James Harrison born May 1, 1799 - son of Maj. John Harrison of the Revolutionary Army. Elected to fill a vacancy in the 37th Senatorial district of Kentucky in 1864 caused by the death of Hon. Gibson Mallory. While in Senate was Chairman of the Judicial Committee. Sponsored several bills to release Confederate soldiers of legal disabilities created by previous legislatures. Started in early life but engaged in business & was forced into bankruptcy. Then began practicing law and out of professional writing, said of him: Claims against him multiplied by judgments in Bankruptcy. Employed by City of Louisville in 1840 to codify City Charter & Ordinances, which were published. Later moved out of City but in Jefferson County, served as a Justice of the Peace for 18 years before elected to State Senate. Repeatedly ran for re-election. The 37th Senatorial district at that time was composed of 14 counties.

Morrow, appeared, produced certificates of their election, took the oath prescribed by the Constitution, and repaired to their seats.

A message was received from the House of Representatives by Messrs. McHenry, J. F. Bell, and Reed, informing the Senate that they had met and were now ready to proceed to legislative business.

A message was also received from the House of Representatives by Messrs. Thomas, Lawrence, and Young, announcing that they had been appointed a committee on the part of the House of Representatives, to act in conjunction with a similar committee to be appointed on the part of the Senate, to wait upon the Governor to inform him that the General Assembly had again convened, and were now ready to receive any communication he might see proper to make to them.

On motion of Mr. Wright,

Ordered, That a committee be appointed, whose duty it shall be to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate had met and were now ready to proceed to legislative business; and also to inform them that a committee on the part of the Senate had been appointed, to act in conjunction with a similar committee from the House, to wait upon the Governor to inform him that the General Assembly had again convened, and were now ready to receive any communication he might think proper to make.

Whereupon Messrs. Wright, Thompson, and Harrison were appointed said committee.

After a short time, Mr. Wright reported that the committee had discharged the duty assigned them, and were requested by the Governor to say to the Senate that he would immediately lay before them a message in writing.

A message in writing was received from the Governor, by Mr. John S. VanWinkle, Secretary of State.

Said message was taken up and read as follows, to-wit:

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives:

Upon resuming your session after ten months of vacation, it is a subject of congratulation, that, during that period of a "seed time and harvest," a beneficent Providence has blessed our people "in their basket and in their store;" that "the pestilence that walketh in darkness, and the destruction that wasteth at noon-day" has been withheld; for which, with thankful hearts, we should "bless His holy name." Our fields have yielded abundant harvests; flocks and herds have been multiplied; and the material interests of our people have prospered, notwithstanding the great change in our labor system, which, at the beginning of the year, cast a gloom over our prospects and hopes.

Having at the commencement of your session communicated with you by regular biennial message, now, upon the resumption of your labors, it is only deemed necessary, in this special communication, to lay before you some matters which have arisen, and such as have assumed increased importance since your adjournment.

The civil war through which we have just passed, has left upon us some evils of a civil, as well as of a political character. It has left an increase of lawless spirits, and consequent increase of criminal acts; yet a remarkable degree of quiet and order has prevailed, far beyond the hopes of the most sanguine.

The return of so many to the walks of peaceful life, after years of sanguinary conflict, and the prompt obedience yielded, and support given to the enforcement of law and order, while it may justly command the wonder and admiration of the world, to us, only demonstrates the superiority of a people who engage in conflict, not to overthrow, but maintain, the right. Differing, as did our people, as to the right, yet when it was determined by the ultima ratio populi, they have,
as a body, united to uphold and maintain the right so determined. The consequence is, that the increase of crime is far below the measure of the most reasonable expectation.

The courts have been open and unobstructed, and, with few exceptions, the officers vigilant in discharge of duty. The harmony and cordial feeling which has been so readily established among those of our citizens lately in hostile array, has contributed greatly to our exemption from the evil sequences of civil war, and to the re-establishment of order and enforcement of law.

To promote this restoration of the true and proper relations of our people, and secure a zealous attachment to the laws of peace and order, I adopted the policy, at the close of the war, of granting pardons to the soldiers of either army who were charged by indictment, in the courts, for offenses alleged to have been committed by them as soldiers, while in the service, and during the war.

I am gratified to know that this policy has been rewarded with the happiest results. Harmony and friendly relations now subsist, where, otherwise, communities would have been arrayed in the bitter and angry passions of the strife through which we had just passed.

Doubtless the soldiers, of either army, did many things wrong and violative of the laws of legitimate warfare, and in conflict with the laws of civil rule; and had they been promptly punished by their officers, or been handed over to the civil authorities for punishment, such offenses would not have been repeated. But such was not the course pursued by either army. The very offenses, for which the soldier is pursued by indictment, had their origin in the remissness of the officers, and, in many instances, had the sanction of their authority, and sometimes their positive command. The offense was not so much that of the soldier, as it was the remissness of the officers in failing to maintain and enforce discipline, and a proper observance of the rules of legitimate warfare. But when the war ended, and the soldier was discharged, and had returned to the peaceful walks of life, and resumed his place as a citizen, the whole purpose of punishment as to the soldier ceased.

Criminal punishment is neither to redress the wrong, nor to benefit the criminal; but, by example of punishment, to restrain others from like offenses, and thus protect society. It does not benefit the murderer to hang him, nor does it restore the dead; but the example of punishment deters others from committing like offense.

Had the soldier, while in the service, been punished, by either military or civil tribunals, for his offenses as a soldier, the example would have prevented recurring wrongs. This was not done, as it should have been; and now there are no soldiers to be controlled by example; consequently, the purpose of punishment in such cases has been forestalled by peace.

The only thing which punishment in such cases can now satisfy, is the private vengeance of injured parties, who will not forgive, and who cannot understand, why war was not carried on peaceably.

The peace and harmony of society is too great a boon to be sacrificed to the gratification of a vengeful spirit.

If the returned soldier be held to answer indictments in the civil courts for acts which he, as a soldier, committed—how wrong soever they may have been—it will array every community, where such trials are had, in bitter conflict and fierce hostility, upon the sides they respectively espoused during the war. Juries will divide upon the same line, and fail to agree; and witnesses will testify with the same leanings. Continued strife, bitterness, and hostility, upon the war issues, will be kept alive, and a general demoralization of communities be the result.

Moreover, it should be borne in mind that most, if not all, of the offenses for which soldiers stand indicted, were committed by them under the mistaken notion that, by such acts, they were aiding their cause in punishing an enemy, and not with a felonious intent. This conviction upon the part of the soldier, as to his rights and duties to his cause, was strengthened by the fact that the words and conduct of his superior officers tended to encourage, rather than restrain him. He saw such things either commanded or authorized to be done by superior officers, or at least permitted to pass unrebuked—except by a smile and wink.

Thus was the soldier led to believe that he, by those very things for which he stands indicted, was doing service to his side of the battle. Saul of Tarsus, with authority to persecute from city to city, and bind and scourge Christians, thought he was doing God's service! It required a light above that of the noonday sun, and an audible voice of warning from God, to convince Paul of his error and sin.

The light of peace has been sufficient to enlighten our soldiers, of either army, and return them to the quiet walks of life, with a due regard for law and order, and proper respect to the rights of their fellow-citizens.

Shall they now be pursued and hunted down through the courts, by those who shared with neither the dangers of the conflict? Shall those who remained at home be permitted to perpetuate the war indefinitely, now that armed hostilities have ceased, and the way of peace is open? Shall we have peace with forgiveness of the past, and restoration of the old relations of friendship; or war, waged through the courts, with vengeance for a leader, false oaths and partial jurors as the avenging hosts?

To avoid the dire calamities of a continued and corrupting strife, so far as brought before me, I have promptly relieved the dockets by pardon. The trial in such cases would evoke the evils and precipitate the calamities. The policy adopted and carried out has not been so much in reference to the claims of the applicants, as for the interests of the communities where such cases were pending in the courts. After such a conflict as that through which our nation has passed, the people have a right to be exempted from the continued agitation of the issues of the war, and the aggravation of the feelings and wrongs provoked by it. At the close of a civil war, peace and amnesty are correlative and dependent. Without amnesty, there can be no peace. Unless forgiveness covers the acts of war, and relieves those engaged therein, there is no real peace; the war is but transferred from the field to the forum, where timid and corrupt men may swear away that for which brave men and true struck the manly blow.

In such case the evils of the strife will thicken and lower more darkly, and pall in sullen gloom to obscure from our hopes all visions of peace.

Exceptions to the amnesty only detract from the peace—only conceal "the silver lining" which should make radiant the retiring clouds of war.

To assume that this or that man—this or that class—has sinned too greatly to be forgiven, is but to declare a partial—not an entire peace. The breach made by exceptions may widen until the flames of strife, rekindled from the dying embers of war, may again lick the life-blood of our people. Amnesty only can extinguish the embers and cool the heated ashes. These principles have guided me, and are deemed applicable alike to State and Nation.

It would greatly promote the complete restoration of all the true and proper relations of our people, if you would end the strife in the courts about acts of the soldiers, of either army; while in the service during the war, by requiring the dismissal of all such cases from the docket in bar of further prosecution. If it be said that thereby some great offenders will escape merited punishment, this may be granted, and the reasons for such action be overwhelming. Will not the interests of society be far better subserved by permitting some bad men to go unwhipped of justice, than, in order to punish them, to keep alive so large a number of improper prosecutions to fret and fever the popular mind, distract the public judgment, pervert justice, embitter and corrupt the popular heart?

The example thus set by you, would be a lesson of wisdom and statesmanship, which our national rulers might consider with profit.

CRIMINAL CODE.

Your attention is invited to the propriety and justice of amending our Criminal Code, so as to graduate the punishments more aptly to the degree of criminality.

Our Code adheres to the penalty of death in all grades of murder, whether committed upon deliberation and forethought, or in sudden passion, provoked by insult, but not sufficiently great to reduce to manslaughter. The result has been that a conviction can seldom be had, where human infirmity appeals to the charity of human nature. The popular judgment has long, and, I think, wisely been averse to such extreme penalty in the class of cases where malice aforethought is implied from the absence of great provocation, as measured by the law. Although the feelings may be outraged and the person insulted, almost to phrenzy by words and gestures, yet our Code makes no allowance therefor; but denounces the slayer as equally guilty with him who lies in wait or poisons, or prepares himself and deliberately hunts down and slays his victim. The result of this hard, indiscriminating Code, has been, and will continue to be, that the humanity of the people, being so far in advance of the humane discriminations of the law-giver, convictions cannot be had for this grade of offense. Juries disagree until witnesses die or remove from the country, and the prosecution is worn out by delay.

Murder should be classified into murder in the first and second degree. Murder in the first degree to consist in killing upon deliberation and forethought, or in the attempt to commit some other felony, and to be punished with death. Murder in the second degree to consist in killing in sudden passion, without previous deliberation, but upon such provocation as is not, in law, deemed sufficiently great to reduce to manslaughter; the punishment to begin where manslaughter ends.

It is also suggested that you consider the practicability of establishing a House of Correction or Reform, to which youthful offenders may be sent, instead of the penitentiary. It is now a very appropriate time for this subject to be considered, as the large number of convicts now in the penitentiary, with the prospect of large increase of the numbers, renders it necessary that you make some provision for their keeping. There are now 450 convicts in the penitentiary, 311 of whom are white males, 3 white females, 116 colored males, and 20 colored females. There being only 375 cells or sleeping-rooms—and they small—a large number have to be doubled, thus rendering it insecure, and unhealthy.

Quite a number of those confined are youthful offenders—not hardened criminals—and ought to be reformed and reclaimed to society and usefulness. "In life's morning march" they have strayed from honest courses, and, by our system of punishment, they are declared infamous, and their youth handed over to shame. At the altar of justice (?) their young hopes and joyous spirits lay blighted; and a ray of hope may scarcely visit their prison to cheer the young heart, and light their way to an honorable and useful life. This is but a refinement upon barbarism, and unworthy an enlightened and Christian age. Professing humanity, we practice cruelty; preaching Christian charity, we imprison hope.

I most earnestly urge you to establish Houses of Refuge, to which youthful offenders may be sent; where they may be taught some useful art or trade, and receive mental culture and moral training to fit them for useful and honorable lives; instead of having the brand of Cain fixed upon their young brows, and being sent forth despised wanderers to depredate upon society.

This class of persons should not be sent for fixed periods; but to remain until they receive the rudiments of a common school education, with sufficient moral training to give assurance of reform, and a knowledge of some useful trade; this to be determined by the Trustees or Board of Visitors.

Some rule of commutation of punishment in the case of older offenders should be adopted, whereby good conduct, and evidences of reform, may shorten the term of punishment fixed by the judgment of the courts, and thus hold out to convicts encouragements to good conduct. This purpose would be greatly aided by making a discharge, by reason of good conduct, operate to remove all the disabilities of conviction.

As you are men, the claims of humanity have a hold upon you. As you are law-givers, wisdom and statesmanship should animate your councils and shape your legislation. I therefore, in this general way, call your attention to this subject, trusting that your conjoint wisdom may evolve such measures as will meet the occasion and answer the demands for reform.

The report of the Superintendent of the Eastern Lunatic Asylum is herewith transmitted.

It will devolve upon you to make some provision for the care of colored lunatics. The claims of humanity should ever be promptly met. No provision being made for this class, they are left as a charge upon their former master, or go uncared for. This should not be. Without any necessity for increasing our hospitals, additions can be made, convenient to the present Asylums, expressly for this class, and place them under the present and future Superintendents of the Eastern and Western Lunatic Asylums.

Before passing from the subject of the colored population, it is deemed proper to suggest a careful revision of all the laws in reference to that class. The sudden and radical change of their relations from slavery to freedom, their inferior condition and dependent situation, requires that wise and just legislation, devoid of the prejudices of party or race, should be adopted to secure them in the peaceable enjoyment of life, liberty, and property. It is to be regretted that the bill No. 94, reported to the Senate during your first session, by the Committee on the Judiciary, did not then become a law, as it fully met the requirements of justice, and would have avoided some unpleasant conflicts of jurisdiction between the State and Federal authorities. You will now have an opportunity to perfect your legislation upon this subject, with an enlarged experience, and better comprehension of the duties and necessities of the occasion.

I trust your wise and prudent legislation may be such as to remove the flimsy pretences of an unreasoning fanaticism, for any further disregard of the Constitution of our fathers, through Freedmen's Bureaus and Civil Rights bills.

Your attention will also be directed to the adoption of such laws as may encourage and invite immigration to the State of a superior class of laboring population. Freedom bestowed upon the inferior race of man, withdraws from him the protecting care of the superior, and leaves him to meet the superior race in the struggle of life, and must, by a universal law of nature, rapidly destroy from among us the inferior race. The Indian, though superior to the negro, vanishes before the progress of our race, and testifies by his decay the resistless course of natural law. True statesmanship admonishes us to make timely provision for the supply of a laboring population.

Until "the leopard can change his spots," or "the Ethiopian his skin," will all the efforts of fanaticism to repeal or nullify God's law be unavailing.

As auxiliary to the object of promoting immigration, it is suggested that you provide by law for the annual collection of statistics of population and productions—agricultural, mechanical, mineral, &c. This may readily be done through the assessors of tax for a very trifling additional cost, and will be of much advantage in promoting immigration, as well as giving to our farmers, mechanics, miners, and others, important and guiding information to their interests.

We have no arrangement by which these important matters of statistics can be ascertained; and provision should be made for the future in reference thereto. The vast mineral wealth of our State remains a secret—buried from the world of industry and enterprise. It should be brought to view through the use of proper instrumentalities—by geological surveys, internal improvements, and by suitable encouragements to enlist enterprise, capital, and labor.

Eastern Kentucky, known as "the mountains," with its hardy and noble population, remains, with all its vast mineral wealth, in comparative obscurity, because proper facilities to the development of its wealth have never been furnished by any aid from the State.

The act incorporating "The Kentucky River Navigation Company," approved March 1st, 1865, it is to be hoped, will be carried into successful operation. By this act the completion of two additional locks and dams will secure to the company a lease for fifty years of those owned by the State, upon payment of a rent of $2,500 per year. The work is required to be commenced within four years, and to be completed as high up as the Middle Fork within twelve years.

The completion of this improvement is rendered more certain by thus enlisting private capital and individual enterprise; and, when completed, will not only secure the State from annual expense, but yield an income to the State and remuneration to the company.

The vast coal fields, mountains of iron ore, and other valuable minerals, together with the inexhaustible forests of the finest timber, which this will open up to market, will establish a trade upon the river which will make the work profitable, besides adding greatly to the wealth of the State and citizens by the appreciation in the value of lands now held at but little value.
A similar disposition of the improvements on the Green and Barren rivers should be made, and your attention is invited thereto.

The necessity for some system which is safe and practical in making turnpike roads is becoming daily more urgent.

To insure success and make the investment profitable, the majority of the capital invested in public improvements should be drawn from private capital, so as to insure individual enterprise and a prudent and careful management of the improvements, as well as economy in construction.

A system which has given much satisfaction where tried, in the construction of metal turnpikes, is to authorize the county court of a county, within which or through which a road is proposed to be constructed, to take stock not to exceed one fourth or one third of the stock per mile; and when satisfactory evidence is produced to such court that a sufficient amount has been taken by responsible subscribers, with that subscribed by the court, to construct the whole or part of said improvement, the court thereupon to issue county bonds, bearing interest, for as many miles as there is stock subscribed sufficient to construct the road, and transfer them to the company in payment of that much of county subscription. The bonds to be disposed of or retained by the company, as the company may elect. The court to levy upon the real estate of the county, sufficient to meet the interest upon the bonds, when issued, from time to time.

The taxes levied upon the real estate will rapidly accumulate a surplus as a sinking fund to meet the principal, owing to the appreciation in the value of real estate by reason of such improvements.

It would be well to consider the expediency of adopting some general law upon this subject; also, whether or not it be expedient for the State to give aid upon the same principles to the construction of railroads within or through the State.

Without assuming to recommend any special system, these suggestions are thrown out, that your attention may be called to the subject, and that you may, if possible, devise some safe and practical mode for the encouragement and development of such improvements as the growing interests of the State demand.

The early experience of Kentucky in making improvements was not satisfactory as to the item of cost. This was owing to the State assuming too much, and drawing too little aid from private capital, thus losing the benefits which private pecuniary interests never fail to secure, in enterprise and prudent management of the work.
The finances of the State are in a very satisfactory condition. The present indebtedness of the State is $5,324,651 79.

The resources of the Sinking Fund are estimated at $8,127,681 01. At the close of the year 1866, on 31st December, there was in the Treasury $1,864,444 18.

Our claim upon the Federal Government for reimbursement of expenditures in support of the war has not yet been paid. Our claim yet shows a balance in our favor of $2,438,347 91. This claim has been actively and persistently pressed for settlement; and I have insisted on the payment of at least half a million of the debt, so as to enable us to discharge our outstanding war debt; but though hopes have been held out of a speedy payment of that much, as yet it has been withheld. For this delay in the adjustment of the claims of Kentucky, no good reason, we think, can be given. But as we have no mode of coercing the debt, we must abide our time, and trust to an abatement of any unjust prejudice against our State and people, which may withhold the payment, and to an awakened sense of justice upon the part of those whose duty it is to cause its payment.

I recommend that you pass a general law, authorizing the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund to apply, from time to time, any surplus, over estimated expenses, to the purchasing in of the outstanding bonds of the State. It is not good economy to be paying interest, with the means in hand to purchase in and extinguish the principal.

Your attention will doubtless be given to promoting the agricultural interests of the State; and, as one of the means of encouragement, the usual aid should be continued to the State Agricultural Society.

I have the pleasure of announcing to you that the Agricultural and Mechanical College has been successfully inaugurated as one of the colleges of Kentucky University. The Regent's report will, when received, be laid before you.

Much credit is due to the Regent of the University, Mr. John B. Bowman, for his energy and efficiency in securing the success of this institution. A statement of the disposition made of the land scrip donated for the college by Congress, will be laid before you when received from M. C. Johnson, the agent appointed by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund to dispose of the same.

The destruction of some of the offices and public buildings in November, 1865, and the insecure and insufficient buildings appropriated to the offices of Treasurer and Auditor, suggests the expediency of completing the Capitol building according to the original design, by constructing wings, so as to give a Senate Chamber in one wing, and Representative Hall in the other, and apply the basement to supply the Treasurer's and Auditor's offices, and other offices not provided. The present Representative Hall would make a good library room, and the Senate Chamber a good court room for the Court of Appeals.

By constructing wings to the present building, a more spacious Senate Chamber and Representative Hall could be provided; and the building, completed, would supply safe and sufficient offices for all the departments not provided for, together with Chambers for the Judges of the Court of Appeals.

It is also suggested as worthy your investigation, that you inquire into the expediency of establishing a State Printing Office, in which the public printing may be done by printers employed by the State. Would or not this save to the State from one third to one half the cost of public printing required under the mode heretofore adopted?

In response to the "resolutions in relation to military expenditures," approved February 17th, 1866, I transmit herewith statements furnished to me by the Quarter-Master General, A, B, C, D, E, and F. These statements fully respond to the first and third resolutions, with this additional explanation: The contract was made while the war was flagrant, and a much longer and bloodier struggle anticipated. The sudden and unexpected termination of the war dispensed with the necessity of immediate delivery of the guns as per contract; and time was given to furnish them in a convenient time, to be paid for when delivered. This extension was thought to be beneficial to the State, as the Military Fund was then exhausted; and time was thus obtained for payment, thereby saving the interest which would have accrued in the meantime—the money having to be borrowed upon the bonds of the State.

In response to the second resolution, you are referred to my message delivered at the commencement of your session, pages 8 and 9, which states the necessity for, and the funds employed to construct, the buildings. Further information in reference thereto, can be found by reference to an act, entitled “An act appropriating money to a State Secret Service Fund,” approved August 22d, 1862, chapter 618, page 247, Session Acts 1861–2–3.

The amount paid for the entire work, including that destroyed by the fire, was $18,748 28, as exhibited by the account herewith transmitted. What proportion of this sum was invested in the buildings now remaining, may be approximated by referring to the items of the account.

John Haly, the contractor for the work, has filed with me his claim for remuneration for the work which he replaced after the fire, amounting to $2,500. This sum has not been paid, but stands as a claim against the State. As he was in no manner to blame for the loss—the fire having communicated from adjacent buildings—he should be compensated for his actual loss, to be ascertained by your committee. I transmit herewith his claim as made out and furnished to me, with his vouchers, that you may refer the same to the appropriate committee.

Having laid before you all such matters of local concernment, and such as pertain exclusively to the jurisdiction of the State, as are deemed of importance for this special communication, your attention is finally directed to a subject which embraces the interests of the Nation as well as of the State.

The restoration of the Government of the United States upon the basis fixed by the Constitution, and laws pursuant thereto, which was the legitimate result of the victory of the Union armies, and of the entire surrender of rebellion, followed by peace, is yet denied to us. The organized rebellion against the Government, which was overcome by arms, was not more hostile or less dangerous to our free form of government, than the spirit and temper of the dominant sectional majority that now denies a constitutional restoration. The armies raised by our Government were for the avowed purpose of preserving the Union as formed by the Constitution. The soldier fought to attain this object. Now that the victory is ours, and armed rebellion has ceased, we have the strange spectacle of a dominant sectional majority in Congress denying to those who rebelled the privilege of submission to the government as it exists; and to those who fought to maintain it, the fruits of their victories, and the security of the government which they fought to maintain. A new and different government is sought to be forced upon the Nation, as a condition precedent to the recognition of the existing Constitution.

