade A law school. Beginning with the session of 1925-26, the College of Law required two years of College work for entrance. It is the purpose of the school to maintain the standards prescribed by the most competent authorities in the field of legal education in America and to give to the young men in this section of the country the opportunity to prepare themselves for the bar in the most thorough and scholarly way. It is believed that the lawyer can be worthy of the great profession he represents only if he has had adequate preliminary education and a three-year intensive study of legal principles through the use of leading cases.

The course of study in the College of Law is the standard course of three years, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Laws.

The design of the College of Law is to train the student in the fundamental principles of English and American common law so as to equip him to practice his profession wherever that system of law prevails. As most of the students intend to practice in the State of Kentucky, special emphasis is placed on the decisions of that State, but only as representing the current of judicial authority or a dissent therefrom. The method used in all classes is the study of cases, the method of instruction followed in all the leading law schools of the country. Credit is obtained by the successful passing of written examinations at the end of each semester, and the student who successfully completes the course is awarded the degree of Bachelor of Laws.

The ideal held before the student body is the lawyer who is honored not only as a successful practitioner before the bar, but also as a useful citizen in his community. At no time has the lawyer enjoyed a larger opportunity to serve the cause of justice and good will through his professional skill and right motives than at present. It is the purpose of the College of Law to graduate only those who by reason of adequate preliminary education, diligence and ability in their professional studies in the law school and sound character are qualified to be lawyers in the highest sense of the term.

Instruction is not limited to those who choose the law as a profession, but is open also to students who desire to take the whole or a limited course in law as a preparation for business or public life. The study of law as it is now taught is recognized as an important part of a liberal education and as an excellent foundation for a career in financial or commercial circles.

MEMBERSHIP IN ASSOCIATION OF AMERICAN LAW SCHOOLS

The University of Kentucky College of Law is a member of the Association of American Law Schools, an association which has as its object the improvement of legal education in America and the adoption of the highest scholastic standards. It includes within its membership the leading law schools of the United States.

REQUIREMENTS OF THE AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION

The American Bar Association in 1921 adopted the following standards for law schools:

a. It shall require as a condition of admission at least two years of study in a college.

b. It shall require its students to pursue a course of three years' duration, if they devote substantially all of their working time to their studies, and a longer course, equivalent in the number of working hours, if they devote only part of their working time to their studies.

c. It shall provide an adequate library available for the use of the students.

d. It shall have among its teachers a sufficient number giving their entire time to the school to ensure actual personal acquaintance and influence with the whole student body.

As the University of Kentucky College of Law complies with these requirements, it has been placed on the list of approved law schools prepared by the American Bar Association as a grade A law school.

THE NEXT SESSION

The nineteenth regular session of the College of Law will begin September 20, 1926, and close June 4, 1927.

ADMISSIONS

Regular Students

The applicant for admission to the law school must have, in addition to the standard high school course that will satisfy the general requirements for admission to the University, two years of college credit (sixty semester hours exclusive of gymnasium and military science).
SPECIAL STUDENTS

A limited number of persons who are over the age of twenty-one years may be admitted as special students. Their number is limited to ten per cent of the average number of entering students during the two preceding years. As special students are not eligible to receive a degree or other credit for the work done by them, it is the earnest advice of the law faculty that they take the time and courses required to fit them for entrance as regular students. Application for admission as a special student should be made in writing to the Registrar of the University at least ten days before the registration period.

ADVANCED STANDING

Applicants for admission for advanced standing in law for work done in law schools which are members of the Association of American Law Schools (or qualified to be members) must present to the registrar satisfactory certificates issued by the law schools in which the work was done. Such applicants may then be granted any advanced credits in law to which they are entitled, but in no event will credit be given for more than two years of law work done outside of this college, nor will any credit be given for work done in law schools which are not members, or qualified to be members, of the Association of American Law Schools. The applicant for advanced standing must be able to meet the entrance requirements of the College of Law.

PRE-LAW WORK

In order to meet the two years of college credit required for entrance, no special course is prescribed except six college credits in English. The credits obtained in the two years of college work that are required must be sufficient to entitle the holder to admission to the junior class in the College of Arts and Sciences of the University of Kentucky. The pre-law work may be taken at the University of Kentucky or at any standard university or college. Students who expect to study law are advised to lay special emphasis on courses in English, history, economics, public speaking, political science and psychology. Those who would like special advice concerning their work are invited to communicate with the dean.

COMBINED COURSE LEADING TO DEGREE OF A. B. AND LL. B.

Inasmuch as the requirements of the law school now call for a total of five years in college and law school before the degree of LL. B. can be obtained, the attention of the student is particularly called to the fact that with the addition of a single year, making six years in all, he can obtain the degree of Bachelor of Arts and also the degree of Bachelor of Laws. This combined course is open to all who enter the University... of Kentucky in the junior class or earlier. The first year’s work in law is credited towards the academic degree of A. B. as well as towards the law degree of LL. B. In his senior year, the student will take the first year’s work in law and will thus obtain the A. B. degree, and upon completing the two remaining years in law, he will be granted the degree of LL. B, thus obtaining both degrees in six years. All students are urged to take advantage of this course.

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION, HONORS AND EXPENSES

DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF LAWS

The degree of Bachelor of Laws is awarded to the student who successfully completes all the required subjects, makes a total credit of 76 semester hours, and has a standing of I as defined in this bulletin, i. e., an average grade of “C.” This requires an attendance of three academic years spent in law study and the completion of a course that embraces all the fundamental branches of the common law.

METHOD OF INSTRUCTION

The case method of instruction has been adopted, and the students are required to brief the cases assigned and report them in class recitations. No student will be permitted to take examinations in any subject until he presents his notebook containing the brief of each case assigned in the subject.