The phrenzy for destruction which seized upon the people of the Southern States, now that they have returned to reason, has been transferred to the Northern and some of the Western States; and the fires of fanaticism stir the blood of the colder North with the intensity of sectional hate of the South, and urges forward its votaries, in the fatal blindness of their passion, to the destruction of that Government which has just been so successfully and triumphantly sustained and vindicated by the valor and endurance of our soldiers. This denial is made under the pretense of love for the Union; when it is patent that nothing but a desire to perpetuate power in the hands of a sectional party prompts their action. The just balance of powers between the State and National Governments is sought to be destroyed, and the centralization of powers to be established in the Federal Government, through amendments to the Constitution, which, if successful, will destroy those rights reserved to the States and people, and which are essential to the preservation of free government.

Since your adjournment the Secretary of State of the United States has transmitted to me an authenticated copy of a "joint resolution" proposing amendments to the Constitution, purporting to have been submitted "by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two-thirds of both Houses concurring)" to the Legislatures of the several States, to become part of the Constitution when ratified by three fourths thereof. I now lay the same before you for your consideration, with some views in relation thereto, which impress me as worthy of thought.

The power to amend, alter, or change the Constitution in a free government is an inalienable right; and the mode prescribed for exercising this right is essentially conservative and anti-revolutionary. The modes prescribed by our Constitution, in which, only, amendments may be made, conserves the right, by removing all excuse for overthrowing or changing the government, either by force or innovation. It is as revolutionary to disregard the requirements of the Constitution, in changing or amending it, under pretense of following its forms, as to overturn it by force.

The Constitution of the United States secures different modes of amendment, either of which followed, is lawful; none other is; and thus, by its increased facilities for amending, magnifies the wrong of attempting to alter or amend otherwise than as provided.

Has the "proposed" amendment been submitted according to the requirements and with the sanctions of the Constitution? If it has, we should consider and weigh the amendment proposed, and adopt or reject as in our judgment will most redound to the welfare of our country; but if not so submitted, should be promptly rejected as unworthy of further consideration.

The Constitution of the United States, article V, section 1, provides that "Congress, whenever two thirds of both Houses shall deem it. necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution; or, on the application of the Legislatures of two thirds of the several States, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three fourths of the several States, or by conventions in three fourths thereof, as one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by Congress," &c.

What is "the Congress" of which two thirds of both Houses have to concur in proposing amendments? Article 1, section 1, makes a Congress "consist of a Senate and House of Representatives." Section 2 provides: "The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several States; and the electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature." Section 3. ¶ 1. "The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof, for six years; two thirds of whom (i.e., of the members chosen of each House) must concur in submitting amendments.

An amendment to the Constitution of the United States is not proposed to the Legislatures of the several States, unless it has been passed by the vote of two thirds of the members chosen to be Senate and House of Representatives, in the manner prescribed by the Constitution.

Section 5. ¶ 1. "Each House shall be the judge of the elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members; and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each House may provide." The second paragraph gives power to punish disorder, and, by a two-thirds vote, expel a member.

Now, it will be observed that it requires two thirds of both Houses of "the Congress" to propose amendments; but a majority of each House shall constitute a quorum to do business. A quorum is not the Senate nor House, but only a majority of either, and authorized to do business in the name and with the authority of either; but only such business as a majority of either House could pass if all the members chosen were present and voting. Under and by virtue of the 5th section before quoted, a majority of a majority, in doing business, has the effect and force of a concurrence of a majority of the whole. But a quorum of the Congress does not compose the Congress; it only composes a quorum of the Congress, with power to transact such business only as a majority of the Congress, in full session, might do. A quorum is not a majority of the members present, or who are admitted to seats, but a majority of those chosen. All chosen by the people of the several States to the House of Representatives, and to the Senate by the Legislatures thereof, must be considered as members composing the Congress until, for defect in the elections, returns, or qualifications, their seats be declared vacant by the respective Houses. That they are not permitted by a majority to take the oath of office does not destroy their membership, it only prevents their individual action as members. They, by the Constitution, when chosen become members, and are entitled to vote and be counted as component members of Congress, until their disqualification and exclusion from seats has been determined by their respective Houses, and their seats declared vacant. For it must be borne in mind that it is not the oath of office or consent of a majority to their taking their seats that constitutes them members, but they constitute members of the House by being chosen by the people, and of the Senate by being chosen by the Legislature; and they take the oath of office because they are members, not to make them members.

That such was the understanding of the framers of our Constitution, is further illustrated by their providing in section 3, § 6, upon the subject of impeachment: "And no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two thirds of the members present." If two thirds of a quorum constitutes two thirds of the Senate, then the use of the word present is without meaning. For it being provided that a majority of either House should constitute a quorum to do business, if a quorum be the Senate, then two thirds of a quorum would be two thirds of the Senate, and the word present was wholly uncalled for and useless—the power being already conferred upon two thirds of those present, if a quorum be the Senate. The framers of the Constitution did not so understand themselves, and hence they conferred, by express terms, the extraordinary power of impeachment upon two thirds of the members present—not requiring two thirds of the Senate—but only two thirds of a quorum, or those present constituting a quorum to do business.

The power to amend the organic law of the Union was more fully guarded than impeachment. It only requires two thirds of a quorum, or of those present constituting a quorum, to impeach; but to propose amendments "two thirds of both Houses" of the Congress must concur; not two thirds of a quorum or of those present, but two thirds of both Houses.

The resolution submitting the proposed amendments does not come to us with the sanction of two thirds of the members chosen by the several States to the House of Representatives and Senate; twenty-two "Senators" chosen by eleven States, and fifty-five members of the House of Representatives chosen by the people of eleven States, not being admitted to seats nor counted in the pretended passage of the resolution; and is not, therefore, constitutionally submitted.

If it be objected that by this construction, contumacy, or negligence upon the part of States and people in refusing to elect members, would defeat the powers of Congress, the objection is met by the language of the Constitution, which constitutes the members chosen "the Congress." None are members, and to be counted as composing "the Congress," until they are chosen by "the people of the several States" to the House of Representatives, and to the Senate by the respective Legislatures thereof.

The objection that the withdrawal of members and refusal to attend would defeat the powers of Congress, is equally untenable; because, by the provision before quoted, less, even, than a majority, is vested with power "to compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as each House may provide," and were their attendance enforced, their opposition would not be less formidable present than absent. Each House has power to provide the penalty of expulsion for refusal to obey the summons, and thus reduce "the Congress" to the "members chosen" and who attend in obedience to the requirements of the House. When expelled, the seat is vacated until another be "chosen" to fill the vacancy. Vacant "membership" does not exist under the Constitution.

Entertaining this view of the constitutional powers of "the Congress" to propose amendments, the amendment submitted to your consideration is not regarded as coming with the sanctions of the Constitution, and therefore should be rejected. A further consideration of the amendment proposed is not deemed necessary, and objections to it in detail not required for this communication. I will only add, that were the provisions as acceptable as they are objectionable, the fact that they are not proposed in conformity with the requirements of the Constitution, would be sufficient to compel their rejection; and more especially so, when they are held out as a condition precedent to admitting rights already secured by the existing Constitution.

It is idle to propose amendments to a Constitution, the existing provisions of which are held at naught by those proposing the amendments. Let them first learn to obey that which already exists, before proposing amendments thereto. In the language of my inaugural address, "a departure from constitutional faith is the foundation of all the evils now upon us; a return is the only permanent remedy."

Kentucky has ever kept this faith. She has given her blood to maintain and enforce the obligations of the Constitution upon her own people of the Southern States; and will not now falter in demanding and exacting a like obedience from others by all appropriate means at her command. We cannot consent to the overthrow and destruction of our government in the hour of its triumph. The constitutional unity of the States, and the rightful obligations it imposes, have been successfully asserted and vindicated by the valor and blood of our sons; and we will not now consent to the destruction of States, whose stars gem our national flag, and whose people are our people, whatever may have been their past errors. True allegiance—now—is the only proper test of loyalty to the existing government. Let this test be applied, admit or exclude whom it may.

To make the support of a proposed change in the forms of government the test of loyalty to the existing constitutional government, is far more iniquitous and unjust than to make the past disloyalty a perpetual test. The former abuses and destroys manhood—the latter denies repentance and reform.

Pledges to support and maintain a government may be written on paper, but they can only be given in the heart. The voluntary consent to support and maintain a government is the only true pledge. This cannot be obtained by a policy in conflict with constitutional right, and which oppresses and abuses those from whom the pledge is exacted. A true statesmanship never yields principle to the fears of the timid—the hate of the sectional—the exactions of the covetous, nor the desires of the partisan. If these be discarded from our national councils, the wisdom of the Constitution will prevail, the hopes of the patriot revive, our discord be ended and our security established.

I cannot close this communication without mention of the death of our late Secretary of State, Hon. E. L. VanWinkle. To me his death was the loss of a valued and tried friend and an able counsellor; to the State a faithful officer; to the world, a man of high attainments and exalted intellect. His death occurred at his residence on Wednesday, May 23d, 1866. He now rests with Kentucky's honored dead in the Frankfort Cemetery. It is not necessary that I should call upon you, who knew him and his worth well, to bestow upon his memory suitable testimonial of respect. With you this rests to be done.

As heretofore, I shall continue to co-operate with you in every measure which may tend to advance the interests, promote the welfare, and secure the happiness of our people.

THO. E. BRAMLETTE, Governor of Ky.

In response to the third section of the resolution approved February 17th, 1866, requiring the circumstances attending the execution of a contract for five thousand guns (Scott & Tripllett's carbine), I refer you to the response of the Quarter-Master General dated February 17th, 1866. The guns broken in transportation have all been replaced by new guns, and said guns are now in the State Arsenal, and, in my opinion, are not impaired in value below the contract price.

I also transmit an exact copy of the contract entered into between Messrs Parker, Snow & Co., of Meridian, in the State of Connecticut, and the patentee, John W. Scott, of Astoria, New York.

The contract entered into between the "State of Kentucky" and the patentees, Messrs. Tripllett & Scott, and to which I refer in my communication of February 17th, 1866, addressed to the Hon. Speaker of the House of Representatives, has either been lost or mislaid, as it cannot now be found. This contract was in terms the same, and was intended to fulfill the contract entered into between the State of Kentucky and the patentees.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

GEO. W. MONROE,
Quarter-Master General of Kentucky.

To the Hon. Speaker of the House of Representatives:

Sir: A resolution was offered and adopted in the Legislature of Kentucky on the 23d of January last, requiring the Quarter-Master General to furnish certain reports respecting his office. My reply has been in readiness since the resolution appeared in the city papers, but I have been waiting for a copy of the resolution to be furnished me by the Clerk. At my written request, the Clerk to-day furnished me with a printed copy.

I have the honor to transmit herewith the reply referred to.

I am, sir, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

GEO. W. MONROE,
Quarter-Master General of Kentucky.

To the Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

Gentlemen: In compliance with resolutions offered and adopted by the Legislature of Kentucky on the 23d of January, 1866, requiring the Quarter-Master General of Kentucky to furnish certain reports, I respectfully submit the following; and in so doing I will call the attention of both Houses to the following acts approved by the Legislature, viz: An act for the regulation of the militia, and to provide for the arming of the State, approved May 24, 1861. Also an act approved September 23, 1861, enlarging the powers of the Military Board of the State of Kentucky; also, an act empowering the Governor to raise a force for the defense of the State, approved January 26, 1864; also, to the 7th section of an act approved February 19, 1864, defining the duties of the Quarter-Master General of the State.

The contract referred to in the 1st section of your resolution, said to have been entered into between Parker, Snow & Co. and the State of Kentucky, I respectfully state that there was no such contract entered into, so far as I am informed and believe. The contract was made between the State and patentees, Messrs. Tripllett & Scott. On further consideration, said contract was modified so as to have furnished 3,000 musketons, instead of the 3,000 Springfield rifles; said musketons to be of the same calibre and price. Inclosed please find a communication relating to said contract, which I hope will be satisfactory. As to the requirements of the first portion of the second section of the resolution referred to, I will respectfully state, that I have no control over the several departments named, only as far as relates to the payment of vouchers, properly certified to, and approved by the Governor, are concerned. Since my appointment as Quarter-Master General of Kentucky, I am positive the heads of departments on active duty have performed their duty satisfactorily. As regards the second portion of the 2d section of said resolution, I will state that the Paymaster General and Assistants have no authority to make the purchases referred to, or to disburse moneys, save in the payment of troops in the service of the State of Kentucky. For further information relative to the disbursements of the Paymaster General and his Assistants, I refer you to extracts from the report of my predecessor, General S. G. Suddarth, herewith inclosed, for the year ending November 30, 1865. In relation to the report as to the total amount of expenditures by the State of Kentucky in support of the National or Kentucky troops, from the commencement of the rebellion until December 31, 1865, amounts to $2,715,233.11; of this amount, the General Government has refunded $1,663,788.96, thus leaving a balance due by the United States in favor of the State of Kentucky amounting to $1,051,444.75; the vouchers covering said amounts being now on file in this office, and abstracts to which are now being prepared to be forwarded to Washington City, in order that a settlement can be effected with the General Government.

For information as to the condition, time of delivery, &c., of the Triplet & Scott carbines, I respectfully refer you to the inclosed statement.

I am, gentlemen,
Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
GEO. W. MONROE,
Quarter-Master General of Kentucky.

Respectfully submitted,
GEO. W. MONROE,
Quarter-Master General of Kentucky.
Colonel W. T. Scott:

DEAR SIR: I am directed by His Excellency, the Governor of Kentucky, to purchase, for the use of Kentucky troops, five thousand guns of the Triplett & Scott patent, as follows: Three thousand (3,000) of the size and calibre of what is called the United States Springfield rifle, with wiper and bayonet to each; and two thousand (2,000) carbines, calibre 46, with wiper for each carbine, and also a suitable gun-sling for each rifle and carbine; said rifles and carbines to be made of the best materials, and completed in all their parts for army purposes, and well finished; and each of said guns to be marked "Kentucky," for which the State of Kentucky will pay, upon the delivery of said guns and accoutrements at the city of Frankfort, Kentucky, for said guns and accoutrements, thirty dollars ($30) each, and for said carbines and accoutrements twenty-eight dollars each; and the State of Kentucky will also pay the usual rates for their transportation: Provided, however, That all of said guns and accoutrements must be delivered as soon as practicable, say by the last day of April, 1865. After having passed government inspection, and inspected by our ordnance officer as to their condition upon delivery, the money to be paid for them as received.

We will also want, as said rifles and carbines are received, one hundred rounds of metallic cartridges, of proper calibre, for each gun, for which the State will also pay the current market price upon their delivery and inspection as aforesaid.

If you accept this proposition, do so, and it becomes a contract.

Answer on receipt of this.

Yours truly,

[Signed,] S. G. SUDDARTH,
Quarter-Master General of Kentucky.

Approved:
[Signed,] THOMAS E. BRAMLETTE, Governor of Kentucky.

In answer to the above proposition, I would respectfully state that we accept of the said contract, dated January 24, 1865.

Respectfully,

The above is a correct statement of the several deliveries, together with the condition when delivered. It seems, on examination of the guns, that they had been broken by insecure packing. Some were broken in transportation, as boxes containing them have been received broken and in a damaged condition. None of the guns seem to have been broken by any defect in the material of which they are composed; in all respects they are of first-class material, and, in my judgment, are superior weapons to any on hand in the State Arsenal.

The guns broken in transportation will be replaced at the expense of Parker, Snow & Co., as per agreement, and have already been forwarded for repairs.

Owing to the want of funds, none of the above arms have been paid for. State bonds have been furnished as sureties to the patentees.

Respectfully submitted.

GEO. W. MONROE,
Quarter-Master General of Kentucky.

AGREEMENT.

This agreement, made by and between Parker, Snow & Co., of Meridian, in the State of Connecticut, of the first part, and "John W. Scott," M. D., of Astoria, in the State of New York, of the second part, witnesseth, that: First. The parties of the first part, in consideration of the covenants hereinafter contained on the part of the party of the second part, hereby covenant and agree that they will manufacture and deliver to the party of the second part, as hereafter provided, five thousand guns of Triplett & Scott patent; that is to say, three thousand rifles, with thirty-inch barrels each, and two thousand carbines, with twenty-two-inch barrels, with a wiper for each, and the calibres of all to be of government standard; the same to be made of good materials, and in a good, workmanlike manner, complete, and well-finished in every respect, and to be severally stamped in a proper manner "Kentucky." The price to be thirty dollars for each rifle and twenty-eight dollars for each carbine, with wipers and all completed, finished, and stamped as aforesaid. Five hundred thereof to be delivered during the month of July; one thousand during the month of August; one thousand during the month of September; one thousand during the month of October; and the balance, fifteen hundred, during the month of November next; the rifles to be delivered first.

Second. The party of the second part covenants and agrees, on his part, that, in consideration of the covenant and agreement on the part of the parties of the first part, he will pay to them the sum of thirty dollars for each and every rifle, and twenty-eight dollars for each and every carbine so to be manufactured and delivered as aforesaid. The payment therefor to be in money current in the City of New York, and to be made at the times and in the manner hereafter stated.

Third. It is mutually covenanted and agreed, by and between the parties hereto, that the said rifles and carbines shall all be inspected at the armory of the parties of the first part, by a government inspector, or by some party mutually agreed upon for that purpose. The said rifles and carbines shall be delivered to the party of the second part at the City of New York, and that the boxes in which the same shall be packed are to be furnished by the parties of the first part at a fair and reasonable price, which shall be paid by the party of the second part from time to time, as the guns are paid for.

Fourth. It is further mutually covenanted and agreed, by and between the parties, that, notwithstanding the terms stated therein for the manufacture and delivery of the said rifles and carbines, still the parties of the first part shall and will manufacture, finish, and deliver the same as much earlier as can be done, and that, upon the true delivery of every five hundred guns, payment therefor shall be made in current funds as aforesaid.

Fifth. It is further mutually covenanted and agreed, that, in case the parties of the first part shall be prevented from making a delivery of the guns at the several times and in the manner hereinafter stated, by reason of fire, explosion, or other unavoidable casualty, which shall destroy or so damage the works wherein, or the machinery by which, the guns are to be manufactured, then and in such case, the parties of the first part shall not be responsible for damages by reason of such non-delivery, but the same shall be delivered as soon thereafter as the same can be reasonably done.

Sixth. It is further mutually covenanted and agreed, that this contract shall not be binding upon the party of the second part, unless the same shall be assented to and approved by the Governor and the Quarter-Master General of the State of Kentucky; and that, if they fail to approve of the same, then the same shall be null and void; and further: if the parties of the first part shall be legally restrained by process of injunction from manufacturing or delivering the said guns as above provided, on the ground of any alleged violation of other patents, then they are not to be liable for damages occasioned by such non-delivery.

In witness whereof, the parties have hereunto set their hands and seals at the City of New York, this twenty-fourth day of December, 1864.

[Signed,] PARKER, SNOW & Co., [L. S.]
[Signed,] JOHN W. SCOTT, [L. S.]

In presence of W. T. SCOTT.

I certify that the above is a true copy.

Governor Bramlette: Included you will find a bill of the various items I had to make good after the fire, which I ought to have given you before. However, when you come to examine the amount of damages done, you will find in the list the several items, making the aggregate amount of $2,500. I send you this statement, not to hurry you up in the matter, but merely to show you the several items done, with a fair valuation for each. I hope this will be satisfactory to you. If any explanation is further required by you, I will cheerfully give you the same.

Yours truly,

JOHN HALY.

N. C. Cook's estimate of shelving.

FRANKFORT, February 3d, 1866.

I have examined and measured the shelving and painting that Haly put up in the Library Rooms over the Governor's Office. The bill below gives the amount of material and workmanship.

4,102 feet shelving, 9 inches wide, 3/4 thick, at 14c ______________________ $747.78
307 feet cornice to same, at 20c ______________________ $61.40
Painting same ______________________________________________________ 80.00

$816.18

To this is added $12 for extension of pipes, &c., to heaters.

T. E. B.

Governor Bramlette:

Dear Sir: There is a matter which I have delayed in seeing you about for some weeks past, knowing that you were too busy with members. I hope, now, you will be able to give a few moments of your time, or as soon as you possibly can, to this subject.
The bill furnished for the shelving for third story some weeks ago has been returned to me properly signed, for the sum of $7113 1/2, being $460 less than the bill furnished by myself. I will now show you plainly that the estimate of N. C. Cook is a one-sided affair.

First. N. C. Cook is the greatest enemy I have had in Frankfort. I have not spoken one word for eight years. He has repeatedly said that he would injure me wherever he could; he has done it on all occasions, and is well known by all the citizens of Frankfort.

Now, as to the bill, N. C. Cook's estimate of lumber, counting at nine inches wide for the plank, would make as per bill:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Total feet</th>

I have written to four firms in Louisville to see what they would furnish the above lumber for. Two of them answered, and the other two have not. Inclosed you will find the letters I received, showing you that such lumber could not be had in Louisville, or seasoned stuff. If used green, it would rot the books. My reason in writing to Louisville is to show you how difficult it is to procure such lumber.

I inclose you the wholesale price of second-rate lumber, also, in Louisville, as taken from yesterday's paper, being from five to seven cents per foot—average six cents per foot, being the amount charged in my bill. I was dealt with unjustly in this bill; but I am satisfied outside of your knowledge—you not knowing that Cook was my enemy, as is well known through Frankfort. It is more to show you that I was right than anything else, that induced me to make this statement, so as you can plainly see how matters stand. I hope, therefore, you will examine carefully and see if I am not correct.

"Lumber, Shingles, etc.—We quote popular lumber at $25@30 per 1,000; pine, common, $35@40; second-rate to choice $50@70. Dressed flooring $50@85 for common to first-rate. Shingles, pine, $7 in raft, and $8@9 per 1,000 for shaved or sawed; popular shingles, machine cut, $4@5, $4@4 50; popular $3 50."

Yours respectfully,

JOHN HALY.

Mr. John Haly:

Sir: We cannot furnish second-rate 9 and 10 inches wide. We called on three yards to see if it could be got in town, but it cannot.

Yours, &c.,
H. McClaran & Co.

LOUISVILLE, February 12th, 1866.

John Haly, Esq.: Dear Sir: Yours of the 10th is just to hand. Say in reply that we have no lumber on hand of the kind you want, nor can we get any in the city.

Yours respectfully,

GEO. FULTON, Receiver for C. W. Livingston & Co.

LOUISVILLE, February 13th, 1866.

Mr. John Haly:

Dear Sir: I have been absent the last ten days, and hasten to reply to yours of 10th inst. I will deliver on the cars here five thousand feet good second-rate, dressed to seven eights, nine to ten inches wide, at seventy-five dollars per thousand feet.

Yours truly,

W. H. DIX.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
WASHINGTON, June 16, 1866.

To His Excellency the Governor of the State of Kentucky, Frankfort, Kentucky:

Sir: I have the honor to transmit an attested copy of a Resolution of Congress, proposing to the Legislatures of the several States a Fourteenth Article to the Constitution of the United States. The decisions of the several Legislatures upon the subject are required by law to be communicated to this Department. An acknowledgment of the receipt of this communication is requested by

Your Excellency's
Most obedient servant,
WILLIAM H. SEWARD.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

To all to whom these presents shall come, greeting:

I certify, That annexed is a true copy of a Concurrent Resolution of Congress, entitled "Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States;" the original of which resolution, received to-day, is on file in this Department.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I, WILLIAM H. SEWARD, Secretary of the United States, have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the seal of the Department of State to be affixed. Done at the City of Washington, this sixteenth day of June, A. D. 1866, and of the Independence of America the ninetieth.

WILLIAM H. SEWARD.

[CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, RECEIVED AT DEPARTMENT OF STATE JUNE 16, 1866.]

JOINT RESOLUTION PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two-thirds of both Houses concurring), That the following article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three fourths of said Legislatures, shall be valid as part of the Constitution, namely:

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens bears to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Section 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, have engaged in rebellion or insurrection against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Section 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations, and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

Section 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

Schuyler Colfax,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

La Fayette S. Foster,
President of the Senate pro tempore.

Attest:
Edwd. McPherson, Clerk of the House of Representatives.
J. W. Forney, Secretary of the Senate.

On motion of Mr. Helm,
Ordered, That the Public Printer print three thousand (3,000) copies of the Governor's message for the use of the Senate.

Mr. Bruner moved the following resolution, to-wit:
Resolved, That the Speaker of the Senate be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to reorganize the standing committees of the Senate.

Mr. Botts then moved to amend said resolution by striking out the word "reorganize," and inserting the word "fill."

And the question being taken on the adoption of said amendment, it was decided in the negative.

The question was then taken on the adoption of the original resolution, and it was decided in the affirmative.

The Speaker laid before the Senate the following report of the commissioners concerning the improvements on the Penitentiary, together with the plans and certain specifications, viz:

To the Senate of Kentucky:

The undersigned, by a resolution of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky approved February 17, 1866, were directed to employ a competent architect to examine certain buildings in the Kentucky Penitentiary, and report the probable cost of specified improvements upon them; and to report to the Senate, at the next meeting of the General Assembly.

Accordingly, they employed Messrs. Bradshaw & Brother, Architects of established reputation, in the city of Louisville, whose previous services were highly appreciated by your honorable body.

Upon a personal inspection and consultation with one of this firm, on the ground, it was doubted whether the improvements, as set out in the resolution, were in all respects practicable without obstructing certain necessary additions to the cells of the prison, which an unexpected increase in the number of convicts seemed to render unavoidable. Already a considerable number of the present cells are occupied by two persons, which are full small for one.

In view of this state of case, the undersigned requested the architects to report not only the precise estimates provided for in the resolution, but such extensions as the exigency seemed to demand, that you might have before you the facts which might enable you the more readily to decide what course to pursue.

We submit herewith the report of Messrs. Bradshaw & Brother, with accompanying estimates and drawings.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

P. SWIGERT, J. B. TEMPLE, Commissioners.

FRANKFORT, January 3d, 1866.

LOUISVILLE, KY., December 17th, 1866.

Messrs. Swigert and Temple, Commissioners for Kentucky State Penitentiary:

Gentlemen: In accordance with instructions received from you, we have examined the workshops in the Penitentiary known as the hemp-house, also the cell-house and hospital, with a view to making alterations and repairs. We have also prepared drawings and detailed estimates of the same, all of which are herewith respectfully submitted.

The centre portion of the front wall of the workshops, as also the floors in the centre portion of the building, have settled down to such an extent as to require some 50 feet in length of the front wall to be entirely taken down and rebuilt; and the floors will have to be raised.

The cornice and roof of this building also require extensive repairs, and should be entirely taken off and replaced with new iron gutters and slate roof, so as to render them, as near as possible, fire-proof from the outside.

The height of the stories of these workshops are entirely too low to be either healthy for the prisoners or convenient as workshops. And we would recommend that the present floors should be raised so as to give a clear height to every story from floor to ceiling of at least 12 feet, instead of 9 feet, as at present. This can readily be accomplished, the present walls and floor timbers being in a good sound condition, with the exception of the centre portion, before named.

The walls would have to be increased in height about 10 feet, and the windows removed to their proper positions in each story, as shown on the drawings.
Should these alterations and additions, including slate roof, iron gutters, &c., be carried out, it will make these buildings more healthful for the prisoners, more convenient as workshops, and the interior will be both better lighted and ventilated. The top story, where the more dusty portions of the hemp manufacture is carried on, we would recommend to be left open into the roof (similar to the workshops put up last year), and that louver ventilators be placed on the roof. This we think would almost entirely remove the dust from this portion of the building.

These improvements will be more readily understood by reference to the accompanying drawings.

CELL-HOUSE.

The present cell-house being entirely inadequate for the accommodation of the number of prisoners now confined in the Penitentiary, we have, as directed by you, prepared plans and estimates for its extension. To accomplish this, we find, that, by adding another story of cells to the present building, and extending the building to the extent of the present hospital, we can obtain an increase of 200 cells at a more reasonable cost than any other plan, and also taking up less space from the yard than any other plan. This will necessitate the building of a new hospital, as the extension of the cell-house will take up the whole space now occupied by the hospital. [See plans.]

In preparing these plans and estimates, we have provided for the better lighting and ventilating of the building by a large increase of window openings, and by increasing the size of many of the present window openings.

We have also estimated for heating this building by steam pipes, and for taking off the present roof and cornices and replacing the same with slate roof and iron gutters, similar to those now in use on the new workshops.

HOSPITAL.

This building, as designed, will be located at the end of the proposed extension of cell-house, on that portion of the yard now vacant between the present hospital and outside yard wall, leaving a passage way 16 feet wide between the outside of the building and the outer yard wall.

The building will have accommodation on the first floor for hospital purposes of more than double the capacity of present hospital, and is conveniently connected with the cell-house by iron doors.

The kitchen and water-closets are placed outside the main building, in that portion of the yard now used in connection with the women's department. We have also provided in front of this building adjoining the entrance an office for the medical attendant.

Over this hospital is placed the ward room for the women, the communication to which is by outside iron stairs from both front and rear.

This plan will be more readily understood by reference to the accompanying drawings.

We have also estimated for heating this building by steam pipes, and have also provided flues, so that, if desired, stoves may be used.
If steam-heating is used, these flues will be used for ventilating purposes.

GUARD ROOM.

We have provided plans and estimates for converting the lumber room in the angle of the yard between the offices at entrance and cell-house into convenient quarters for the prison guards, connected on each floor with the cell-house by iron doors. We have provided for slate roof and iron cornices to this building, corresponding with the other contemplated improvements.

We also submit estimates for three proposed new cisterns, to receive water from the roofs to supply boilers, &c.

In preparing our estimates for the various improvements before named, we have calculated the work and material at the present market value in the city of Louisville, with the addition of the cost of freight on such portions of the work as will necessarily have to be obtained in Louisville and shipped to Frankfort.

Respectfully,

BRADSHAW & BRO., Architects.

AN ACT to repeal all laws authorizing the Governor of this Commonwealth to borrow money for military purposes.

§ 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That all acts and parts of acts, authorizing the Governor of the Commonwealth to borrow money for military purposes, be, and the same is hereby, repealed.

§ 2. This act to take effect from and after its passage.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, January 4th, 1867.

Gentlemen of the Senate:

On Monday, the 19th February, 1866—the day of your adjournment for recess—there was laid upon my table a bill, entitled “An act to repeal all laws authorizing the Governor of this Commonwealth to borrow money for military purposes.”

Being unable to give my approval to the bill, I now return the same to the Senate, in which it originated, with my objections to its passage.

Under “An act empowering the Governor to raise a force for the defense of the State,” approved January 26th, 1864, forces, for defense of the State, were raised, armed, equipped, supplied, and sustained in the field. To provide for this, “An act to provide funds for paying troops raised for defense of the State,” &c., approved February 18th, 1864, was passed; which authorized the Governor to borrow money for that purpose on 10-30 years coupon bonds.

This act, with my approbation, was afterwards amended, the 1st section of the amending act being as follows: “That the act, entitled “An act to provide funds for paying troops raised for defense of the State,” approved February 18th, 1864, be, and the same is hereby, so amended that it shall be lawful for the Governor to borrow, in the manner prescribed in said act, only so much money as will be necessary to pay off the present indebtedness of the State arising under said act, and such other sums as will be necessary to pay off the troops at present in the service under the provisions of the act, entitled “An act empowering the Governor to raise a force for the defense of the State, approved January 26th, 1864,” approved June 2d, 1865.
There was at the time of the passage of the bill now under consideration an outstanding indebtedness, arising under the before cited acts, amounting, as was estimated and so stated in my message, at the opening of your session, December 4, 1865, on page 6, to $250,000. This debt was for supplies, for arms, munitions, &c., and pay due the soldiers under these acts.

The only means provided for payment was by borrowing under the acts named.

The bill before me proposes the repeal of those acts, and makes no other provision for the payment of the debt; although the "indebtedness of the State arising under said act and such other sums" due the soldiers then "in the service under the provisions of the act" referred to for raising forces, was unpaid.

The refusal by a State to pay a debt, is repudiation of the debt. A repeal of the only law which provides for payment, without other provision, leaves the creditor without remedy, and is likewise repudiation. If the laws authorizing the borrowing of money had been repealed, and the debts directed to be paid out of money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, it would have had my prompt approval; because other and better provision would thus have been made; and because I knew that the ordinary revenues would be ample to meet this, with all other authorized expenditures. But the bill being presented without any provision for the payment, and thus having all the force and effect of repudiation of a debt due to the citizen soldier called by his State to its defense, and the debt due for his equipment and support in the field, cannot have my approval.

Since the passage of the bill, most part of the outstanding indebtedness, before named, has been paid off, with money obtained by loan upon the bonds authorized under the laws aforesaid.

Being well satisfied that it was not the purpose of the General Assembly, either directly or indirectly, to repudiate any part of the indebtedness of the State, but that the failure to provide otherwise for the payment of these outstanding claims was an oversight and not intentional, the bill is herewith returned for your further consideration, with these my objections to its passage.

THO. E. BRAMLETTE,
Governor of Kentucky.

Ordered, That the Public Printer print 150 copies of the bill and message relating thereto.

Ordered, That said bill and message be placed in the orders of the day.

If so, to report a bill offering such inducements to capitalists as will invite them thus to employ their capital; and prepare and report a bill providing for preliminary surveys on such leading lines of railroad, where citizens along the line are willing to defray part of the expense, to be under the management and control of a Board of Internal Improvement.

Mr. Harrison moved the following preamble and resolutions.

The rule of the Senate being dispensed with, said resolutions were taken up and read as follows, viz:

WHEREAS, The Legislature of Kentucky having, in 1861, and again in 1863, demanded the call of a National Convention to revise the Federal Constitution, but the subject never having been seriously acted on by the Legislatures of the other States, we propose now earnestly to invoke their aid towards enforcing that demand, and to present some of the reasons which point to that as the only remedy for existing national evils.

The urgent need of the present day, is the speedy restoration of national concord and prosperous trade, together with the reinstatement of the Federal Constitution into its former sanctity and vigor.

The importance, the difficulty, and the necessity for this, are fully equal to what preceded and accompanied the inaugurating our nationality under the Federal Constitution. The supposed collision of sectional interests, the actual collision of political parties, together with the various questions which have arisen from the sudden emancipation of negroes, have so accumulated and complicated the difficulties in the way of restoration, as to render it an almost hopeless task.

The founders of the Republic overcame the similar but inferior difficulties of their day, by the expedient of a National Convention, and their brilliant success affords a persuasive hope that the same remedy may prove equally efficacious at the present day. If there be no other adequate remedy, that is an all-sufficient reason for trying it again. It is of easy proof that there is no other.

One of the unfortunate but seemingly inseparable incidents of our system of government is, that its powers devolve upon one of the contending political parties of every important national epoch. No such party can ever be able to restore national amity after such a conflict of sections and parties as that out of which we have not yet entirely passed. When the party in power is a large majority of the nation, the work of restoration is as simple as it is easy. We need only follow the successful examples of Madison and Monroe, who, by their gentle but most suasive "era of good feeling" policy, won New England back to its loyalty and weaned it from its undue partiality for England. Submission to the majority of the nation is so obvious a necessity, that when the party in power is sustained by such majority, it has the powerful influence of all the prestige of that public opinion which for two centuries been the controlling power in England, and which has heretofore been, and must always continue to be, the controlling power in this country. For a parity of reason, the ingrained American prejudice against the rule of a minority must render any minority party incompetent to the restoration of amity after a serious internal convulsion, because it does not represent the nation. The same political morals which inculcate acquiescence in the one case, equally urge and justify resistance in the other. The great, the decisi-ove advantage which a majority party enjoys in such junctures, is, that it is not naturally liable to the imputation of sinister motive of party benefit, apart from the general good of the whole nation; whereas, the liability to that imputation is what renders a minority party so perfectly impotent.

It so happens, fortunately or unfortunately, that the party now ruling Congress is not merely a minority party, but its pursuit of party benefit is so obvious as to have extorted from its leaders the avowal and attempted justification of that as a leading inducement for their scheme of restoration or non-restoration, whichever it may be most properly called. Non-restoration leaves power in their hands, whilst restoration on their terms enhances their sectional and party power.
Power of moral suasion over national opinion they have none—nay, less than none, because the very fact of a policy being recommended by them, rather tends to its condemnation by a large majority of the nation.

However astounding the fact may appear, we speak with proper cautions when we pronounce the dominant party in Congress to be only a minority party, representing only some two fifths of the voters and an equivalent portion of the population of the nation. We do know that the people of Kentucky never were near so unanimous upon any political question as in their repugnance to radicalism. The presumption is, that the unanimity is, if possible, still greater further South. The recent congressional elections at the North do, therefore, incontestably prove that the Radical party has been elected by not more than two fifths of the voters, and has no pretense for representing more than about the same proportion of the people of the whole nation. In other equivalent words, they are sustained by only about two fifths, whilst acting in direct opposition to the will of some three fifths of the whole nation.

The result is, that all their attempts at restoration or non-restoration must ultimately prove abortive. That result needs no further proof; but we prefer that it shall not rest upon what to some may seem a hasty assumption. We prefer to give some of the reasons why a majority of the people of each of the fifteen former slave States will refuse to ratify that Constitution amendment which is the ultimatum and only scheme for restoration proposed by the dominant party

1. The amendment would be foul the Constitution with an indelible stain on the national honor. It would violate the amnesty given by the proclamations of Presidents Lincoln and Johnson. It would be so violated by the use of that most detestable of all modes of party vengeance, the engrafting upon the Constitution a bill of attainder and \textit{ex post facto} punishment, in disregard of the reprobation which all our Constitutions and all true lovers of liberty have cast upon that mode of tyranny.

The amnesty embraced nineteen twentieths of the people engaged in the rebellion, to whom it carried perfect legal absolution. It was a legally accomplished and irrevocable restoration to all the rights of loyal citizens, without power anywhere to abridge those rights or call them in question on account of the rebellion. That fault, like a legally released debt, became a mere thing of the past, not to be resuscitated for any purpose of government action against the pardoned.

The people so pardoned constituted the eleven rebel States within the meaning of the Constitution, when speaking of States, and guaranteeing that each State shall have at least one Representative and two Senators in Congress. The right to this representation was legally and indefeasibly secured to them by their pardon. So highly was this right esteemed, so sacred was it held, that even the whole nation is expressly prohibited from taking, even by Constitution amendment, from any State its equal representation, and consequent equal suffrage in the Senate.

Even without the pardon, the pretense would be absurd to treat them as the people of a conquered foreign province. As said by Judge Sprague, in his brief but impregnable argument, after the rebellion was put down and peace restored there could be no belligerent rights, because there were no belligerents, and there can be no just application of the term conquest in this sense, when a nation merely requires possession of its own territory or subdues its own citizens to obedience. The laws of nations never enlarging, but only used for the purpose of curtailing or restraining the power of governments, can render no aid towards an assumed power in Congress to abridge the right of representation. It is an excess of folly to claim any extraneous law as even influencing a question so entirely within the scope of the Constitution, which proclaims itself as the supreme law of the land.

Full restoration to all the rights of citizens, including that of representation in Congress, was indisputably the intention and understanding of those who proffered and those who accepted the amnesty. To withhold or even impair that great right, would be a nation-dishonoring breach of plighted faith, an injury in the estimation of all Christians. Yet this is what the proposed amendment attempts, by disqualifying for office a very large class of the pardoned rebels, and thereby most injuriously limiting the choice of officers, and, by an \textit{ex post facto} penalty, punishing a pardoned offense, not so punishable at the time of its commission, whilst also violating our wise federative principle, which leaves the prescribing of qualification for State offices to State authority.

Such defilement of the Constitution is not the way to restore the reverence and affection in which it was formerly held, but to weaken, if not destroy, the feeling where it still lingers in the hearts of its most tenacious lovers.
Even worse than such defilement of the Constitution would be an attempt to force its ratification by prolonged denial of representation to ten States; each House of Congress for that purpose usurping the functions of a high judicature, trying and convicting the ten States, and punishing them by a penalty invented for the occasion, which robs them of their guaranteed right of representation. All this, too, done under the flimsiest of pretexts, that power of each House to judge the disputed election, or disputed return, or disputed qualification, of its members. Thus to usurp, upon the pretext of so comparatively paltry a power, the transcendental power of doing what the Constitution expressly prohibits the whole nation from doing, even by a Constitution amendment, is the very extreme of unconscionable usurpation. It would be a plain robbery of the South for northern party benefit. With equal legality, justice, and propriety, the Senators and Representatives from Massachusetts could be expelled from Congress, for her traitorous conspiracy, through the Hartford Convention, in favor of a foreign enemy, and her persistent refusal to lend the nation any aid against that enemy.

Like unto this usurpation would be that which is threatened of taking from the ten States their republican governments, under pretext of guaranteeing such governments. According to all American teaching, republican government means self-government, and none can be that which is dictated by any extraneous powers. Those governments are now just what they have been for ninety years. It is the mere effrontery of reckless denial, to say that they are not republican within the meaning of the Constitution. The Constitutions of those States were no more repealed by the rebellion, or in any way abrogated by its suppression, than were their statutory or common laws, an effect so absurd as to have been contended for by no one, and which is expressly inhibited by the law of nations in cases of foreign conquest. Whatever there may have been in their Constitutions repugnant to that of the United States were merely void and inoperative, but no more invalidating the rest than does a single unconstitutional section vitiate a whole statute.

2. Without proposing any other basis than that of population for representation, the amendment will take without equivalent, or any sort of compensation, from each of the former fifteen slaveholding States, a part of the representative power guaranteed by the Constitution; in other words, confiscates that much of their secured rights. So far as it regards the four border States, there is no pretext of any offense to be punished by this sort of bill of attainder confiscation; and it is bare-faced plundering from them for the benefit of the free States: this, too, in perfidious violation of those repeated party, Presidential, and Congressional pledges which obtained the aid of those four States in suppressing the rebellion, and that alacrity of volunteering manifested everywhere, without any regard to the politics of the volunteers. According to those oft-repeated pledges, it was to be no war of conquest or for sectional aggrandizement. In the absence of all such pledges, the mere abuse of a great national trust, in the attempt to bribe or coerce ratification from a sufficient number of the rebel States, can be properly characterized no otherwise than as attempted robbery of the border States. It must be short-sighted policy which, for any purpose, would persecute the near three millions of the border States into despising and hating the Federal Government. For the States principally responsible for the instigation of this wrong it is equally a narrow, short-sighted policy, that, for the sake of temporary gain, will bring upon them the enduring odium of two-thirds of the nation.

The amendment also attempts to defile the Constitution by a plain repudiation of the national debt contracted by Congress with the owners of enlisted slaves. It also impudently seeks to obtain from the border States an approval of the repudiation of their equitable claim on the justice of the Government for the loss of two hundred millions' worth of their legally held property, inflicted by the abolition amendment, in pursuit of a supposed great national policy, in disregard of the compensating examples of England and Congress, when emancipating West India and District of Columbia slaves. The repudiation of this equitable claim is only less base than the other, because it has not been formally liquidated and brought into the shape of an admitted legal demand.

3. The enforcing clause of the amendment is also very obnoxious, because it attempts to confer upon the minority party an undefined discretionary power of the most anti-republican character, and which, judging by what the party has attempted under the similar clause of the abolition amendment, will be abused for the most tyrannous purposes of persecution upon the people of all the slave States.

4. Ratification will be refused because it is viewed as an insolent attempt at dictation, an unconscionable effort to benefit the North at the expense of the slave States by the uncompensated surrender of political power; an effort to make the rebel States buy rights which already belong to them, and which there is no power to take from them, except through this amendment, whose ratification by any one of the slave States would be self-immolation and degradation.

Without further argument, it may be assumed that this, the only scheme for restoration proposed by the ruling minority, is futile, because it will not be ratified. So it will also prove as to any other amendment proposed by that party. Their recommendation will cause its condemnation by enough States to defeat its ratification. It may be safely affirmed, that though the party, through pertinacious effort to perpetuate its rule by unconstitutional means, may have the power to convert this country into another Mexico, with an interminable succession of civil wars, yet such destructive power implies no restorative power, because it would be mere folly to suppose that three fifths of the nation will tamely acquiesce in any such attempted usurpation. It cannot be peaceably accomplished by continued gerrymandering at the North, and the proposed territorializing at the South, but, sooner or later, the attempt, if persevered in, will be drowned out in a deluge of blood. What, then, is the remedy for existing national ills, and many others that lie in the near future, if something be not done to avoid them? There is no adequate remedy but that which was so successfully tried at a former similar juncture, and of which the Federal Constitution was the brilliant fruit. A National Convention, and that alone, is the remedy. Its powers, and none other, are adequate to the task. It may even be said that it is fortunate and right that none but those who represent indisputably the will of two thirds of the nation should have the power of amending; or, by the power of moral suasion, cause the amendment of the Constitution, with a view to permanent national concord and prosperity.

It would render this address too prolix to set forth most of even the prominent arguments in favor of a National Convention. Let it suffice to call attention to a few particulars. Our own experience under our State Constitutions sufficiently proves that the Federal, like every other written Constitution, needs, and will continue to need, from time to time, revision by competent authority, not only for the purpose of supposed needed amendment, but also for the purpose of settling disputed constructions. The practical working of the Federal Government during near eighty years, and especially during the last six years, has accumulated a large amount of such questions, whose settlement is of infinite importance to permanent national well-being.

To instance a few, there are—1. Internal improvement; 2. Tariff and nullification; 3. Power of Congress over Territories and the public lands; 4. Power to create corporations; 5. Unlimited power to admit new States; 6. Unrestrained power to pack Supreme Court; 7. Power of confiscation; 8. Conscription; 9. Paper money legal tender; 10. Vacancies in the Presidential office not provided for by the Constitution, with the power to order a new election, or to refer a contested one back to the electors for prompt decision; 11. The number and apportionment of delegates to a National Convention; 12. Habeas corpus and martial law, with the incidental Presidential power in time of internal war; 13. Readmission of rebellious States to a participation in Federal power; 14. The citizenship or free inhabitantship of native negroes, with the power of Congress to naturalize foreigners other than those of the European race, and to colonize the negroes; 15. Equal State suffrage in the Senate and in the House of Representatives; 16. Status of Western Virginia, &c., &c.