EXAMINATIONS

Credit is based on the successful passing of final examinations which are given in each subject at the close of each semester. These examinations are in writing and are designed to test the student’s knowledge of the subject and his power to reason as a lawyer on problems of facts submitted to him.

GRADES

The marking system is as follows:
“\(A\)” denotes work of exceptionally high quality, and is valued at 3 points for each credit hour.
“\(B\)” denotes good work and is valued at 2 points for each credit hour.
“\(C\)” denotes fair work and is valued at 1 point for each credit hour.
“\(D\)” denotes unsatisfactory work and is valued at no points for each credit hour, but the credit hours of the course will count towards graduation, provided the student’s standing is 1 or more, as explained below.
“\(E\)” denotes a failure and is valued at no points for each credit hour, and the credit hours of the course will not count towards the graduation requirements.

A credit represents one hour of recitation or lecture, or two hours of laboratory a week for one semester.
PRINCIPLES OF SCHOLARSHIP

The ultimate goal of scholarship is to understand, analyze, and synthesize information. This involves not only memorization but also critical thinking and problem-solving skills. Scholarship is not just about acquiring knowledge but also about using that knowledge to create new insights and perspectives. It requires dedication, persistence, and a willingness to challenge one's assumptions.

Scholarship is not just for the few; it is for everyone. It is about engaging with the material at hand and pushing the boundaries of what is already known. It is about seeking out new ideas and perspectives and integrating them into one's own understanding.

In pursuit of these goals, students should strive to develop a deep understanding of the subject matter they are studying. This requires not only reading and note-taking but also actively thinking about the material and how it fits into the larger context.

Finally, scholarship is about collaboration. It is not just about individual effort, but also about working with others to share insights and ideas. Collaboration can take many forms, from group projects to discussions and debates. It is through these interactions that we can learn from each other and build a stronger understanding of the subject at hand.

In summary, scholarship is a process of continuous learning and growth. It requires dedication, persistence, and a willingness to challenge one's assumptions. It is about engaging with the material at hand and pushing the boundaries of what is already known. It is about seeking out new ideas and perspectives and integrating them into one's own understanding. And it is about collaboration, working with others to share insights and ideas.
The Law Course

Session

The regular session of the law school is divided into two semesters. The fall semester begins the second week of September. The first semester runs from 30 September to 20 January. The second semester begins immediately after the close of the first semester and courses approximate one-third of a year’s work.

Required Courses

ALL the work of the first year is required work. In addition, the candidate for graduation must pass the following subjects: Civil Procedure and Practice, Property I and II, Property III, Negotiable Instruments, Evidence, Procedure, Conveyances, Corporation, Will, Sales and Constitutional Law.

SUMMER SESSION

A limited number of courses in law are offered in the summer session of the University. The work in these courses is the same as in the regular sessions of the school, and credit obtained in the summer session is the same as that received in the regular sessions. The lecture course is one-third of the regular session.

A student who gains an excellent average in the summer session may complete his regular work for the summer session in the regular session following the summer session. He will be eligible for the bar examinations at the end of the summer, and credit for all work done will be given toward graduation.

GENERAL INFORMATION

LOCATION AND QUESTIONS

The College of Law is located on the University campus in Lexington, Kentucky.

During the summer of 1936, the School will move into its new quarters.

The new building will contain a large, well-equipped room with

This course will not be given in the session of 1936-37.
CASE METHOD OF INSTRUCTION

All courses are conducted on the case method of instruction. The student is expected to study carefully the case before attending the lecture or discussion of the case in class and to bring a prepared question to the lecture or discussion. The instructor will not follow a specific case in the lectures but will present the broad principles involved in the problem. The cases are selected to illustrate the problems presented by the law and to develop the student's knowledge of the law. The student is encouraged to develop the ability to apply the principles of the law in new situations.

SMALL CLASSES AND INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION

It is the policy of the College of Law to conclude the larger portion of the instruction in individual classes. To avoid the confusion that arises from the use of too many cases in the larger classes, we have adopted a small class plan of instruction in which a small group of students can study in discussion of the problems presented. This plan is designed to enable each student to study the principles of the law in the manner in which he can best learn them.

PRACTICE COURT

The faculty of the College of Law feels that the receiving of instruction in a law school is just compleat unless the student receives a knowledge of the practice of law. The College is fortunate in having a number of faculty members who are engaged in the practice of law and who are able to offer practical suggestions to the students. The practice court is designed to give the student an understanding of the practice of law and to familiarize him with the legal procedure and the legal form of pleading. The practice court is a substitute for the law office and is to be used as such.

Extracurricular activities are encouraged under the direction of the faculty. The student will be encouraged to participate in extracurricular activities and to develop the qualities of leadership which are necessary for success in the practice of law.
Look up the law thoroughly. Extreme care before entering on conclusions. Your research materials or case of fact will be maintained. The more important cases will be applied to a higher court. The student will become familiar with the elements of applicable law.
The law student as a student in the University of Kentucky is entitled to take such courses in other colleges of the University as may be necessary in preparation for a career as a lawyer, without disqualification by the Board of Examiners on the knowledge of the law and their report will be made to the Court and become permanent if the report is favorably recommended by the Board of Examiners. It will be in writing, and the only time a year.

FINANCES

The low student as a student in the University of Kentucky is entitled to take such courses in other colleges of the University as may be necessary in preparation for a career as a lawyer, without disqualification by the Board of Examiners on the knowledge of the law and their report will be made to the Court and become permanent if the report is favorably recommended by the Board of Examiners.

As a resident of Kentucky, he will find much in the course of law taught here to increase his desire for the future. The faculty of the College of Law is well equipped to teach the law in the various departments of the course of law at the University. The faculty of the College of Law is well equipped to teach the law in the various departments of the course of law at the University.