This is not a proper occasion for stating the many wrongs that Kentucky and the other border States suffered from the dominant party, under its military rule, not only during the war, but for many long months after peace was restored and the rebellion entirely subdued. Whenever that is done, the statement will afford a reason of controlling importance why a Convention should be called to prevent a repetition of those wrongs hereafter, and prevent their perpetration from serving as valid precedents for similar usurpations and tyrannical abuses of usurped power. Suffice it to say, that those abuses were so various and multiform, that they for the time prostrated all the most cherished guarantees of civil liberty, including free speech, free press, free ballot, habeas corpus, exemption from arbitrary imprisonment and banishment, with protection against illegal arbitrary extortions and the uncompensated seizure of private property, under the pretext of public use, but really for the personal profit of the officers making the seizures and extortions; this, too, without the insufficient apology of any actual necessity; this, too, whilst no adequate protection was afforded against Southern guerrillas, or armed robber bands of deserters from both armies. Such is the abhorrence which Kentucky and the other border States have a right to feel, and do feel, for these acts of unpunished and unrebuked tyranny, that they cannot again have their former feeling of content and esteem towards the Federal Government until, by the agency of a National Convention, the Constitution is reinstated into its rightful supremacy; nor, indeed, can they feel that their people are under a protecting free government until the Constitution is so amended as to adequately prohibit military usurpation under the unpardonable penalty of death. Such was the penalty inflicted by a Roman Consul on his own victorious son for fighting against orders. Such like penalties, inexorably enforced, gave the Roman armies that perfect discipline which rendered them invincible. A similar one denounced by the Constitution itself would go far to restore its sanctity, and the so much needed civil discipline of the nation, by inculcating obedience to its commands as the highest duty of American patriotism; counteract the bad precedents, and render the nation's liberty indestructible.

The novel modern pretension of a right in public servants to disregard the Constitution, under the pretext of necessity, and of which necessity they are to be the exclusive judges, is so repugnant to the very basis of all government of law, of all Constitution-secured liberty, that its final refutation and condemnation by a solemn national decision, affords an all-sufficient motive, even if there were no other, for the Convention. The obtaining of such a condemnation is the greatest present duty of patriotism. Of the two great internal wars with which the nation has been afflicted, the war against the Union and the war against the Constitution, the first has been triumphantly and permanently closed by the gallantry of our military and naval countrymen; but the other, the war against the Constitution, still lingers, and is as far from a final permanent close as it was years ago. The successful, peaceful close, is the great duty of the present generation of Americans—a duty which they owe not only to themselves and their posterity, but to the sacred cause of liberty itself. Whilst the vitality of the Constitution was being trampled out, every true patriot must have been shamed with the exultant shouts of the absolutists of Europe over the alleged failure of the model Republic, that boasted exemplar of the competency of men to self-government, of the possibility of a republican government being a government of law, restraining its majorities by prescribed legal rules. That exultation of the enemies of civil liberty should be silenced, that foul stain on our National escutcheon should be removed. All intelligent considerate men must agree, that this can be accomplished no otherwise than through the instrumentality of a National Convention. Nothing but the mighty voice of the whole nation, so uttered, can ever restore life, liberty, and property to a reliable protection of the law.

The status of Western Virginia is a subject of much importance to the whole nation, and of peculiar interest to Kentucky. With the same mother, that great mother of States and of statesmen, with the same habits, manners, sympathies, and prejudices, with near kinship and close neighborship, and with an almost identity of local and commercial interests, Western Virginia is affianced to Kentucky by bonds which bind Kentuckians in equal degree to the people of no other part of the Union. The Federal Government is under the strongest moral obligations to guarantee their separation from Virginia, if they persist in so desiring; and if it can be legally accomplished. The difficulty is that it cannot be legally done without the consent of Virginia, and the Supreme Court will be constrained so to decide. Even a hope to the contrary by intelligent men is mere voluntary self-delusion. Such a decision will place the public affairs, including the past legislation of West Virginia, in an inextricable confusion of irremovable difficulties. Virginia is not likely to give her consent to the separation; and if given, there would be grave doubt whether it could be made to relate back, so as to cure past irregularities, from want of then existing legal power. The only remedy is to be found in a National Convention, which, though it might not deem it either just or politic to attempt a forced separation, yet would have ample moral influence to procure one, upon such equitable terms as it would alone think of recommending. That Virginia would yield to the request of two thirds of the nation so made, her past history affords the strongest reason for believing. It was in compliance with a similar request by Congress that she made her magnificent gift to the nation of the present site of the six large Northwestern States, and from the sale of whose lands the nation has derived such large profit. This patriotic, self-denying donation, unparalleled as it is for magnanimous generosity, except by the similar but smaller donations of Georgia and South Carolina, affords ample reason for the belief that she will again gratify the nation, even though the separation may require some considerable sacrifice of what she may deem her material interests.

In close connection with the situation of Western Virginia the attention of the whole nation may well be called to the unfortunate condition of those other close neighbors and near kindred of Kentucky, the people of Missouri and Tennessee, who are suffering under the tyrannous rule of a minority of their citizens. It is especially worthy of national attention, because that minority rule is held under legal forms that were forced upon those States through the aid of Federal bayonets, and is certain to occasion civil war in those States to the imminent peril of the national peace. The advice of a National Convention might well be relied on to obtain for those States the indispensable revision of their Constitutions.

As to the negro question, we need only say, that the slave States will be glad to acquiesce and accommodate themselves to its final settlement upon any plan that a National Convention is at all likely to propose. If the Convention meets, as it ought, before the next Presidential election, that may be too early to make a final disposition of the subject, from want of adequate information as to the practical working of the unprepared emancipation experiment; and that, after doing what may be deemed necessary for the better securing of the civil rights of the negroes, the Convention will empower Congress, at some future day, by a two-thirds vote of both Houses, finally to close the subject.

With a view to that final disposition, whenever and however it may occur, it will not be amiss to say, that, from having the topic all to themselves, the abolitionists seem to have obtained a kind of judgment by default in northern opinion against colonization, which will have to be reviewed and set right. The success in forestalling Northern opinion as to colonization seems to have been obtained by treating African colonization as the only mode contemplated, and by the easy statistic proof of its impracticability; taking care to ignore entirely the much more desirable colonization in Southern Mexico, Western Texas, and Southern Florida, together with the equally facile statistic proof of its perfect practicability.

We have to deal with some four million of ignorant, helpless negroes, most of whom have not yet passed the stage of semi-barbarism, those of them in the free or border States forming no test as to the mental and moral deficiency of the great bulk who reside in the cotton States. But as to what we have to say, there needs no nice discrimination as between those two classes; they all, with few exceptions, needing a civilization which they have not yet attained. With exclusive reference to the permanent welfare of the negroes themselves, the paramount question is, how best to obtain that civilization for them. Amalgamation is so repugnant to the white part of the nation most interested in the question, that it may be left out of view as one of the available means for improving the negro race, leaving it, however, as it now is, perfectly free to any of the States to experiment within their own bounds upon the negro cross for the improvement of their white breed. What we have to suggest is, that the institution of the family, with only one wife to each man, is the indispensable basis of all civilization, whether you look to religious, moral, or mental culture and improvement. All education, even the most important of all mechanics, is but comparatively thrown away without the previous preparation of the family institution. Without that, it is like scattering grain in an unpruned forest or among the weeds of unploughed land. The humanizing influence of women and young children, so necessary to all races of men, is especially necessary to the civilization of the semi-barbarian. It has even been said that you may know the degree of civilization in any country by ascertaining the condition of its women.

Now nothing can be more obvious to those having adequate acquaintance with the nature and habits of negroes, than that the beneficial influence of the family institution, with the requisite sanctity and chastity, is not attainable for negroes whilst they remain closely clustered together in poverty and in large gangs. Dispersion is the indispensable prerequisite; and as things now are in this country, the influencing example of near white neighbors is indispensable to those habits of industry, chastity, and honesty, without which the negro, with few exceptions, can never be raised to a social position entitling the great bulk to the right of suffrage, or any other test of full citizenship. Indeed, it is to be feared that a large part of the plantation negroes of the cotton States will relapse into barbarism.

It must be conceded in favor of emancipation, that the discovery made during the war of the useful capabilities of negroes for soldiers is as important, if not as valuable, as the invention of the cotton gin. It has added vastly to the military strength of the nation, by showing an inexhaustible supply of volunteers and a recruiting ground at the South more valuable than that which England has always had in Ireland. In a few years the South must become as distinctively the military, as the Atlantic strip north of the Susquehanna is the naval section of the Union. But this, like most things, may have its countervailing disadvantages. These ever-ready volunteers are mostly congregated at the South, where abound those unquiet spirits who are too proud or lazy to make a living by the dull unexciting industry of civil life, and who, by means of this facility for raising men, may keep the nation in constant foreign broils by filibustering, and fan every incipient flame that tends to rebellion or civil war. If this seeming danger has any rational basis whatever, it affords a strong argument in favor of dispersion or colonization, which a National Convention will have to weigh against the increased military strength, and lean to the one or the other, as national peace or military strength may seem best promotive of permanent national welfare. It will have to determine whether, by encouraging the negroes in their natural propensity to gregarious indolence, and thus securing an abundant supply of food for powder, it is not at the expense of a wiser and humaner policy so necessary to their civilization and improvement, as it is also to the nation's peace.

Whilst thus addressing the Legislatures of the other States in behalf of a National Convention, the occasion is appropriate for making a brief response to the proposition of the joint committee of fifteen as to the mode of restoration; and all the more brief, because of the triumphant and most able refutation it has already received from the minority of the committee. The answer of Kentucky to the request that she will ratify the proposed Constitution amendment is, that she deems the proposition a gross insult, requiring, as it does, her self-degradation in aiding the robbery of herself and other States—a robbery which can result in no conceivable benefit to them, but only for those who have devised the robbery. The report, whilst industriously inciting all the bad feelings of the North against the South, contains no word of conciliation to the South, and proposes nothing for its benefit. So far from its being true, according to the bold assumption of the committee, that it is exclusively with Congress to fix the legal status of the pardoned rebels, the very reverse of the proposition is much more nearly true, and Congress has no right whatever to interfere with that status or to abridge any of the rights pertaining to the pardoned. The Constitution and acts of Congress, in force at the cessation of the rebellion and the taking effect of the amnesty, irreversibly fixed the legal status. All that remained unaccomplished in reference to the rebellion was the punishment of the rebels, and that belongs exclusively to the Judicial and Executive Departments.
without any participation whatever on the part of Congress. The status is entirely ruled by the Constitution, and as it gives Congress no power to abridge the rights pertaining thereto, all attempts of the kind must be held by impartial jurists as mere attempts at usurpation. If it be necessary or proper to postpone the enjoyment of political rights by pardoned rebels, the Constitution would have said how, and for how long the postponement should last. If it had been deemed at all proper to have lodged a discretionary power of postponement, it would have designated the department by which that very delicate power was to be exercised. All the analogies of their own work, and all the experience of history, would have induced the makers of the Constitution to have selected for that purpose either of the other departments rather than Congress. It was well known then, though probably not so well as now, the terribly vindictive, selfish passions which sway a political party after suppressing a rebellion against its rule, and the members of the Convention were far too wise to confide such a trust to a political party. It is therefore confidently affirmed, that the facts and pre-existing law irreversibly fixed the status to be ruled by the Constitution, and that Congress has no sort of legal right or power to interfere with the matter. If the Constitution says, as we contend, that the pardoned rebels, acting under their old or amended State Constitutions, are entitled to representation, then its denial is a most unconscionable and pernicious breach of duty under the official oath to obey the Constitution.

The selection of this committee, the character of its report, and its insulting proposition, are no doubt mainly due to the predominant influence of Massachusetts, and no apology is therefore needed for treating her as a responsible indorser. She has not only achieved a preponderant influence in our national affairs, but arrogates to herself the immaculate championship of all loyalty to the Union, devoted obedience to the Constitution, and disinterested love for the poor negro. It is time that these high pretensions should undergo some test from historic facts, and not suffer to rest upon her own modest assumption. Her loud clamor for more blood and more confiscation, with her persistent denial of restoration, should be allowed no more influence than belongs to the action of any other State, unless, indeed, she can make good her exalted pretensions to such superior virtue.

If Pennsylvania, with her larger population, had the same number of Senators as are allowed to New England, she would hold one seventh, instead of one thirty-sixth part, as she now does, of the immense powers of the Senate. Who would voluntarily yield her such preponderant power, "good old Pennsylvania," though she be, who never faltered in her loyalty, and, even though she were the veritable "key-stone" of the Federal arch? Yet such would be but the power now wielded by Massachusetts, all the Senators from New England, with only one temporary exception, being as much under her dictatorial influence as if they were all appointed by herself. Still she has the modest effrontery to ask the nation to ratify her selfish scheme for enhancing her power in the House of Representatives and in the Presidential elections by robbery from the fifteen Southern States. This excess of power affords an additional reason for weighing her moral pretensions.

For the sake of her great gains out of the infamous African slave trade she defeated the earnest effort of Virginia, and other Southern States, to have the trade prohibited in the Constitution, and, by keeping it open for twenty years, made herself responsible for the presence among us of full one third of that negro population which has inflicted such incalculable injury upon the nation. By all consent the African slave trade was much the most infamous crime ever committed by this nation against negroes, and so soon as the restraint on Congress expired, it was denounced as piracy and punished with death.

She was the first publicly to espouse in Congress the right of secession, and through one of the most talented and influential Representatives she ever had, formally and deliberately threatened it, if Louisianas, with her ample population, was admitted into the Union, the sole grievance therefrom being, that it would add to the political strength of her party adversaries, with a proportionate diminution of her own. Yet she has not scrupled, for the purpose of increasing her party strength, to aid in making, at a single session, three new States out of Territories, neither of which had one third of the requisite population.

She gave no aid to the last war with England, as just a war as ever was waged, but denounced it as so immoral that "no religious people" could rejoice in our victories; and at its gloomiest period, when our then feeble people were in a desperate struggle with the most potent military nation of the world, she traitorously conspired, at her Hartford Convention, to cause the secession of New England, with its inevitable attendant of civil war and consequent triumph of the foreign enemy. This she did because the war was yielding her no pecuniary profit, but was hindering her from large commercial gains. She preferred those gains to avenging the national honor from the many wrongs and insults inflicted by England, though she well knew that a large majority of the nation viewed her conduct with utter contempt and abhorrence.

Notwithstanding her antecedents, which characterized her as the worst enemy the negroes ever had in this country, when an opportunity offered of so playing on Northern prejudice against slavery, as to organize a sectional party which would place her in power, she assumed to be the magnanimous champion of negro philanthropy, and urged forward the sectional conflict, though she well knew its danger to the Union, silencing the fears of her dupes by her reiterated assurances that the South was too feeble and effeminate to be kicked into rebellion. Yet, whilst preaching negro philanthropy, she refused to permit five or six hundred destitute suffering negro families to be sent to her from Fortress Monroe for protection and employment during the war, fearing that they might become a permanent nuisance to her people, and her amiable Governor insisting that the nuisance ought to be fastened on the South as part of its punishment for rebellion. From the same reckless disregard for the welfare of the negroes, she urged on the policy of proclaiming their freedom, in the hope that it would incite a servile war of knife and torch, in which, if her amiable wishes had been gratified, the poor negroes must have suffered extermination. Though their calamity did not reach that point, yet her policy, by seducing them from their homes, and causing them to flock to the Union camps and military stations, where there was no care or preparation for their comfort, they were suffered to die like rotten sheep, by all the varieties of painful diseases incident to starvation and unsheltered exposure to the inclemencies of the weather. It is a reasonable calculation that the reckless pursuit of this, her negro policy, during the war, has cost the race a destruction of its population proportionate in amount to any ever suffered by Ireland in the same length of time from the combined effects of cholera, potato rot, and emigration.

She must share with Southern agitators responsibility for the calamities of the civil war which she aided them to incite and willfully provoked. She enabled those agitators plausibly to urge their most effective argument for secession—that a majority of Northern people had no feeling towards the South but one of bitter hatred—an argument, which, if it had been true, would have afforded most plausible moral justification for the attempt, and would cause a doubt whether Kentucky and the other border States were altogether justified in aiding to prevent its success. But it was not true. It cannot be true even now as to the people of any State except Massachusetts. Kentucky has always denounced it as a nation-dishonoring calumny. Yet, if the conduct of Massachusetts could be taken as proof of the feelings of the people of all the States co-operating with her, it would be but too true now, and induce the belief that it may have been true also before the rebellion. Reckless of her own treasonable antecedents in favor of secession, she now denounces it as treason, as that worst of crimes which must be punished; as the equal in atrocity to her own Benedict Arnold-like treason. With insatiable hate and greed she clamors for more blood, more confiscation, whilst her sanctimonious Representatives spurn the Constitution with aversion and contempt when interposed as a barrier to either her greed or her vengeance.

After forcing upon the country the odious conscription, she evaded the responsibility of her own citizens by supplying much of her quota with worthless, ignorant negroes, gathered from all quarters; and, but for General Sherman, would have supplied the whole of it with rough brutish negroes from the cotton States; also by imported foreigners, who could not speak our language, and who, if their Consul can be believed, she cheated out of what she had promised to pay them; also by unjustly obtaining large credits for naval enlistments made within her bounds by the Government, when most of those enlisted were neither citizens nor residents of her State, and when the Western States were obtaining no credits for similar enlistments made within their bounds.

In the arrogant self-sufficiency of a purse-proud shoddy aristocracy, she recently manifested her defiance of the nation's derisive contempt by the indulgence of her very peculiar taste as to the character, the color, and the odor of her Congressional and Legislative Representatives. Which is the more enviable of the two—she or Virginia? Exultant Massachusetts, in the boastful enjoyment of her shoddy wealth, her vast profits from the war, hugging to her doating bosom her living son, her two-million hero, that General who brought her as his contribution to her military trophies, to her military renown, an unrivalled reputation for the successful plundering of his own unarmed countrymen, and a world-wide notoriety, obtained by inciting his soldiers to outrage the ladies of New Orleans—or the heart-stricken mother of Washington, of Jefferson, of Patrick Henry, of Madison, and of Monroe, amidst her desolated valleys and ruined cities, pointing to the grave of her dead son, her great Christian soldier, as the depository of her most precious trophy? From such a trophy she may well derive mournful but proud consolation in her affliction. It is the grave of a real hero, whose beautiful, all-loveable character, is her truly great trophy, as it is also one of the proudest boasts of our whole nation. It is another of Virginia's very many contributions to the national renown, to that rich galaxy of national worthies which constitutes the only enviable renown, the most worthy rivalry among nations, the purest and the best incentive to patriotism.

The eloquent ravings of frantic Lear, whilst exposed to the "pitless storm," and upbraiding his gods for their seeming aid to filial ingratitude, excites no warmer or purer sympathy than does the dumb agony of Virginia whilst mourning in voiceless sorrow those many sons who, at her bidding, lost their lives in the most tremendous duel ever fought in any country over the disputable construction of a political compact. We are proud to say that Kentuckians hold her in the reverential regard of filial affection, notwithstanding her great fault, and accept with implicit trust her plighted promise not again to attempt the practical enforcement of the assumed right of secession. That was her only attempt at a violation of the Constitution, and we don't doubt that she will prove in the future, as she did in the past, its main bulwark. We also hope, that, not waiting to be advised by a National Convention, she will tender her western citizens the amnesty of that mutual forgiveness so necessary in the settlement of all family quarrels, and, in a national point of view, so peculiarly necessary to her own situation. Her own magnanimous sense of justice will no doubt also prompt an amendment of her Constitution which shall base representation upon population, instead of counties and cities. In the future her local position and commercial interests will so far assimilate her to Kentucky, that she will consider the preservation of the Union as her paramount political interest.

As to Massachusetts, instead of forgetting the generous forbearance of a Virginia President towards her many sons implicated in the infamous Hartford Convention treason, and inciting a relentless persecution against the South, she would do better by a regenerated life to redeem the past and prevent the otherwise probable doom of history upon her for being a heartless, rapacious, tricky, disloyal sister in a sisterhood of States, and indulging demoniac hate against many of her sisters. In thus arraigning her, it is of course no part of the purpose to invoke indiscriminate national censure upon all her people. There are among her citizens many enlightened pure patriots who Kentucky would take pleasure in trusting and honoring, and who sincerely lament the degradation of their State under fanatic rule—men with whom Kentucky would gladly co-operate in the future, as she did in the past, when Massachusetts was under the guidance of her true national statesmen, who, together with those of the present day, afford consoling proof that her revolutionary patriotism is not extinct in a degenerate posterity. Should it be objected that there are other States also obnoxious to censure, about whom nothing is here said—the frank answer is, that such States are perfectly welcome to consider themselves as included in the censure, though only vicariously inflicted upon her for their benefit.

Prominent members of the dominant party having demanded from the South counter propositions for restoration, we will say, in conclusion, that the counter proposition of Kentucky is, a National Convention.

1. Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That the Legislatures of all the other States be earnestly but most respectfully requested to co-operate with Kentucky in the demand she has made for the call of a National Convention.

2. That our Senators and Representatives in Congress be requested to obtain the early passage of a joint resolution recommending a National Convention as the only means for a permanent salutary adjustment of our national difficulties, and to lay this preamble and resolutions before Congress.

3. That our Senators and Representatives be requested to obtain a resolution of Congress for so amending the Federal Constitution as to take all participation in an undecided Presidential election from the House of Representatives, and refer it back to the electors for prompt decision, between the three highest candidates.

4. That Congress be again requested to call a National Convention for the revision of the Federal Constitution.

5. That —— copies of these resolutions, with their preamble, be printed, and the Governor is requested to cause them to be sent to Congress and the State Legislatures.

Ordered, That the Public Printer print 150 copies for the use of this General Assembly, and that they be referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

The Speaker laid before the Senate the response of the Auditor to a resolution of the Senate, which response is as follows, viz:

To appoint from year to year, or a term of years, a superintendent of labor.

To provide that verdicts may be rendered in such form, that, after working a certain period, the remaining time may be satisfied by the voluntary consent of the convict, to be entered on record, to leave the State and not return. If such convict shall return to the State, his civil right of action to be withheld from him, with the provision that any one prosecuted under such act may, on petition, have his case tried in circuit court.

To revise the laws of contract for labor, requiring that all such contracts, for any period longer than one month, shall be reduced to writing, and, in any case where any contract is made, written or verbal, and any other person shall entice away or induce any laborer to abandon his or her contract, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined, on complaint to a county judge, at the discretion of a jury, not to exceed fifty dollars, and enforced by fine or imprisonment.

To provide that all contracts made by a married woman in writing, for her own labor or the labor of her children not apprenticed, shall be binding between the parties and enforced in the name of the wife, and payment to her shall be a satisfaction.

Where contracts are made with men for personal labor, and abandoned without just cause, and the party to whom such labor was due or to be rendered, where the amount does not exceed one hundred dollars, may sue before the county judge, whose judgment may be enforced by execution or imprisonment under rule, in default of payment; and where such contracts have been faithfully fulfilled, the laborer may have like remedies to enforce his judgment.
Where contracts may be made with a view to secure labor, and the employer shall furnish a house or tenement to the laborer, and such laborer shall abandon or fail to fulfill the terms and conditions of his or her contract, if in writing, the employer to have immediate right of action by writ of detainer; and, on hearing, if the employer shall be successful in sustaining his cause of action, he may have judgment and writ of possession.

That, with a view to the enforcement of the vagrant laws, every constable, town marshal, or city policeman, shall constitute a police in their respective districts, towns, and cities, whose duty it shall be to report to the proper authority all such persons as fall within the provisions of the vagrant act.

Mr. Young at the same time sent to the Clerk’s desk the following letter, which was read and ordered to be spread upon the Journals of the two Houses, viz:

FRANKFORT, KY., January 17th, 1867.

Messrs. Wright and Young:

GENTS: I appreciate the great importance of Kentucky being fully represented in the Senate of the United States during the whole of the session to commence the 4th of March. To effect this, my successor must be chosen at the present session of the Legislature. Balloting to make an election has taken place fruitlessly for several days. The continuance of my name before the Legislature for re-election cannot, I feel assured, aid it in making choice of a Senator, and might operate still further to postpone it; therefore, with a view to the early consummation of this important business, and to prevent unnecessary waste of valuable time, I respectfully request you severally to withdraw my name from your respective Houses, or from the joint assembly of the two Houses, on the further balloting for Senator.

With profound gratitude to you both for the honor you did me in presenting my name for this office to your respective Houses, and also to all the gentlemen who expressed their trust in me by voting to confer it upon me again, I subscribe myself,

Your obliged and obedient servant,

GARRETT DAVIS,

EXECUTIVE Office, FRANKFORT, January 21, 1867.

Gentlemen of the Senate:

On the 18th instant there was laid before me an enrolled bill, which originated in the Senate, entitled "An act to increase the jurisdiction of the presiding judge of the county court of Fayette county," which provides as follows, viz:

§ 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That the presiding judge of the Fayette county court is hereby given jurisdiction concurrent with that of the circuit courts of this Commonwealth, in all cases where the penalty is a fine of s—22 three hundred dollars or less, or imprisonment for six months or less, or both. In all such cases trial and conviction may be had upon a warrant issued as is now required by law; but the defendant shall have the right to a trial by jury.

"§ 2. That this act shall apply to Fayette county, and take effect from its passage."

This bill does not provide for a "grand jury" to prefer indictments for "indictable offenses;" nor does any general law provide for a grand jury before a presiding judge of a county court. The mode of proceeding is exclusively by "information" in the nature of a warrant, based upon affidavit.

The manifold abuses of power under proceedings by "information," which preceded our revolutionary struggle for independence, caused our ancestors to more carefully guard the citizen against them, by the adoption of the following provision in the Federal Constitution, viz: "Art. V, § 1. No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia when in actual service in time of war or public danger." &c.

In the formation of our State Constitution, the framers of our first, second, and new Constitution, threw additional guards around the security of the citizen against malicious and groundless prosecutions, each of which adopted, in the same words, the following provision: First Constitution, art. 12, section 11; second Constitution, art. 10, section 11, and new Constitution, art. 13, section 13: "That no person shall, for any indictable offense, be proceeded against criminally by information, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia when in actual service, in time of war or public danger, or by leave of the court, for oppression or misdemeanor in office."

This clause was intended to, and, if enforced, does secure the citizens of Kentucky against prosecutions for "indictable" offenses except by indictment—in all cases but those expressly excepted in the section above quoted. The jurisdiction proposed to be conferred in the bill before me can embrace none but "indictable" offenses, because of such only have the circuit courts jurisdiction.

That the practice has been different constitutes no sufficient argument for either the continuance or enlargement of the violation.

It will not do to say, that, because jurisdiction to punish riots, rants, unlawful assemblies, and other "indictable offenses," by justices of the peace, upon information and warrant, has so long prevailed as thereby to constitute the construction of this provision of the Constitution; therefore we will continue such legislation. To guard against all proceedings by information, for indictable offenses, was the danger and evil intended to be remedied; and no length of acquiescence can avoid the letter and spirit of the Constitution.

The question has never been raised in the Court of Appeals, except incidentally in the case of Harrison vs. Chiles, 3 Littell's Reports. In that case it was a proceeding by motion against a clerk to recover for an illegal fee bill. This being a civil proceeding for the redress of a private grievance, it was properly held that the constitutional inhibition did not apply. But the court, in considering the case, says: “It will be conceded, that the words criminal prosecutions do, in these classes, include all proceedings for offenses against government, for misdemeanors only, and penalties imposed by statutes, on account of malum prohibitum, as well as the higher grades of crimes, termed felonies and treason.” (Page 197.)

There were and are but three modes of “criminal proceeding” known to the law, viz: indictment, presentment of a grand jury, and information. The first is found by the grand jury to be “a true bill;” the second is made by the grand jury; the third is an accusation preferred by the proper officer without the intervention of a grand jury, or by information in the form of affidavit or deposition taken before the magistrate or justice of the peace, upon which to base a warrant. With these legal distinctions before us, no one can fail to perceive the prohibition of the Constitution against the jurisdiction proposed to be conferred by the bill under consideration.

Fully appreciating the present necessity of relieving the circuit courts of the large accumulation of indictments for misdemeanors, which consume the term of the court to the exclusion of other important business, it will afford me pleasure to co-operate with the General Assembly in the passage of any law sanctioned by the Constitution, which will have the effect of relieving the dockets.

Without presuming to dictate any mode, it may not be deemed mistimed to suggest, that the constitutional objection may be obviated, by authorizing the empanneling of a grand jury by the presiding judge to prefer indictments; or by requiring all indictments found in the circuit court for misdemeanors to be transferred to the presiding judge of the county court for trial—requiring jury, as in other cases, to try.

The constitutional objection to the bill under consideration being insuperable, as at present shaped, I return the same to the Senate in which it originated with these my objections to its passage.

THO. E. BRAMLEY, Governor of Kentucky.

The question was then taken, “Shall the bill pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?” and it was decided in the negative.

The yeas and nays being taken thereon in pursuance of a provision of the Constitution, were as follows, viz:

action on the part of the Radical party in Congress is believed by the people of the Commonwealth of Kentucky to be a preliminary step, on their part, preparatory to a full repeal of the said act of appropriation aforesaid; therefore, be it

1. Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That the State of Kentucky does most solemnly protest against the passage, by the Congress of the United States, of any law suspending, repealing, or in any way interfering with said act of appropriation, except to enlarge the scope and meaning of said act so as to include all the slave-owners of the United States where slaves have been made free by the late civil war; and does most solemnly declare, that the Congress of the United States, in thus attempting, by legislative action, to suspend payment to slave-owners of the Southern States of the greatly inadequate sum appropriated to them as compensation for such of their slaves as had been enlisted or drafted into the military service of the United States by the act of Congress aforesaid, are guilty of a gross violation of the plighted faith of Congress and the nation to the slave-owners of the Southern States; and, should the Congress of the United States pass said act, it will be regarded by the Commonwealth of Kentucky as a direct repudiation of said appropriation by the General Government, and would add one more to the many outrages that has been visited upon the Commonwealth of Kentucky by the Radical party that now has the control of the Congress of the nation, and would offer a strong and powerful inducement and example to the people of Kentucky and the Southern States to repudiate the national debt.

The original bill reads as follows, viz:

Whereas, Walter B. Simmons, late sheriff of Meade county, executed his bond for the collection of the revenue of said county for the year 1863, with David Henry, R. R. Jones, James Luckett, E. C. Ashcroft, Orin W. Powell, Ed. Rhodes, Edward M. Johnson, — Seibert, Benjamin Neafors, John Powell, Collins Fitch, and Richard Kay, his sureties; for 1864, with R. R. Jones, James Luckett, Ed. Rhodes, Collins Fitch, Ben. Neafors, and Richard Kay as his sureties; but, owing to the disturbed condition of the county, and the arrest of said sheriff, taking from him his books and papers, and the present want of security to those who endeavored to coerce the payment of the taxes from those owing the same for those years, and it appearing that Collins Fitch, one of the sureties, has collected and paid over to the Treasury of the State the sum of $2,429 14; therefore,
§ 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That if the said Fitch and his co-sureties shall well and truly pay into the Treasury the sum of $2,500, or any greater sum than that amount, should the same be collected, on or before the 1st of November, 1867, then and in that event he and his co-sureties shall be released from the obligation of their bonds.

§ 2. That the said Fitch, who is now collecting the taxes aforesaid under and by virtue of an order of the Meade circuit court, have until the 1st of November, 1867, to return to the Auditor the delinquent list for the years 1863-4.

§ 3. That the said Fitch, in the collection of the taxes and fee bills aforesaid, shall have power to coerce the payment of the same as sheriffs have in such cases, and that he shall not be restrained in the collection of the same by reason of the lapse of time or any statute of limitation, and be subject to all the penalties imposed for illegal distraint.

§ 4. This act to be in force from and after its passage.

The amendment proposed by Mr. Botts reads as follows, viz:

WHEREAS, It is represented to the General Assembly that judgments have been rendered in the Franklin circuit court against Walter B. Simmons, late sheriff of the county of Meade, and his sureties on his official bond, for failure to pay into the Treasury the revenue for the years 1863 and 1864, and that said Simmons has become insolvent and removed from this State; therefore,

§ 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That the further time of one year be, and is hereby, granted to said sureties to pay into the Treasury the amount of said judgments, and that on payment of the principal and costs thereof, that the interest and damages thereon is hereby remitted.

§ 2. Be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the county judge of Meade county to cause the books of assessment for said years of 1863 and 1864 to be placed in the hands of the sheriff of said county, or into the hands of any of said sureties who may be deemed a suitable person for collector, whose duty it shall be, and who shall have full authority of law to collect all unpaid revenue for said years; and shall have full authority to distraint for the same. And said sheriff or said collector shall be allowed ten per cent. on all amounts collected.

§ 3. That said sheriff or collector shall be required to execute bond with sufficient surety, to be approved by said court, conditioned as required by law, for the faithful discharge of his duties as collector of the revenue for said years.

§ 4. That the further time of one year be, and is hereby, allowed for a return of a delinquent list for said years, to be approved and certified by the judge of said county court as now provided by law, which said delinquent list so approved and returned to the Auditor, shall entitle said sureties to a credit for the amount thereof on said judgments.

§ 5. That this act shall take effect from its passage.
The question was then taken on the adoption of the amendment proposed by Mr. Botts, and it was decided in the negative.

Mr. Helm then moved to amend said bill as follows, viz:

Add to the bill:

Be it further enacted, That after the payment of the $2,500, it shall be the duty of the said sureties to return to the county court of Meade all evidences of dues and balances from citizens to Simmons, whose duty it shall be to list the same with the sheriff of Meade, or other collecting officer, who shall have the right to collect the same as other taxes and fee bills, and receive for compensation ten per cent. for all sums collected, and pay the same into the Treasury.

The question was then taken on the adoption of the amendment proposed by Mr. Helm, and it was decided in the affirmative.

Ordered, That said bill be read a third time.

W. A. Dudley, J. D. Landram,

So said bill was disagreed to.
Mr. Helm, from the Committee on Federal Relations, made the following report on the subject of the call of a National Democratic Convention, viz.
"Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That this General Assembly favor the calling of a National Democratic Convention of all the States, to be held in the city of Louisville, at an early day, for the purpose of taking into consideration such measures as will promote the public welfare, maintain inviolable the Constitution of our fathers, the enforcement of constitutional law, and to bring to bear the whole power and influence of the National Democracy to the support of the President in his efforts to restore the Union, now dissovvered by the unconstitutional revolutionary acts of Congress."

The Committee on Federal Relations, to whom was referred the above resolution offered by Mr. Chandler, would respectfully report:

That they have had the same under consideration, and are of the opinion that the action therein proposed is not only eminently proper under existing circumstances, but imperatively demanded by the best interests of the people of the whole Union, imperiled, as they are, by the mad policy of a revolutionary party that now control the United States Government.

The Federal Government was established by States, alike equal and independent, for certain specific purposes, with powers specifically enumerated in the Constitution, and such powers as were necessary to carry into effect and to execute the specified powers, each State retaining its original dignity and equality, and reserving to itself all powers not delegated by the Constitution to the General Government, nor prohibited to the several States. In this residuary mass of powers was included the right of each State to prescribe the qualifications of its electors, to establish and regulate its own domestic policy, to secure protection to the lives, liberties, and property of its citizens, and to provide for the administration of justice between them according to its own laws, and through the agency of its own tribunals. Besides this reservation of powers to the States respectively, they mutually guaranteed to each other, by constitutional law, in which the plighted faith of each and all the States was pledged in the most solemn manner, by the ratification of the Constitution, that every State should be entitled to representation in the House of Representatives in proportion to its population, and that no State should be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate without the consent of such State.

To guard more effectually and carefully the liberties of a free people, all the individual rights which have been esteemed essential to the freedom and security of the citizen, from the days of magna charta to the present time, were carefully and specifically enumerated in the Constitution, and declared to be forever sacred and inviolate.

Organized on these principles, the Federal Government, at the commencement of the terrific and sanguinary conflict through which we have recently passed, by its executive, and with a unanimity rarely, if ever before, presented in its legislative department, solemnly declared to the people of the United States and to the civilized world that the war was waged in no spirit of oppression, nor for purpose of conquest or subjugation, nor for the purpose of overthrowing or interfering with the rights or established institutions of the States, but to defend and maintain the Constitution, and to preserve the Union with all its dignity and the equality and rights of the several States unimpaired; and that so soon as these objects were accomplished, the war ought to cease."

Was this pledge made in good faith? If it was, the honor of the whole party stands pledged to its redemption. If it was made to deceive, a blush of shame should mantle the cheeks of every man engaged in perpetrating so gross a fraud and falsehood.

Influenced by these oft-repeated assurances of fidelity to constitutional obligation on the part of the executive and legislative departments of the General Government, thousands and tens of thousands of our patriotic citizens sprang to arms, with a promptness unparalleled in the history of nations. They cheerfully met and bore all the dangers and privations of a long and bloody war, and laid down their lives a willing sacrifice upon the altar of their country.

The struggle was one unprecedented in the annals of the human race. Thousands of gallant and heroic braves on both sides of the conflict met on the sanguinary battle-field, where American gallantry and valor were shown in such glory as the world had never before witnessed.

The Federal armies, by their overwhelming numbers and power, were at last triumphant. It was then the soldiers of the competing armies struck hands in friendly greeting, and brave and chivalrous brothers, so recently arrayed on the battle-field, held friendly converse. It had been proclaimed the fight was not to degrade and subjugate our Southern brothers, but to vindicate the supremacy of law and to uphold the Constitution of the country, that all might enjoy its protecting shield, its privileges and its blessings.

The Federal soldier pointed with pride to oft-repeated pledges of the Government to give the Southern soldier assurances of magnanimity and amnesty which awaited him. The Southern soldier has grounded his arms, returned to the peaceful walks in society, acknowledging his obedience to law and allegiance to the Government.

Notwithstanding the plighted faith of the Government through its departments, at the beginning and during the contest, which every consideration of honor, truth, and justice required an observance of; the party now controlling the Government has astounded not only the people of this country, but those of the civilized world, by a series of unparalleled usurpations of power. There has been perpetrated the most shameless disregard of constitutional obligations, the most flagrant violations of individual and State rights, to be found in the history of civilized nations. They have invaded the holy sanctuaries of religion, and have attempted to abridge its freedom by imprisoning ministers of the gospel, and by imposing humiliating oaths as a pre-requisite to the performance of their sacred and holy mission. They have condemned them to cruel and unconstitutional penalties for disregarding their despotic and tyrannical behests.

They have consigned citizens into dungeons, without making known the charges or proceeding by due process of law. They have suspended and denied the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus, that golden key prepared by our fathers to unlock the bastile to give the citizen the right to be heard in his defense.
They have denied to the citizen the ancient mode and sacred right of trial by a jury of his peers, and tried him before tribunals unknown to the Constitution and laws of his country, and condemned him to ignominious punishment and to death. They have subjected him to unreasonable and arbitrary searches and seizures, in shameless contempt of the Constitution. When the people have assembled together peaceably to consult, to remonstrate, and to protest against these wrongs and kindred grievances, and propose measures for the public welfare, or through the press, that terror to tyrants, or at the ballot-box, their assemblies have been dispersed by the bayonet, the press has been suppressed, and the exercise of the elective franchise made a miserable farce.

Some of the bravest officers who lavished their blood in the cause of the Government and the Constitution, who dared to have the boldness and manhood to raise their voices to manifest a just and proud indignation against these lawless acts of injury founded in despotism, had their badges of war ruthlessly torn from them, and they dismissed from service without accusation or trial, or banished, imprisoned, or exiled. Against all these acts of oppression Kentucky enters solemn protest. But it is said these wrongs and outrages are accompanied by extenuating circumstances, to be found in the widespread popular excitement which pervaded the popular mind during the existence of a gigantic civil war. They were certainly less observed and less heeded in the midst of the clash of arms. But the reflecting statesman, the anxious patriot, jealous of the liberties of the country, and desirous to promote the happiness and prosperity of his race, had a right to expect, with a return of peace, honor, justice, reason, humanity, and constitutional law, would resume their places and insure an honest redemption of the solemn pledges of the Government. But quite the contrary is the fact. The people have now more serious cause for alarm for their liberties, arising from the fact that still bolder and more defiant strides in the direction of imperial despotism have been taken by the dominant party since the close of the war.

In addition to the stamp act and the civil rights bill, which undertook to prescribe rules of evidence in the State courts, we have the freedman's bureau bill, and bills of kindred character. They have assumed to abrogate State laws made pursuant to State Constitutions; provided penalties against State judges for an honest judicial opinion; thus impairing the independence of the State judiciary. They pronounce as a rule of evidence that negroes shall give evidence between white men. All this is done under pretense of an existing necessity to protect the negro in his freedom, and that despite executive vetoes. They have sent into the States a multitude of officers to harass the people and eat out their substance, under the pretense of its necessity to protect the labor and regulate the law of contract for the black man. These acts are distasteful to the people and destructive of the best interest of that race whose interests they profess to care for and protect.

By congressional law and executive proclamation pledges of pardon, amnesty, and restoration of the Southern States to all their political rights, were solemnly made. The olive branch thus held out has been accepted in good faith by the people; they have laid down their arms and submit to the laws and the Constitution. Yet they deny to those States representation, whilst they impose on them direct taxation in violation of a plain provision of the Constitution. They assume these are not States of the Union, but are territories, conquered and held by the laws and right of war. What is that less than an avowed declaration of a dissolved Union? The Constitution provides that representation and direct taxation shall be apportioned among the several States of the Union according to population. They are held to be States for taxation, but not States entitled to representation. If they are States for one purpose, they are States for all the purposes of the Constitution. They subject the people of the Southern States to onerous taxation and oppressive protective tariff laws, whilst they keep suspended over their heads the sword of Damocles, in the form of cruel and unnecessary laws for the confiscation of their property, and execute them by force without trial and conviction. They have introduced odious political test oaths, decided now to be unconstitutional. They have appropriated millions of the private property of non-combatant citizens to the public use without compensation; in some instances imposing humiliating oaths as a condition precedent to the receiving pay for property acknowledged to have been taken for the public use.

They present and seek to secure the ratification of amendments to the Constitution which strike at the fundamental principles in our structure of government, by duress, force, and political torture of the Southern people. They seek to degrade and to ostracise white men, whilst they insist on the enfranchisement and elevation of the negro; thus they seek to substitute vice and ignorance for virtue and intelligence, as an element to control the destinies of this nation. Could there be presented a proposition more dangerous to civil liberty and the principles on which our Government was founded than that involved in a great historical fact, now presented before us, of a civil war closed between sections, and the conquering section demanding and seeking to coerce vital and radical changes in our form of government, irrespective of the voluntary will of the conquered section? Establish that as a precedent, and you at once inaugurate a government of force, and establish it on the ruins of a government of will. It is the great principle involved which determines the people of Kentucky firmly to reject and to resist these innovations on the principles of their fathers.

A government administered on the eternal principles of truth, honor, justice, and mercy, will never fail to command the respect, the love, the veneration, and allegiance of the people. A government administered on the principle of fraud, falsehood, tyranny, and oppression, will never fail to lose the confidence, respect, and veneration of the people.

The good and true men of all parties congratulate the country that, amidst the strife of contending parties, that branch of the Government, intended to shield the citizen from oppression—the Supreme Court—has manifested a capacity and a willingness to interpose.
between this storm of party passion and the citizen, by throwing its protecting mantle around him as a shield from oppression. The hopes of the country now rest on that department as the sheet-anchor to steady the vessel of State, and make sure its moorings. That court has stricken down that hydra-headed monster, the trial of the citizen by military commission, and established his right to be heard before his peers. Whilst thus flushed with hope at the appearance of a ray of light bursting through the lowering clouds of war and domestic strife, a gloom of foreboding obtrudes upon the minds of the people by the knowledge of the fact, that four of the judges of that august tribunal falter in meeting the grave questions which are being presented. The intensity of that gloom is increased by a knowledge of the fact that there are intimations that it is the purpose of the party in power to reorganize that court, and thus subordinate that department to the will of each successful faction and party. Accomplish that, and our fair temple of liberty crumbles in ruins, and beneath its fall will be crushed man’s last hope for freedom.

But there exist other causes for alarm. It is the settled policy of the party in power that the people of the Southern States shall not be represented in Congress until after the next presidential election, if then, and shall be excluded from participation in the election of President. The impeachment of the President, to be tried by the Senate in the absence of representation of the Southern States, has assumed a shape to authorize a belief that it is determined on as part of their policy. A demonstration has been made which would lead to the conclusion that a perpetual Congress is part of the political programme of the party in power. It is, too, boldly insisted by some of the most distinguished leaders of the party, that a ratification of the proposed amendment to the Constitution by three-fourths of the States now represented in Congress will make it part of the Constitution.

If this policy, or any two or three of its main features, shall be carried into practical execution, it will be difficult to exclude the belief that it will result in a sanginary conflict of arms, and establish dissolution as a fixed fact. Will it be less than a proclamation by the representatives of a majority of States and peoples, that the Union is dissolved? The South insisted on a dissolved Union on the establishment of the Confederate government. If the North now, by an overwhelming vote, shall by its acts recognize the existence of the fact, by ignoring the existence of eleven of the States, once of the Union, you have the concurrent acts of nearly every State in the Union (Kentucky, Maryland, and Delaware forming the exception) uniting in the acknowledgment of a dissolved Union. The compact of the Union is the Constitution. That has been ignored and disregarded in all its essential covenants of mutuality. It cannot be denied, that, if all the States in the Union were represented in a National Convention, they might dissolve the compact and remand the conferred powers to the States respectively. Why would this be so? It is because they would represent the sovereignty of the separate States in its original and unlimited capacity. The sovereignty of the States thus united could propose another form of government; but as the States would then assume their originally separate and independent sovereignties, it would require the concurrent action of the several States to establish another Union. The present Constitution was established on that principle. Admit, for argument sake, it requires the will of the people of the several States to dissolve the compact of Union; that will may be made known in the regular form of a convention. The will of the people of the several States is reflected and represented in a more qualified and restricted sense through their Representatives in Congress. Suppose that will is manifested by denying to individuals and the peoples of States, parties to the compact, rights and privileges plainly and unmistakably guaranteed by the compact, what would be the legal and political effect may or may not be a judicial question.

A compact between sovereignties is an entirety, and must be observed by all to be binding on all.

We have established a common arbiter—the Supreme Court; and as to all questions coming within its jurisdiction, all good citizens ought to submit to its decision. But there are political rights secured to the States, where no common arbiter has been agreed. It may be insisted, if these rights are ignored, denied, and trampled on by a dominant party in other States, such acts of the dominant party whose redress is asked in the proper mode, and refused until patience and forbearance under oppression and wrong ceases to be a virtue, absolves the oppressed party or parties from any further obligation to observe the terms of the compact. The most charitable construction which can be placed on the conduct of the dominant party is, that they are acting upon the assumption of a dissolved Union without the obligations of an oath, to observe the Constitution; and that Congress is the supreme law-giver, and the States are held together by force. The greatest leader of that party—Stevens, of Pennsylvania—has openly avowed the Union was dissolved, and his action made conformable to that state of things. If this revolutionary idea is not arrested, who can foresee the consequences that may follow in its train? The American people are forbearing and hopeful; but conclusions follow political events as certain as water seeks its level. The most sensitive interests which are interwoven in the business transactions of citizens of the United States at this time is the currency and national securities. Their destruction may follow the solution of this political problem. If so, those who have sown the seed will reap the harvest.

In this chaotic state of political affairs Kentucky insists on a perfect union of all the States, with all their rights and privileges secured by the Constitution to each State, and is determined now, as heretofore, to stand firm as a rock in the ocean, bearing aloft the Constitution as our fathers made it; and if the temple of civil liberty erected by their noble hands, and conceived by their colossal minds, must fall, she will be buried beneath its ruins.

From the warnings we have, it is our duty to watch with a jealous and vigilant eye the movements of that party. It has been truthfully said, "the price of liberty is eternal vigilance."

It is demonstrable to the most casual observer of passing political events, that unless the encroachments of the party in power upon the reserved powers of the State can be arrested, it must eventually result in the destruction of the powers and rights of the several States secured by the Constitution, and unite in the Federal Government all power. In that event, there will be created a despotism on the ruins of a mighty republic, in comparison to which that of Austria and Russia may be esteemed a blessing.

The evils existing and anticipated being thus presented, the question arises, what is the remedy, and how shall we escape the evils foreboded? That question baffles the wisest statesmen of this age.

Your Committee would recommend a National Democratic Convention as the best remedy to unite all the elements of opposition into one party, and make a last and final appeal to the ballot-box. If the lovers of liberty can forget and sink into oblivion the past, merge personal considerations in the public good, ignore past parties, party names, and party issues, and, by the adoption of principles on which all the opposing elements may unite in one grand and active political party, having a common purpose, this swelling tide of despotism may be rolled back, and its projectors scattered to the winds.

To effect that object, concert and co-operation are indispensable; that can only be effected by a grand council of representative men in National Convention assembled.

Wherefore, the committee recommend the adoption of the resolution submitted for their consideration.

Ordered, That said resolutions be printed and placed in the orders of the day.

Hon. Thos. B. Cochran, Frankfort, Kentucky.

DEAR SIR: From the commencement of the session of the Legislature my friends have constantly and earnestly desired a caucus to settle the claims of the respective candidates for United States Senator. They have constantly invited all who intend in future to act with the National Democratic party of the United States against the Radicals to meet in friendly council and select a senatorial candidate. This offer, which is in accordance with the usage of political parties, and is deemed the best, if not the only means, to secure harmony and united action among political friends, has been steadily rejected. In the present imperiled condition of the country, Kentucky should not be without full representation in Congress. Most earnestly desiring that harmony should prevail in the ranks of those who intend to act in good faith with the National Democracy, and sustain the President and the Supreme Court against the illegal and revolutionary policy of the Radicals, and believing that all who desire to see the Union restored, the Southern States speedily represented in Congress with perfect equality of rights under the Constitution, the reserved rights of the States preserved, the constitutional and civil liberties of the people maintained, and the fundamental laws faithfully executed, should unite, in solid phalanx, in opposition to the wicked and destructive policy of the Radicals, I regard it a patriotic duty to retire from this protracted contest. You are, therefore, respectfully requested to withdraw my name as a candidate for United States Senator.

To my friends who have given me their support, I return my grateful acknowledgments.

I have the honor to be your obedient servant,

L. W. POWELL.

WHEREAS, It is a settled rule in international wars that officers, soldiers, sailors, and others co-operating with them, are exempt in a municipal court of law from responsibility for seizing property, whether on land or sea, as belonging to the enemy and for all acts done under color of military authority; and whereas, the late rebellion against the authority of the United States assumed all the proportions of war, and the belligerents extended to each other most of the civilities usual among enemies in war; and whereas, now that the war is over, it is meet that the responsibility of persons engaged in it, or co-operating with them in its prosecution, should be made to conform as near as practicable to that of such persons in public wars; and whereas, owing to the nature of this war, in which the parties co-operating with one belligerent and the other were often mingled in the same community and territory, the chief difficulty lies in determining who were enemies of the United States and who were enemies of the so-called Confederate States; and, during the war, the military authorities of each were compelled practically to make such determination and act upon it; now, for remedy thereof,

§ 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That no officer, soldier, or sailor of the United States, or of the so-called Confederate States, and no person acting in conjunction or co-operating with any one of them, or with the authorities of either government, shall be held responsible, criminally or civilly, in the courts of this State, for any act done during the late rebellion under color of military authority.

§ 2. Be it further enacted, That, for the purposes of this act, the rebellion shall be deemed to have commenced on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1861, and to have terminated on the date of the withdrawal of martial law from Kentucky by the President.

§ 3. Be it further enacted, That nothing in this act shall preclude the maintaining an action for the recovery of money or property illegally or wrongfully taken, though taken under color of military authority, where the money or property is in the hands of the person who took the same, or of one claiming under him, or has been disposed of for his own personal benefit. But no recovery shall be had beyond the money or property so taken, or its value.

§ 4. Be it further enacted, That it is not intended by this act to declare that the rebellion was justifiable or proper, or that all acts done under color of the military authorities of the United States were right, but that, for the purpose of giving tranquility to the State, a general amnesty is given so far, that redress for wrongs done under color of authority of one or the other Government shall not be given by the municipal courts of this State.

And the question being taken thereon, it was decided in the affirmative.

Section two, line three, after the word “the” printed in italics, strike out all the remaining part of that section, and insert “1st day of October, 1865.”

[For report—see Legislative Document No. 14.]
Ordered, That the Public Printer print the usual number of copies thereof.

Mr. Helm, from the Committee on the Sinking Fund, made the following report, viz:

The Committee on the Sinking Fund in the Senate of the State of Kentucky, have examined into the amount of the indebtedness of the State, created for internal improvement purposes, and the ability of the Sinking Fund to liquidate the debt, and beg leave to submit to the Senate the following report.

The bonds of the State now due amount to the sum of...
Bonds due in the present year, 1867...
Bonds due in the year 1868...
Bonds due in the year 1869...
Bonds due in the year 1870...
Bonds due from April, 1870, to February, 1871...
Bonds due between April, 1871, and April, 1872...
Bonds due in April, 1871...
Bonds due in September, 1873...

Total debt, exclusive of the School Fund...

The above debt was created for purposes of improvement, for the payment of which certain sources of revenue were set apart, constituting a fund to pay the interest and sink the principal of the debt.

The Constitution forbids the repeal of the laws which constitute the resources of that fund, and provides that they may be increased, but shall not be diminished until the debt is paid.

RESOURCES OF THE SINKING FUND.

Amount in the Treasury on the 10th day of October, 1866...
Amount in the Treasury on the 10th day of October, 1866, to be transferred to this fund...
Amount borrowed from the Sinking Fund by the Treasury Department, with interest up to October, 1867...
Amount borrowed by Military Board of Sinking Fund...
Estimated amount to be received from 15 cents tax on $100 worth of property for the year 1867...
Estimated receipts from other sources than 15 cents tax...

Total amount of available resources to 1868...
From that should be deducted interest for 1867...
Total sum which may be paid on debt in the year 1867...

The present annual reliable sources of receipts, exclusive of interest on deposits and receipts from forfeited lands...

A tax of ten cents remains of the increased resources of the Sinking Fund for war purposes. Five cents was levied before the adoption of the Constitution, and cannot be repealed until the debt is paid; but if the Legislature think proper to repeal the 10 cents tax, the annual resources of the fund would be...

The sum reported to be due from the General Government of the United States to the State of Kentucky, as shown by the Governor's message, is...

That fund owes to the Sinking Fund charges above...

$2,238,347 91
The bonds of the State were issued due in 15 and 20 years, chargeable to that fund, for $685,000.00

If it shall be the policy of the State to defer the payment of those bonds to maturity, there would be of the war fund, if received, placed at the disposal of the Legislature, $2,238,347.91

If thought best to pay them, that sum deducted $685,000.00

Leaves $1,553,347.91

Colonel Pennebaker, the State Agent at Washington to attend to the liquidation of that claim, gives assurances that accounts amounting in the aggregate to between seven and eight hundred thousand dollars have been so far approved by the accounting officers as to give assurances that that sum will soon be placed to the credit of the State.

It will be seen that the sum on hand, at the close of the year, lacks only $470,748 of paying our actual indebtedness. The resources, exclusive of the ten cents tax, amounts annually to $317,083 more than the annual interest, and will increase by the amount of interest on each debt when paid. The above surplus would be applicable next year to the payment of principal.

The revenue department owes to the Sinking Fund $121,000. That sum, it might be assumed, was part of the increased resources produced by the 10 cents tax, and could, without detriment to the operations of the Sinking Fund, be remitted or released.

The Constitution provides that the resources may be increased, but not diminished, until the debt is paid. If the means on hand are equal to payment, it may be assumed that the debt is paid, and the tax no longer necessary to accomplish its purpose. If it is thought advisable to defer the payment of the war bonds, one cent taxation would pay the interest. The Treasury Department will be deficit 10th day of next October $200,549. A tax of five cents on the $100 worth of property for the next year would most likely square that balance and pay the interest on the war debt. Five cents of the ten might be repealed; and five cents transferred to the Treasury Department will balance any deficit in the Treasury, if continued two years.

Sound policy requires the payment of our debt at the earliest possible day it can be done.

The present depreciation of our currency may prevent a presentation of our bonds for payment before maturity.

It is most likely a large amount of our bonds are held by Eastern and Northern and European capitalists. In that view, it may result in the mutual advantage of the General Government and this State, and facilitate a settlement, to transfer to, and increase the resources of, the Sinking Fund, by adding the sum to be received from the General Government, and authorize the Commissioners to accept from the General Government its bonds, and use them for the payment of the bonds of the State. The War Department holds $77,000 of the bonds of the State due in this year. That sum could be paid by a surrender of the bonds of the State. Eastern and European capitalists will most likely, in view of the early maturity of our bonds, gladly make this exchange. It is with a view to that exchange that your committee advise a postponement of the payment of the war bonds.

It is suggested for the consideration of the Legislature the passage of a law directing that proclamation be made by the President of the Board of Commissioners of the Sinking Fund that the State of Kentucky is ready to redeem all her bonds, irrespective of their maturity; that after maturity no interest will be paid; and if not presented for payment within one year after maturity, the State will regard them as lost and canceled; and if presented after that time, will only be paid at the pleasure of the State. If it can be ascertained that an exchange can be effected, the fact should be made known in the proclamation and published in papers in the localities where the bonds are held.

The Sinking Fund was created for the purpose of paying the interest and principal of moneys borrowed for internal improvement. If it shall be deemed to the interest of the State to enter on a general system of improvement, or aid in the construction of leading lines of railroads connecting those now constructed in the State with those in other States, or by diverging from them and striking in the direction of the Ohio, it will be found that the present Sinking Fund, without additional taxation, is sufficient to pay the interest on near or quite eight millions of dollars.

Which is respectfully submitted to the Senate.

JOHN L. HELM, Chairman.

Ordered, That the Public Printer print 1,000 copies thereof for the use of this General Assembly.

A message in writing was received from the Governor by Mr. Page, Assistant Secretary of State.

In settling said accounts, the officer and soldier shall be charged with any clothing or government stores that came into their possession while in said service, and which was not turned over by them to the proper authorities when they left said service, unless said property was captured by the enemy, or the party forced to abandon the same by order of some superior officer in authority. And upon ascertaining the amount so due, the same shall be paid to such officer and soldier, if living; if dead, then the same shall be paid to the widow of the deceased officer and soldier, if he left a widow, and if no widow, then to his children.

§ 2. The sums found to be due under the provisions of this act shall be paid by warrant to be drawn on the Treasurer, in favor of the officer, soldier, widow, or child or children, or their guardian, should they or any of them be infants, by the Auditor, upon filing with him a copy of the account stated, settled, and allowed by the Adjutant General, certified by him. The Adjutant General shall carefully file away and keep said settlement, and vouchers accompanying the same, for the purpose of having the same reimbursed and paid to the State by the General Government. The funds appropriated by this act shall not be subject to attachment or any legal process for the payment of debts due and owing by the officer or soldier thus paid.

§ 3. This act shall be so construed as to embrace the cases of those who actually rendered service as quartermaster, commissary, or surgeon; and who, because of the consolidation of the regiment or battalions to which they were attached with other regiments or battalions, were never formally mustered into service of the State; and of such soldiers as honorably left the service of the State, because of disability incurred therein, without receiving formal discharges: Provided, That full and satisfactory evidence of such service shall be furnished to the Adjutant General: Provided further, That it shall not be construed in such manner as to embrace recruiting officers who failed to recruit the requisite number of men to entitle them to a commission.

The following petitions were presented, viz:

By Mr. Grainger—

Which petition reads as follows, viz:

Gentlemen of the Senate:

In laying before you the annexed correspondence and accompanying remarks the undersigned persuade themselves that they are actuated by no selfish or unworthy motive, but solely by a sense of what is due to candor and fair dealing.

Early in February, 1866, we applied to J. C. Derby, Esq., New York (United States Agency for the Paris Universal Exposition of 1867), for space in which to exhibit one of our piano-fortes. We were promptly answered that our application had been duly received and filed, and that we would be notified in time as to the disposition which would be made of it by the proper committee. We were requested, in the meantime, to forward to the agency such a description of the instrument as would indicate its peculiarities of construction, as also those of its special merits, upon which we had based our desire to exhibit it in competition with the numerous piano-fortes, from all parts of the world, which would most likely find places in the great French Exposition of 1867. We answered as follows:

To J. C. Derby, Esq., Agent Paris Universal Exposition of 1867:

Dear Sir: We claim for the piano-forte which we desire to exhibit, that the scale upon which it is built has been drawn on principles strictly mathematical and acoustic, the advantages of which are apparent.

First—In its entire evenness of tone throughout the scale.

Second—In its power and sonorosity, both of which characteristics in this instrument fully accord with the most precise idea of musical effect.

Third—In its freedom from false vibrations, and, consequently, in the fact that it presents to the professional tuner fewer difficulties in tuning the instrument.
Fourth—In its steadfastness, or in the quality of "standing in tune," this quality is claimed for our pianos, because of the peculiar adaptability for the desired purpose of the wood used in constructing the "wrest-pin blocks," as well as from the fact that the holes through the iron frame, intended for the reception of the "tuning pins," are all bushed with hard wood, whereby greater surface of resisting force is applied to the pin, preventing the same from giving so easily, and preventing, also, any spring of the pin in the act of tuning.

Fifth—We also claim that in the scale of our piano-fortes we have succeeded, beyond any other makers with whose instruments we are familiar, in securing more power and a better quality of tone in the sixth octave, wherein these characteristics are usually weak and defective.

Respectfully,

PETERS, WEBB & CO.

When we addressed this letter to Mr. Derby, we were not prepared to speak of a most important improvement we had made in the construction of the piano-forte sounding-board, for which we have only lately secured letters patent from the proper office at Washington, and upon account of which we were particularly anxious to exhibit a specimen of our instruments in the Paris Exposition, side by side with those of the most noted manufacturers of the world.

We heard nothing more from Mr. Derby until September, when we received from him the following letter:

U. S. AGENCY PARIS U. EX. OF 1867,

NEW YORK, September 19, 1866.

Sirs: You have been allotted space in the American section of the Paris Universal Exposition of 1867, to exhibit one piano-forte.

J. C. DERBY,
U. S. Agent Paris U. Ex.

Late in November, when we were on the point of expressing the piano to New York, in order to insure its receipt in that city by the first of December, the limited date for the reception of articles destined for exhibition, we were not a little surprised at receiving the notification which follows:

NEW YORK, November 20, 1866.

To Messrs. Peters, Webb & Co.:

Gentlemen: I regret to inform you that the space which had been allotted to you by my committee for the exhibition of a piano at the Paris Exposition has been taken away again by the U. S. Commissioner General at Paris. On a final revision of our allotments by the quantity of space at his disposal, he advises us that there will be no possibility of exhibiting your instrument, and that we must so advise you.

Yours, respectfully,

J. C. DERBY,
U. S. Agent P. U. Ex.

In its issue of April 10th, 1866 (two months after the date of our application), the New York Tribune contains a complete list of all the articles offered for exhibition up to that time, from the different States of the Union, viz:

Arkansas, 1; California, 7; Colorado, 1; Connecticut, 23; Florida, 1; Idaho, 1; Illinois, 22; Indiana, 12; Iowa, 7; Kentucky, 3; Kansas, 1; Louisiana, 4; Maine, 5; Maryland, 14; Massachusetts, 88, including two grand and two square pianos from one exhibitor; Michigan, 16; Missouri, 13, including one piano; Montana, 1; New Hampshire, 4; New Mexico, 1; New Jersey, 22; Nevada, 1; New York, 431, including eighteen pianos from nine exhibitors; Ohio, 24; Oregon, 2; Pennsylvania, 61; Rhode Island, 15; Tennessee, 4; Texas, 1; Vermont, 13; Wisconsin, 6; Washington Territory, 1; West Virginia, 7.

We extract from the Tribune its list of articles from Kentucky:

Kentucky.—One piano-forte, which is claimed to excel in evenness of tone throughout, in power, in freedom from false vibrations, and in steadfastness of tone; one planetarian; one clock escapement.

Respectfully, yours,
PETERS, WEBB & CO.

WHEREAS, It having come to the knowledge of this body that Messrs. Peters, Webb & Co., of Louisville, Kentucky, manufacturers of pianofortes, did, early in the month of February, 1866, apply to Mr. J. C. Derby, of New York, one of the United States Commissioners of the Paris Universal Exposition of 1867, for space wherein to exhibit one of their instruments in said Exposition; and whereas, it appears by his letter of September 19th, 1866, that the said Commissioner Derby did instruct the said Peters, Webb & Co. of the fact that they had been allotted space in the American section of the Paris Universal Exposition of 1867, to exhibit one piano; and whereas, the said Commissioner Derby, by his letter to the above-named manufacturers, dated November 20th, 1866, did, for the specified reason of want of space, annul and make void his aforesaid stipulation granting the required space; and whereas, it likewise appears, from a list printed in the columns of the New York Tribune, of April 10th, 1866, purporting to be a full and complete list of all articles offered for exhibition in said Exposition from the United States up to that date, that, while the exhibitors from the State of New York numbered four hundred and thirty-one, including nine exhibitors of pianofortes entering eighteen instruments, and those from the State of Massachusetts numbered eighty-eight, including one exhibitor of pianofortes entering four instruments, the whole number of exhibitors from the State of Kentucky numbered only three, including one exhibitor of pianofortes entering one instrument; and whereas, the aforesaid Commissioner and his Associate—appointed to their office for the conservation of the interests of the entire population of all the States, as well of the citizens of Kentucky as of New York or Massachusetts—have not thought proper to indicate in any way, either to the local Commissioner of our State or to the parties more directly interested, in what manner he had arrived at a just discrimination in the premises as to whose claims should be allowed and whose set aside; and whereas, on account of the above rehearsed facts, grave doubts have naturally arisen in the minds of our citizens as to the entire fairness of the said Commissioner's action in the premises; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of Kentucky, That His Excellency Gov. Bramlette be, and he is hereby, requested to communicate with the said Commissioners, or one of them, inclosing a copy of this preamble and resolution, with a view to obtain a full explanation of their action, in order that the said Commissioners may be released from the suspicion of having acted partially and unjustly towards our State and her citizens; or, failing this, that this body, and the individuals discriminated against, may be enabled to take such further action, corrective of the injustice to which they have been subjected, as may seem to them appropriate.

By Mr. Carlisle—

The Senate, also, according to order, took up for consideration a resolution in relation to the removal of the Seat of Government.

Which reads as follows, viz:

At a very early day in the history of the State Frankfort was selected as the Seat of Government, on account of the more liberal offers made by interested parties. The State was then feeble in wealth and population. More than seventy years have elapsed since the location was made, and with all the patronage of the Government and advantages of the Seat of Government, Frankfort numbers only about four thousand inhabitants, with no manufactories, and but limited commerce or trade, while other towns in the State have grown within a less time to populous cities, with flourishing manufactories and commerce. Frankfort is in a small valley, surrounded almost by high hills, which prevent a free circulation of air, and no pleasing prospect relieves the eye from the dull aspect of the surrounding country. The Kentucky river is only navigable for small steamboats, and the travel by railroad is a circuitous route, either by Lexington or Louisville, to the larger portion of the people of the State, at no little expense and consumption of time.
It is due to the people of the State that their Seat of Government should be of easy access and at the least cost of travel, and State pride should direct the location at a point where a sufficient quantity of land can be procured for public buildings, to give room for a healthy atmosphere, and, at the same time, impart to the Capitol building an imposing and splendid appearance. The public ground in Frankfort is entirely too small for either health or to give the public buildings an imposing or even a pleasing aspect.

The present buildings are of but little value for State purposes; they do no credit to tasteful architecture, and they are unfit for State Capitol or offices; and if the Seat of Government is not removed, it will cost perhaps not less than a million of dollars to patch up and to enlarge them; when, if the proposition of Louisville is accepted, the State will be relieved of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) of the cost of the public buildings, and an eligible site can be procured with a quantity of land to enable the State to erect a Capitol which will be an ornament and a credit to the State, and the people of the State, for some two thousand miles bordering upon the Ohio, and upon the two main railroads, will have easy and cheaper access to the Seat of Government.

But Louisville is gravely objected to, upon the ground that a large commercial city has a corrupting influence, and that grave legislators would yield to such influence, and therefore they should not be exposed to temptation. If members of the Legislature know that they are easily corrupted, then the objection may hold good as to them; but certainly not to those who feel that they are not to be seduced into vice. Many of the people of the State have business relations with Louisville. Trade, commerce, and manufactures invite and induce citizens from interior counties to visit Louisville every year; and if the Seat of Government was located at that point, the people could obtain the services of their representatives to look after matters in which their constituents are interested.

The people of the State have the right to the location of the Seat of Government at such place as will promote the convenience and be beneficial to the largest majority; and the committee, after examining the several places proposed, recommend the removal of the Seat of Government from Frankfort, and its location at Louisville, upon the terms proposed by the General Council of that city. They report the following resolution:

Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That the Seat of Government shall be removed from the city of Frankfort to the city of ——. Said removal shall take place within —— days after the adjournment of the present session of the General Assembly.

Mr. J. D. Landrum, from a select committee, made the following report in relation to the Institution for the Education and Training of Idiots and Feeble-minded Children, viz:

The Committee on Education, in obedience to a resolution adopted by the Senate on the 22d day of January, 1867, instructing them to visit the Institution for the Education of Feeble-minded Children, and examine into its management, &c., &c., report as follows:

We have visited the Institution above named more than once, and have thoroughly examined into its management, discipline, progress of the inmates, the health, &c., of the same, and take pleasure in saying, that the management of said Institution is all that we could expect, and is in every way satisfactory to the committee, and reflects much credit upon the Superintendent, Matron, and Teachers. Indeed, the committee were highly gratified in finding that these imbeciles are so amply provided with all the facilities for the culture and development of their physical, mental, and moral capacities.

There are forty-eight pupils—twenty-three of whom are males, and twenty-five females—between the ages of four and one half years and twenty years of age, most of whom are upon the charity of the State. There is one pupil from each of the following States, viz: Louisiana, Tennessee, Illinois, Indiana, and California, all of whom pay their way. We find that some four or five pupils exhibit symptoms of scrofula, and five are doubtless epileptic; but the pupils generally appear to be healthy, and are cleanly, well dressed, and well cared for.

We are satisfied that the medical services already employed are sufficient, in every respect, for the wants of the Institution; for this is a school, and not a hospital or an asylum. And when some additional improvements shall have been made, such as bathing facilities, water-closets, &c., which, we are informed by the Superintendent, will be made the present year, out of the funds now on hand in the treasury of the Institution, very great inconvenience will be obviated. These improvements are, in our judgment, absolutely necessary, and should be made at an early day.

Your committee are of opinion that the building should be enlarged by building the wings,as originally contemplated,or at least one wing. The original plan contemplated the erection of the water-closets and baths in the wings, and not in the main building. One wing completed, as per plan, would afford all needed facilities at present, and accommodation for fifty or sixty more pupils, and the better to separate the males and females, as well as the epileptics; for we are satisfied that the epileptics should not be permitted to remain at all times with the other pupils.

We are convinced that said Institution is no longer an experiment, but a decided success. Consequently, it is our imperative duty to urge upon the people of our State the great importance of forwarding all imbeciles to this Institution, especially those whose destitute condition at home render them objects of pity—wallowing in their filth, almost, if not entirely, neglected—being deprived the privilege of being taught cleanliness, self-respect, useful lessons, and employment, such as are successfully taught and practiced in said Institution, and thereby relieve the State, in a great degree, of the payment of from $30,000 to $35,000 annually for their maintenance at their homes. We think the General Assembly should not hesitate to make such an appropriation as will put the buildings in a condition to accommodate all of that unfortunate class of persons within our State. We hope that every member of both houses of the present Legislature will visit said school and witness the exercises and progress of the pupils. Not only are they being taught the elements of a common English education, but are taught music, which they learn readily, as well as many useful domestic employments, such as gardening, broom-making, sewing, knitting, and all kinds of household work. We examined samples of their work which was entirely satisfactory.

The boys have also been instructed, to some extent, in agriculture and horticulture. There is a farm of sixty acres belonging to the Institution, which lies adjoining thereto, and is being cultivated for the purpose of giving such exercise and instruction in open air and sunshine as will conduce to the health and vigor of the pupils, and improvement of their condition, both physical and mental; and furthermore, that perchance some of them may ultimately acquire a self-sustaining practical knowledge, which in after life may enable them to obtain a livelihood and take their places in society, thereby relieving the State or their friends of the burden of sustaining them.

Your committee are thoroughly satisfied that the Superintendent is alive to the best interests of the Institution, and will spare no means of obtaining and putting into practical operation any and every appliance for developing the capacities of these imbeciles; not that all, but some, can and may be made self-sustaining. We are aware that idiots proper can be benefited but very little, and are generally almost hopelessly diseased; but such as are feeble-minded or imbecile can be benefited to a considerable extent. It was not contemplated by the act establishing this school that it was to be an asylum or hospital for idiotic children, but that it should be a school for educating and training feeble-minded children, and as such it should ever be regarded.

We can see no good reason for any change of Superintendent, Matron, or Teachers, but believe that two more attendants are necessary, that the pupils may have the necessary attention at all times. But there are good and sufficient reasons why the present Superintendent, Matron, and Teachers should be retained. Whilst these children are deprived of some capacities and sensibilities common to children of sound minds, yet they are not devoid of that affection for a friend, parent, or protector, that is common to all. To love our benefactors is one of the instincts of our nature, and is forcibly exemplified even by these imbeciles. This love and affection for the Matron and Teachers, as well as the Superintendent, is most strikingly developed in many of the feeble-minded children. Some of them have learned only to love, and know not to hate. Could we but recall to our minds the force of our childhood affections for parents and friends, then we could appreciate the heaven-born attribute of which we are speaking. These children appear to be, and are evidently, passionately fond of their preceptors, and that this affection is sufficiently reciprocated we could not for a moment doubt, for we have unmistakable evidence that the Superintendent, Matron, and Teachers are devoted to these little Providence-smitten beings, and have for them that tender care and anxiety that can be surpassed, if at all, only by the fondest parent. We would respectfully call the attention of the General Assembly to the able and lucid report of the ex-officio Commissioners of the Kentucky Institution for the Education and Training of Feeble-minded Children, recently laid upon our tables, in which this whole matter is ably discussed.

In conclusion, we tender our thanks to the Superintendent, Matron, Teachers, and Physician for the readiness with which they furnished us such information as we desired, and for many courtesies, and take pleasure in stating that the Matron and Teachers are entitled to the profound gratitude of the State for their self-sacrificing devotion to and untiring efforts to nourish, cultivate, and develop the minds and cheer the hearts of these little dependents intrusted to their care. All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. D. LANDRUM, GEO. WRIGHT.

While there is couched in this “report” much that I most heartily indorse, there are some sentiments and statements that my sense of duty compel me to dissent from; and I find that if I should attempt to enumerate the many sentiments and facts therein contained that I indorse, and also those that I dissent from, it would lengthen out the “report” to too great a length. Therefore, with great respect for the motives that impelled those gentlemen who subscribed to the “report,” beg leave to dissent from the same.

Said message was taken up and read as follows, viz:

Executive Office, Frankfort, Feb. 21, 1867.

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives:

The recent repeated outrages and murders committed by lawless bands of men in some counties, who set themselves up as "Regulators," and execute "lynch law," requires that your attention should be directed to the inefficiency of existing laws to secure the punishment of these criminals.

A band of these lawless men, claiming to number over one hundred, thoroughly organized, and assuming to take the regulation of society and government into their own hands, operating in Marion, Boyle, and adjoining counties, under the orders of "Judge Lynch," have become so emboldened by impunity, that they publish their orders of banishment and of condemnation in the public journals. Disobe-dinance of their lawless mandates is followed with speedy vengeance. Jails are forced by them, and their victims ruthlessly torn from legal custody, and murdered. Those standing on bail, who are obnoxious to their murderous wrath, are dragged from their homes and executed. They condemn without a hearing and execute without a trial. The cold-blooded atrocity of their cruelties and murders must shock every manly bosom, and arouse the indignation of all just men. Within the last few days, during the session of the Boyle circuit court, these murderers took from the jail of that county a man, there confined to answer an indictment, and hung him to death, within the limits of the town. Since that, another has been hung in the neighborhood, who was standing upon bail.

Good citizens, who denounce their lawless proceedings, are being warned by them to leave the country, under penalty of their wrath.

In Marion county many outrages have been perpetrated by them; recently they burned the dwelling-house of an aged and exemplary citizen, because his son had resisted their authority, and made a successful defense against the party sent to arrest him. A gallant soldier was notified in one of their published orders to leave the country—his offense having been an expressed determination to stand by and defend a younger brother against the mob that had ordered him to leave, under penalty of death.

These are only instances of many wrongs. This terrible criminality of organized desperadoes is fearfully on the increase, and unless arrested by the strong and vigorous arm of public justice, will destroy individual and public security, and overbear civil government.

Under existing laws, no reward can be offered for the apprehension and conviction of these criminals, except upon "the petition" of the circuit or county judge of the county in which the crimes were committed. No such application has been made. As I cannot suppose that the judges sanction or connive at this criminality, the conviction is enforced that the fear of personal danger restrains them from applying for rewards.

The laws should be so amended as to meet this state of case, and authorize the offering of rewards in such cases without awaiting the petition of the judge.

A fear of personal danger restrains the judges from acting, and thus an apparent sanction is given to this form of crime.

There cannot be any form of crime more dangerous to individual and public security than the unpunished and unchecked criminality of the organized mob, setting themselves up to regulate society, and punish those whom they denounce as offenders.

Under pretense of executing justice, they set the laws of God and their country at defiance. All guarantees to personal security are ruthlessly overborne. Every rule sacred to good government is trampled under lawless feet. Before the sweep of these organized mobs none are secure. Each man is, individually, assailed in his securities to life and liberty. The rich and poor, exalted and lowly, the rash and gentle, the brave and timid, the innocent and guilty, are assailed by the insensate mob, whose cry is "justice," but whose course is vengeance and murder.
From the ravages of war a country may recover; from the sweep of pestilence, may be healed; from the wasting of famine, may be delivered; but from the shame and infamy of permitting, unchecked, the reign and rule of mobs, cannot escape, except by putting forth all the powers of government to crush such heinous criminality.

Such organizations are rebels against all good government, human and divine, and are traitors to society. In no form can human passion and wickedness assail society with more devilish and dangerous malignity. The fountains of justice dry up before the simoon of organized mobs and "lynch law." The unbridled passions of the worst natures are thus put in organized motion to work mischief and ruin upon society.

It is thus the devil upheaves from the burning bosom of crime the lava of consuming hate and devouring rage.

There can be no excuse or mitigation for such crime. Under pretense of punishing minor offenses, these "Regulators" rebel against government and commit deliberate and cold-blooded murder.

An organized mob is the refuge of the coward and desperado, who seek immunity from danger in their numbers and secrecy, while they wreak their vengeance upon their selected victim.

No thrill of manhood or sense of justice ever stirs the souls of such men. The brave turn with loathing and disgust from the thought of such associations. They insult the dignity of the Commonwealth, outrage its honor, impugn its justice, shock its humanity, and defy its authority.

These organized "Regulators," of "maliace aforethought," "upon previous design and deliberation," proceed to their work of death. They are without the defense of "sudden heat and passion;" they cannot plead this infirmity of human nature, which appeals to sympathy and mitigates offense. They must stand before the bar of public judgment, as they should before that of civil justice, deprived of any palliation, and clothed in every aggravation, condemned as criminals and murderers. The secrecy with which they proceed, under cover of night, announces their own judgment of the criminality of their acts; the numbers with which they assail individual security, proclaim the cowardice of the deed.

Society will be disorganized and civil government overborne in those communities where mob law prevails, unless some speedy and effective remedy be provided. Ample rewards should be authorized for the apprehension and conviction of these lawless men; and power given the Executive and civil authorities to pursue and hunt down to condign punishment these terrible offenders against government and law.

The responsibility of making provision, by law, to meet this evil is with you; my duty to call your attention thereto is now performed.

THOS. E. BRAMLETTE,
Governor of Kentucky.

Ordered, That said message be printed and referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.
A message was received from the House of Representatives, asking leave to withdraw the announcement of their passage of a bill, which originated in the House of Representatives, entitled

An act for the benefit of James C. Jones, of Rockcastle county.

Which was granted, and the bill returned.

The Speaker laid before the Senate a correspondence between the Treasurer and Attorney General, in relation to the payment of the members and officers of the General Assembly in gold.

Which reads as follows, viz:

STATE OF KENTUCKY, TREASURY DEPARTMENT, FRANKFORT, February 21, 1867.

Hon. R. T. Jacob, Speaker of Senate:

Dear Sir: Inclosed please find a correspondence between the Attorney General and myself, in relation to the resolution providing for payments to be made in gold to members of the Legislature.

I endorse nearly all the views of the Attorney General, and submit the correspondence to the serious consideration of the members of both Houses.

Very respectfully,

ALF. ALLEN,
Treasurer of Kentucky.

STATE OF KENTUCKY, TREASURY DEPARTMENT, FRANKFORT, February 19, 1867.

General Jno. M. Harlan, Attorney General:

Dear Sir: In view of the passage of the "act" requiring the State Treasurer to pay the members of the Legislature in gold, I desire your answer, as the legal adviser of the Governor and heads of departments, to the following inquiries:

1. Is the act referred to constitutional in itself?
2. Was it passed by the requisite number of votes under the Constitution?
3. Where partial payments have been made to members in paper currency, are these payments to be considered as so much money, or only as payments to the amount of the value of the paper?
4. Does the act apply to the whole term of the members of the present Legislature, or only to this adjourned session?
5. Inasmuch as there is no gold in the Treasury, and the resolution authorizing its procurement may not pass and become a law, has the Treasurer the right (without further legislation) to buy enough to carry out the requirements of the act?

Your early and careful answer to these questions is requested, as I intend being guided, in my action herein, in a great measure, by that answer.

Very respectfully, your ob't servant,

ALF. ALLEN, Treasurer.
Col. Alfred Allen, Treasurer:

DEAR Sir: The act to which you refer is a joint resolution of the General Assembly, directing "that the Auditor of Public Accounts, in his settlement with the members and officers of this General Assembly for their per diem and mileage, be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to draw his warrant on the Treasurer in their favor for the same payable in gold."

In response to your inquiries, I have to say—

1. That the resolution is not in conflict with the Constitution. Members of the General Assembly are entitled, under the Constitution, to receive for their services compensation in "dollars." Their compensation is not, in the constitutional sense, "increased," when payment is directed to be made in gold, since the word "dollars," as used in the Constitution, and according to its then universal acceptation, necessarily meant gold or silver dollars. Such has been the decision of our State courts. (Johnson's adm'r vs. Vickers, 1 Duvall, 267.)

2. As the resolution does not, in point of law, increase the compensation of members, it does not appropriate money so as to require the assent of a majority of all the members elected to each House.

3. The payments heretofore made to members should be considered as payments in dollars, since the statement of the accounts on the books of the Auditor's office, as well as the receipts of members, indicate that character of payment. When the accounts of members for mileage, either in going to or returning to the Seat of Government, have been registered and closed, they should remain as they are, unless corrected or revised by authority of some law. And so in regard to the per diem allowance, since, in point of law, each day's compensation is a separate claim against the State. These views are, in some measure, sustained by the decision in the case of Hobson vs. Commonwealth, 1 Duvall.

4. The resolution can be construed as embracing the whole term of the present members; but, as already stated, where there have been settlements with members they should not be disturbed, except in the mode already indicated.

5. Inasmuch as there is no gold in the Treasury, the resolution of the General Assembly is inoperative without further legislation, since the direction to pay the members in gold cannot be construed as investing you with authority to withdraw money from the Treasury with which to go into the market and buy the required amount of gold at such rates as you deem proper. If this point were at all doubtful, I could not advise you to assume such responsibility without an express authority from the Legislative Department.

Nor can the resolution be construed as authorizing you to discharge a warrant of the Auditor payable in gold, with its equivalent in "greenbacks" or currency. Whatever may be the intrinsic value of the money in the Treasury, it is all charged to you on the books of the Auditor's office as so many "dollars." If you should pay a "gold" warrant in currency according to its value, as reported in the newspapers from day to day, there would be such discrepancies between the number of dollars you are charged with and the number of dollars you would, in this way, pay out, as might result in great confusion in the statement and settlement of your accounts. No money can, under the Constitution, be drawn from the Treasury except in pursuance of appropriations by law. A simple direction to you to pay the members in gold cannot be construed as an appropriation of whatever amount you may find necessary to procure the gold.

It occurs to me, therefore, that other legislation is needed before you can comply with the terms of the resolution which has passed.

Your obedient servant,

JOHN M. HARLAN,
Attorney General.

The following petitions were presented, viz:

By Mr. W. J. Worthington—

By Mr. Wm. Johnson—
2. The following petition of Wm. Johnson and others, in behalf of the State Agricultural Society, viz:

To the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Your petitioners, in behalf of the Kentucky State Agricultural Society, most respectfully represent to your honorable body, that, during several years of the operation of the Society, its effect upon the industrial interests of the State was most obviously beneficial, and the appropriation annually of five thousand dollars in aid of the funds of the Society, received the cordial approbation of the great mass of the people of the State.

Not only the agricultural, but also the horticultural and mechanical interests, all over the whole State, were developed and sustained by public addresses, essays, and periodicals, and by reports from kindred associations, as well as by public exhibitions.
It was a matter of profound regret, that causes of national import, and beyond the control of the Society, have more recently caused a suspension of some of these agencies for the general welfare; but these causes, being now happily removed, the Society is again ready and anxious to enter upon and occupy its whole field of influence, and to embrace in its beneficent action every industrial interest, and, as far as practicable, even to the uttermost parts of the State.

At a recent general convention of the friends of agriculture, horticulture, and the mechanic arts, embracing also delegates from sixteen different auxiliary associations, held in Frankfort on the 21st inst., it was unanimously resolved to petition your honorable body again to renew the former appropriation of five thousand dollars in aid of the funds of the Society for the present year.

The said convention was pleased to indicate the future mode of conducting the operations of the Society, not only in holding the fairs of the Society in agricultural districts in which fairs have not been previously held, if practicable, but also by the dissemination of addresses, essays, and reports, and by the circulation of reliable periodicals, which shall embrace, develop, and make known the industrial interests of every portion of the Commonwealth.

At a meeting of the officers of the Society in Frankfort, on the evening of the 28th inst., it was unanimously resolved to comply with the request of said convention, and in future to conduct the affairs of the Society, as far as practicable, upon that plan, including also the collection and exhibition of specimens of the soils, minerals, timbers, and mechanical products of every part of the State.

The State Agricultural Society has also acceded to the proposal of the convention herein alluded to, and has determined to hold during the ensuing year, in Kentucky, an Industrial Congress, composed of delegates from agricultural, horticultural, mining, and manufacturing associations from the whole of the United States. Your petitioners cannot fully express the vast benefits which must result to all the material interests of our people from the holding in our midst of so large an assemblage of intelligent, enterprising, and wealthy gentlemen, representing large and powerful corporations from all portions of the Union. But this salutary and beneficent undertaking would be entirely defeated by the failure on the part of your honorable body to make the desired appropriation.

For these, and many other considerations involving the general welfare, your petitioners, by the appointment of the said Agricultural Convention, and also by the appointment of the State Agricultural Society, ask of your honorable body the passage of a law making the appropriation of five thousand dollars in aid of the funds of the Society for the current year, to be expended as herein expressed.

WILLIAM JOHNSON,
PHILIP SWIGERT,
ROBERT W. SCOTT, LAWRENCE YOUNG,
BRYAN R. YOUNG,
Committee.

By Mr. Bigger—

3. The following memorial of John M. Johnson in relation to the Confederate dead, viz:
To the General Assembly of Kentucky:

The undersigned, your petitioner, a citizen of this Commonwealth, but residing temporarily in the State of Georgia, would respectfully represent:

That, in May last, an organization was formed by a few Kentuckians, residing in the city of Atlanta, for the purpose of reinterring the Kentucky Confederate dead, of which the undersigned is President.

That we were urged to this course by representations made to us that the dead were often buried in places required for cultivation, for making roads, and building houses; that in many instances they were hastily interred, and without proper implements, on the spot where they fell, amid alarm and danger, and, not unfrequently, so imperfectly as to leave their bodies partially exposed to view.

The dead to which we allude are those who fell at Chickamauga, Missionary Ridge, and in the series of battles occurring between Dalton and Atlanta, and around Atlanta, Decatur, and Jonesboro, and some in East and Middle Tennessee.

The number identified is about three hundred, and those unidentified about two hundred. We wish to bury them in the plainest manner, but so as to reflect credit upon the great State that gave them birth, and whose sons they were. To accomplish this, it will require about ten thousand dollars, or twenty dollars each.

As a beginning, a noble-hearted son of Georgia, T. T. Smith, Esq., has given us a beautiful site, worth several thousand dollars, within the corporate limits of the city of Atlanta. We have secured a charter under the laws of Georgia, and the city of Atlanta has consented to their interment within her limits, and we have obtained the written consent of Major General Thomas, who did not hesitate to approve it. But we can do no more. And we now appeal to your honorable body to appropriate the amount named, under the necessary safeguards, to enable us to go forward in the accomplishment of the work.

The dead for whom we ask the appropriation were our brothers in arms. They were also your sons and brothers. The cause in which they laid down their lives has been lost; the States for whose defense they fell have been conquered; their material prosperity swept away, and to-day famine menaces its hundreds of thousands within their borders. You have an overflowing treasury; your harvest home has filled your granaries and barns to repletion; you are able to be generous. Every act of kindness softens the heart of him that gives and him that receives—gives encouragement amidst despair, and will return in blessings upon your heads from hearts and homes made desolate by the mighty pandemonium which but yesterday shook the continent like a reed.

I need not tell you of Morgan, Helm, Graves, Hewitt, Moss, Burnly, McKendre, Maderie, Jimmy Patterson, Willie Carson, Millett, and hundreds of others no less distinguished for generous hearts, lofty courage, and noble ambition, who sleep almost undistinguished on the bloody plain upon which they fell. Will you, can you, leave the silent dead to perpetual infamy and an eternal night of forgetfulness, in the face of the generous fellowship you have extended to their surviving brethren?

But we "came to bury Caesar, not to praise him." We ask not to perpetuate their names and deeds on monumental brass and marble, but simply to give them Christian burial in a Christian land, where the hand of affection or friendship may plant the hearts ease and rose, and make beautiful the valley of death. Let us do this, and leave to time their monument and to history their epitaph.

We embrace the apothegm that "peace hath her victories no less than war." We beg that you will help us and all others engaged in the great work of restoration to make her empire one of love. Let not passion enter here; but with God-like charity, chastened and exalted by a knowledge of the weakness and suffering of a common humanity, endeavor by kind acts and a generous confidence to remove every root of bitterness from among us, and make us one people—our bond of union being mutual sympathy, mutual confidence, mutual interest, and a common destiny, under a common union, constitution, and flag.

JNO. M. JOHNSON.

Mr. Dudley, from the Joint Committee on Railroads, laid before the Senate the following report of said committee, viz:

The Joint Committee of the Senate and House of Representatives, to whom was referred the investigation of the "whole subject of railroad laws in this Commonwealth," with instructions to "inquire what legislation, if any, is necessary to protect the people from excessive charges for freight and passengers, and also to damage done to their persons or property," beg leave respectfully to report:

1. That they have had under consideration, at various sittings, the subjects referred to them, and have summoned before them the witnesses whose names were furnished to them.

By several of these witnesses it was charged that extortionate rates of freight were demanded and received by the owners of railroads in this State. In support of these charges, bills of lading were produced to the Committee, from which it appeared that the rates charged upon the Kentucky roads were much higher than those charged for proportional distances on roads north of the Ohio river. On examination, however, it appeared that the rates charged in the Northern bills referred to were for through freights coming from New York, Chicago, and Toledo to Cincinnati, and traversing several roads in their passage; while those of the Kentucky roads were for local freights originating and terminating on their own lines. To any one at all familiar with railroad transport, here was an essential cause for difference in rates; and your Committee therefore took steps to supply themselves with the local tariffs of some of the Northern roads. The limited time allowed did not permit them to make any considerable collection of these papers; but they submit at the close of this report a comparison of the rates charged upon the Louisville and Lexington line (which are substantially the same as those charged upon the Kentucky Central) with the local rates charged upon several Northern lines, including some of those by which the bills of lading referred to were issued. It will appear from this table that the rates charged upon the Louisville road are generally much below those authorized by their charter, and will compare very favorably with those of the roads North of us. In justice to our own roads, it should be added, that their receipts per mile of road in operation are very much less than those of most of the roads with which their rates are compared; and, consequently, that, at equal rates of freight, their profit upon each article transported would be similarly less. The reasons why this is so are very clearly set forth in the letter from Albert Fink, Esq., Superintendent of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, which is also attached to this report.

The principal complaint against our roads seems to be in reference to their rates upon articles whose weight bears little proportion to their bulk.
It may be that the tariffs are not arranged as judiciously in this respect as they might be, and your Committee would therefore recommend to all Superintendents of railroads a careful revision of their tariffs. But it is evident that unvarying rates cannot justly be charged upon articles the proportion of whose bulk and weight is constantly varying. The weight of a farm wagon, for instance, will be the same, whether it be placed upon its wheels or packed in the smallest practicable compass. But the space would be three times as great in one case as in the other, and space is almost as important consideration as weight itself. The two qualities of weight and bulk should be considered together, as is done by the act amending the charter of the Lexington and Frankfort railroad company, approved ———, 185——. Upon articles weighing over sixty-five pounds to the cubic foot, this act limits the rate to four mills per hundred pounds per mile; on all articles weighing over forty-five, and less than sixty-five pounds to the cubic foot, fifteen per cent. additional may be charged; on such articles as weigh over twenty, and less than forty-five pounds to the cubic foot, an additional fifteen per cent. is authorized; while such articles as weigh less than twenty pounds to the cubic foot may be estimated as weighing twenty pounds to the cubic foot, and charged for accordingly. It may be that the proportions fixed by this act are not exactly what they should be; but unquestionably the principle upon which the act is founded is the correct one.

In the hurry of business it is of course impracticable to weigh and measure every article presented for transportation. The agent of a railroad company must, therefore, sometimes exercise his discretion in fixing the rate of freight on a particular article; and it is by no means improbable, that, in such cases, over-charges are sometimes made, though none such have been brought to the notice of the Committee. Where this is done, the consignee should call the attention of the company to the overcharge and compel its reduction. As a further protection to the public, your Committee herewith present the draft of a bill to compel the publication of the charter and actual rates of all common carriers whose rates are limited by law, and to punish all over-charges by the forfeiture of the whole price charged for freight in such cases.

It should be the object of legislation to encourage the construction of works of internal improvement, by enabling their builders to secure a reasonable profit upon their investments. At the same time, care should be taken that the public shall not be taxed in such manner as to yield exorbitant prices to stockholders. In order to secure either result by legislation, it is indispensable that the Legislature should first ascertain what it costs the owners of each work to render the service for which they are paid by the public. Such reports are now annually made by all well-organized railroad companies for the information of their stockholders. For public purposes it is desirable that these reports should be made in the same form, with equal minuteness of detail, and that their publication should be compulsory. Your committee, therefore, recommend the passage of a joint resolution, which accompanies this report, providing for the appointment of a commissioner, whose duty it shall be to report to the General Assembly, at its next regular session, a general form of report which the owners of all railroads in this State shall be required to make, of the operations of their roads for twelve months, ending on the 1st day of July in each year.

Your Committee are of opinion that the acts incorporating the Covington and Lexington railroad do not impose any efficient limitation on the rates of freight to be charged upon the road now known as the Kentucky Central. They therefore recommend that proper restrictions upon those rates should be inserted in any charter of incorporation which may be granted the present owners of that road.

The majority of the Committee are of opinion that the act approved March 2d, 1865, entitled "An act for the benefit of the Covington and Lexington or Kentucky Central, and Louisville and Frankfort and Lexington and Frankfort railroad companies," should be repealed; and they therefore report a bill for that purpose, and recommend its passage.

The Committee recommend, that, in future grants of charters for railroad companies, the rates of freight and passage should be clearly limited in each charter, and should not be, as they have been in many instances, fixed by reference to the charters of other companies.

2. Petitions were presented to your Committee from a number of citizens of Harrison county, praying the enactment of a law which shall require all owners of railroads to fence their roads, or to pay the full value of all live stock killed by their trains.

Several hundred thousand persons are now annually traveling over our railroads, and the number is constantly increasing. The lives of some of them are hazarded by every horse or cow whose owner suffers it to stray upon the line of a railroad. As against all private persons the owner of live stock is compelled by law to confine them, or is held responsible for any damage which they may do if suffered to go at large, what reason is there for excepting the owners of railroads from the protection thus given to private persons, and compelling them to confine the live stock which, as against others, the owner must himself confine? There is this good reason why no such additional charge should be put upon them: that in the assessment of damages for right of way, juries are required to include the value of the additional fencing made necessary by the construction of the railroad; and the land-owner has thus been paid by the company for
I. The very thing which it is now asked the company shall be required to do at their own expense. But it is suggested by the petitioners, that, in many instances, the right of way has been relinquished free of charge. Such relinquishments were undoubtedly made to encourage the construction of a railroad—to influence its location, and thus secure for the grantors and their neighbors its cheaper mode of transportation. Having attained these objects, the grants cannot be said to have been uncompensated. The consideration inducing the grant was, in a legal sense, a valuable one—the actual payment of money would not have varied the binding character of the contract. If the grantors exaggerated to themselves the value of the advantage they expected to derive from the construction of the road, and, consequently, made an injudicious contract, the Legislature cannot relieve them.

Hereafter, when our railroad system, now in its infancy, shall have become strong, and the lands of our States shall be covered with a denser population and generally inclosed, it will become proper, from reasons of public policy, to compel railroad companies to fence their roads, and landholders to confine their live stock within their own boundaries. At the present time our needs for improved systems of transportation are too urgent, and the means of our railroad companies too limited, to warrant any new impositions upon them which can possibly be dispensed with. At the same time our population is so sparse, and our lands so largely unclosed, that it would be a serious burthen upon the landholders to compel them to make inclosures for the restraint of their live stock.

For these reasons, your Committee do not recommend any legislation upon the subject.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. A. DUDLEY, Chairman.
GEO. WRIGHT,
Of the Senate.
I. C. VANMETER,
J. W. DAVIS,
J. M. CORBIN,
Of the House of Representatives.
COMPARATIVE TABLE OF LOCAL RATES ON DIFFERENT ROADS.

The charter rates of the Louisville and Lexington Railroads are: for goods weighing over 45 pounds to the cubic foot, 4 mills per 100 pounds per mile; for goods weighing over 45 and less than 65 pounds, 15 per cent. additional; for goods weighing over 65, and less than 45 pounds, 15 per cent. additional; goods weighing less than 20 pounds may be estimated as weighing 20 pounds to the cubic foot, and charged accordingly. In the following table, the first column shows the rates authorized by the above provisions for the transportation of each class of articles from Louisville to Lexington (94 miles). The second column shows the rates actually charged; and the following columns the rates which would be charged for similar distances on the roads named—calculating the rates from the tariffs for proportional distances on each of the roads named. The last three roads are in the State of Vermont, and the rates on them are calculated from the report of the Railroad Commissioner for that State.

W. A. Dudley, Esq., Chairman of Joint Committee on Railroads:

DEAR SIR: In compliance with your request, to state the reasons why the cost of transportation on different railroads cannot be alike, I respectfully submit the following facts relating to this subject:

The cost of transportation depends in a great measure on the amount of business which is done over a road.

A large portion of the expenses of operating a railroad are common to all roads, whether they do a small or a large business.

Thus, the cross-ties, and all structures on the road in which wood is employed, will rot, ditches will fill up, banks will waste away, whether a small or large business is done.

It is necessary to employ a certain number of men to watch the bridges, examine the track, and keep it in repair, independent of the amount of traffic over the road.

The expense of running a train which is only partly loaded is substantially the same as if fully loaded. The first cost of a railroad is the same, whether one or twenty trains are run over it daily.

The experience of the Louisville and Nashville road illustrates practically the truth of this. Thus, by reference to the last annual report of this company, it will be seen that the freight earnings of the main stem (from Louisville to Nashville), during the year from July 1st, 1865, to July 1st, 1866, were $7,331 54 per mile of road; the expenses on account of freight transportation per mile of road were $3,887 18, which is 53 per cent. of the gross freight earnings.

On the Lebanon Branch road the freight earnings were $959 per mile of road, and the expenses $900; the operating expenses were therefore 93 8-10 per cent. of the gross earnings, leaving hardly any profit to pay interest on the investment.

On the Memphis Branch the freight earnings were $725 57 per mile of road, the expenses $977 12. The freight earnings of that road were actually done at a cash loss to the company, saying nothing of the loss of interest on the money invested.

The charges for transportation of freight are alike on the main stem and branches; the roads are under the same management; showing thus the cost of transportation depends very materially upon the amount of business transacted over the road.

While the main stem of the road is operated at a reasonable profit, the branches are operated at an actual loss. There are daily from three to four loaded freight trains run over the main stem each way; while over the branches only one train is run every other day.

The trains on the main stem are generally fully loaded, while the trains on the branches are only about half loaded.

Respectfully yours,

ALBERT FINK,
General Superintendent.

Mr. Bigger, from the Select Committee to visit the Blind Asylum at Louisville, and investigate certain charges made against the Superintendent thereof, made the following report, viz:

To the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

By a joint resolution, originating in the Senate, the undersigned were appointed a joint committee of the two Houses of this General Assembly to visit the Kentucky Institution for the Education of the Blind, for the purpose of reporting upon its condition and upon charges preferred against the Superintendent, Mr. B. M. Patten.

Your committee respectfully report, that they have taken evidence, embraced in fifty-eight depositions, accompanying this report. The witnesses examined have mostly been connected with the Institution—some as trustees, some as managers, and many as pupils.

The testimony embraces a period of about twenty-five years, from the foundation of the Institution to the present time.
The special complaints have been especially examined, and this examination is mainly contained in the depositions of Messrs. J. F. Speed, Henry C. McDowell, Rev. J. H. Heywood, Hon. Wm. F. Bullock, Mr. J. Henning, Hon. Bland Ballard, and Dr. T. S. Bell.

When we take into consideration the intense sympathy naturally felt for those of our race who are deprived of the most useful of our faculties; when we realize that most of these are, in their homes, treated with a tenderness not accorded to the perfectly constituted; and when we know that those physically defective are mentally impaired in the same degree, we cannot but expect that, under the best and most humane treatment, cases would arise upon which affectionate parents or guardians could found an apparently just charge of cruelty. An institution of this character cannot be successfully carried on except upon general rules of discipline, applicable alike to the poor and the affluent. The indulgent grants of a pet's requests, and the luxurious care which wealth supplies, cannot reasonably be expected to follow the blind pupil into a public institution, founded by the State for all classes without distinction.

The object of this Institution is to educate the Blind; to supply in some degree the wanting sense of sight by an extraordinary cultivation of the sense of touch. This operation, by reason of the weak perceptive faculty of the blind, is so difficult, and requires so continuous and undeviating an exercise, that it is itself the greatest cruelty; but it is a useful cruelty. It leads the pupil from perceptive darkness to perceptive light, and the lamp extinct in his eye is kindled in his finger.

No special instance of cruelty or inhumanity has been developed in the evidence, and the complaints made are wholly traceable to the mode of instruction and the rules of discipline. Your committee take pleasure in stating that the Institution has been managed with unsurpassed skill, and that the testimony, without exception, accords to Mr. B. M. Patten the highest qualities as a Teacher and Superintendent; and although there is some testimony tending to establish the charge of cruelty against Mr. Patten, yet, after a full and thorough examination of the evidence, we have come to the conclusion that Mr. Patten has fully exonerated himself from all the charges preferred against him; and after a full, thorough, and searching investigation into the conduct and management of the Institution for the Education of the Blind, from the time of its creation up to the present, it is to us

§ 3. And this charter shall extend over all roads or parts of roads which this company may purchase, and supersede other charters of said roads or parts of roads, if this company so elect. § 6. In order to aid the construction of this road and branches, it shall be lawful for any city, county, or town, through which said road or any branch may run, or any city, county, or town adjacent thereto, including Newport, Covington, Paris, Richmond, Winchester, and Mt. And upon the application of said company or its agents, it shall be the duty of the Mayors of the respective cities, and chief officer of said towns, and county judges of such counties respectively so applied to, to give public notice, designating a day and causing polls to be opened at all the voting places in said cities, counties, or towns, and cause a vote to be taken by the qualified voters, for and against the respective propositions submitted, of which notice shall be given within ten days after such application is made; and the times and places for such voting shall be published in the manner now required by law in the election of members for the Legislature, for at least three weeks preceding the day of such voting; and it shall be the duty of the officers now required by law to appoint judges, clerks, and other officers, to superintend and conduct said votings or elections in the cities and counties, with such powers and under such regulations as are prescribed and given to them at other city and county elections; and to make their returns as at other elections. The Mayors, chief officers of towns, and county judges, shall examine and compare the polls of the vote taken in their respective cities, counties, or towns, and declare and certify the result thereof, which, if in favor of the proposition submitted, shall be recorded in the city or county clerk's office of the respective cities and counties. And the propositions so accepted shall constitute obligations on said cities, counties, and towns respectively, the full performance of which may be enforced as other contracts.

§ 7. And upon the compliance of said railroad company with the stipulations of the respective propositions so ratified by said cities, counties, and parts of counties, the mayor and council of said cities, trustees of said towns, and county courts of said counties, shall levy upon all the property of said cities, counties, and parts of counties, subject to State revenue tax, ad valorem taxes sufficient to pay the various sums agreed to be paid as they become due, allowing for the usual delinquencies in collections and commissions to officers; and any deficiency shall be made up from the funds usually raised by county levy in the counties, and in the cities from the city treasury, and any surplus shall be turned over to such funds. And they shall cause the collections to be made by the same officers, under the necessary bonds and securities, with the same power and authority granted, and under the same liabilities imposed by law, as other taxes are collected in said cities, towns, and counties, and paid over to said railroad company. And the mayor and council of said cities, trustees of said towns, and county courts of said counties respectively, are hereby fully empowered and authorized to do all other things necessary to carry out all contracts between their several cities, counties, towns, and parts of counties and the railroad company, made in pursuance of this and the foregoing section.

§ 8. Should the company so determine, they shall have full power and authority to issue and sell their bonds, in such form, at such times, and to such amounts, and payable at such times and places, with interest (not to exceed ten per cent. per annum, payable half-yearly), as they think proper. And they may secure the same by mortgage or deed of trust upon said road, branches, and machinery, and all the property, assets, franchises, rights and privileges of said company, conditioned upon the punctual payment of the interest and principal of said bonds when due, with authority for the trustees to sell said road, property, assets, &c., to raise the amount due for such interest or principal, if not punctually paid, upon such terms and notice as shall be declared in the mortgage or deed of trust. And the purchaser shall be entitled to all the franchises, rights and privileges of this charter, and subject to its obligations and restrictions, and said bonds shall not exceed in amount thirty thousand dollars per lineal mile for the main line of said road and branches, and bridges rated as in the foregoing section.

§ 9. Said railroad company may construct or purchase and own a telegraph line near their road and branches, or may become owners of stock in any company which may construct such line of telegraph.

§ 10. And said company may establish an express company over their line of railroad, branches and connections, and become owners of stock in such a company, with the usual privileges of such companies, and subject to the usual restrictions upon them.

§ 11. Said railroad company may receive and enjoy any corporate rights, franchises, and privileges in other States which they may receive from the Legislatures thereof, or which they may acquire therein, not inconsistent with this charter or the laws of this Commonwealth.

§ 12. That said company shall be entitled to collect such tolls and rates for travel and transportation over their road and branches as their board of directors may adopt and order to be charged, not to exceed the rates of tariff now established by law for the Lexington and Frankfort and the Louisville and Frankfort railroad companies, except the ten per cent. extra allowed those companies in an act for their benefit passed February 14th, 1865.

§ 13. The company may purchase, and, by voluntary grants, receive and take, and by their officers, agents, engineers, contractors, and workmen, enter upon, examine, survey, take possession of, hold, and appropriate and use, any land and other property, and any earth, water, timber, gravel, stone, or other material, and any right of way and interests, that may be necessary or useful for the construction, operation, and maintenance of their railroad and branches, side-track, stations, depots, and other accommodatons necessary to accomplish the objects for which this corporation is created: Provided, The company shall not take possession of, or change or alter the same, until the compensation therefor, as agreed upon by the parties, or ascertained as hereinafter prescribed, shall have been paid or tendered to the owner or owners thereof, or his or their authorized agent.

§ 14. In case the company cannot obtain, by purchase or grant, the land, right of way, or materials necessary for the construction, maintenance, and use of their railroad and branches, they may obtain the same in the manner prescribed by the Revised Statutes of this Commonwealth, in chapter one hundred and three, title "Turnpike and Plank Roads.”

§ 15. Whenever fifty thousand dollars of the capital stock shall have been subscribed, the stockholders, or a majority in interest, in person or by proxy, shall meet in the city of Paris, at such place and time as they may appoint; and the majority in interest then present shall proceed to elect from their own number or otherwise a board of seven Directors, to manage the affairs of said company; and said Directors shall elect from their own body a President for said company. The stockholders present shall appoint judges of the elections of Directors; and the President and Directors shall hold their offices until their successors are elected, subject to the by-laws of the company.

§ 16. The Directors shall be chosen annually by the stockholders present or represented, at such convenient place in Paris as the President and Directors may designate, on the second Tuesday in May of every year. The Directors of said company, or a majority of them, shall allow the President such compensation for his services as they may deem proper; and if any vacancy shall occur by death, resignation, neglect, or refusal to act, of any President or Director, before his term of office has expired, a person to fill such vacancy may be appointed by the President and Directors, or a majority of them. And all elections which are, by this act, or the by-laws of said company, to be made on a particular day, or at a particular time, if not made on such day or at such time, may be made at any time within thirty days thereafter.

At any general meeting of the stockholders, a majority in interest of those present may remove from office the President or any Director, and fill up vacancies to the extent required.

§ 19. Said President and Directors shall annually or semi-annually declare and make such dividend as they may deem proper of the net profits arising from the business of said company, after deducting the necessary current and probable contingent expenses; and they shall divide the same among the stockholders of said company in proportion to their respective shares, and may make stock dividends if the company so determine.

§ 20. Any President and Director of said company, before he acts as such, shall swear or affirm (as the case may be) that he will well and truly discharge the duties of his said office to the best of his skill and judgment.

§ 21. The President and Directors of said company may appoint such officers, agents, agents, and servants as they deem necessary for the transaction of the business of the company, and may remove any of them at pleasure, and determine their compensation, with such bonds and securities and under such penalties as they may deem proper, upon which recovery may be had for the breach of the conditions thereof. And they, the President and Directors, and their agents, are further empowered, under the name of, and for the company, to carry out all the provisions of this act, except such as are especially reserved therein for the direct action of the stockholders, and such as a majority in value of the stockholders may elect to reserve for themselves and such other officers and agents as they may appoint.

The Senate took up for consideration a bill to incorporate the Cincinnati, Lexington, and East Tennessee railroad, Together with the amendments heretofore proposed.

Said bill reads as follows, viz:

§ 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That the name of the Lexington and Southern Kentucky Railroad Company is hereby changed to the Cincinnati, Lexington, and East Tennessee Railroad Company; and as such, the stockholders thereof, with their future associates, successors, and assigns, shall have perpetual succession, and be an incorporated company, as capable in law as natural persons to contract and be contracted with, sue and be sued, in all courts of law and equity in this Commonwealth or elsewhere; to have a common seal, and alter or abolish the same at pleasure; to acquire, by purchase or otherwise, hold and convey, real and personal estate; to make by-laws, and have all rights, powers, and privileges which such corporations may lawfully have, with power to complete, use, and maintain their line of railway, or any part thereof, from Lexington, by Nicholasville, to any point they may select on the Southern boundary line of Kentucky; and connect with any railway from that direction, and to extend their line of railway from Lexington, through Scott and Grant counties, to the Ohio river opposite the city of Cincinnati, or any part thereof, on such route as they may select; and may purchase the line of railway now existing between Lexington and Covington, or consolidate therewith, with a branch or branches in any direction, and from any point or points on said route or line of road south of Lexington they may think proper; provided the construction of such branch or branches does not materially impair the vested rights of other corporations, and no branch is over twenty-five miles long; with as many tracks, side-tracks, and turn-outs as they think requisite; with a roadway not more than sixty-six feet in width, except where more is necessary for the construction and use of the railway; with all other appendages necessary for the convenient use of said railway and branches.

§ 2. The said railroad company shall have the same rights and privileges of prosecution; and any person or persons shall be liable to the same penalties and forfeitures for injuries, intrusions, obstructions, and hindrances, done and committed upon the real or other property of said company, or otherwise to the prejudice of said company, as are provided in the laws incorporating the Louisville and Frankfort railroad company, and acts amendatory thereto, or of any and all other railroad companies incorporated in this Commonwealth.

§ 3. It shall be lawful for this company to unite their road, branch or branches, with any other railroad or railroads, or portions of railroad, and to acquire interests in other roads or parts of roads, and use the same as parts of their main line, branch or branches, with the consent of the Directors of such companies. And it shall also be lawful for other companies, now or hereafter incorporated, to unite with this road, branch or branches, with the consent of its Directors. And such union of interests, and all necessary running arrangements, between this company and other companies, may be consummated upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed by the respective parties. And this charter shall extend over all roads or parts of roads which this company may purchase, and supersede other charters of said roads or parts of roads, if this company so elect.
And where interests in other roads or parts of roads are acquired, this charter may apply to such roads or parts of roads to the extent of the interests so acquired, as the parties may agree.

§ 4. The capital stock of this company shall be any amount the company may determine, not to exceed thirty thousand dollars per mile of their main line and branches, except the bridges over the Kentucky and Cumberland rivers, each of which is hereby declared to be equal in value to ten miles of railroad, and shall be so regarded in amount of capcital stock, and in all charges for transportation and business done on or over the same. The capital stock of this company shall be divided into shares of one hundred dollars each, and may be sold by the company and purchased or subscribed for by any city, county, corporation, or individual, upon such terms and conditions as the company by its by-laws direct, and shall be vendible and assignable in any manner said by-laws may prescribe.

§ 5. Should the company so determine, they shall have full power and authority to issue and sell their bonds, in such form, at such times, and to such amounts, and payable at such times and places, with interest (not to exceed ten per cent. per annum, payable half yearly), as they think proper. And they may secure the same by mortgage or deed of trust upon said road, branches, and machinery, and all the property, assets, franchises, rights and privileges of said company, conditioned upon the punctual payment of the interest and principal of said bonds when due, with authority for the trustees to sell said road, property, assets, &c., to raise the amount due for such interest or principal, if not punctually paid, upon such terms and notice as shall be declared in the mortgage or deed of trust. And the purchaser shall be entitled to all the franchises, rights and privileges of this charter, and subject to its obligations and restrictions. And said bonds shall not exceed in amount thirty thousand dollars per linear mile for the main line of said road and branches, and bridges rated as in the foregoing section.

§ 6. In order to aid the construction of this road and branches, it shall be lawful for any city, county, or part of a county, through which said road or any branch may run, or any city, county, or part of a county adjacent thereto, including the cities of Newport, Covington, and Lexington, and the counties along the line of railroad from Covington to Lexington, to make donations to said railroad company, and subscribe for the capital stock and bonds thereof, to such amounts, payable at such times and on such conditions as may be proposed by the company or its agents, and ratified by a majority of the voters of said city, county, or part of a county, voting upon the propositions respectively submitted to them. And upon the application of said company or its agents, it shall be the duty of the Mayors of the respective cities, and county judges of such counties respectively so applied to, to give public notice, designating a day and causing polls to be opened at all the voting places in said cities, counties, or parts of counties, and cause a vote to be taken by the qualified voters, for and against the respective propositions submitted; of which notice shall be given within ten days after such application is made; and the times and places for such voting shall be published in the manner now required by law in the election of members for the Legislature, for at least three weeks preceding the day of such voting; and it shall be the duty of the officers now required by law to appoint judges, clerks, and other officers, to superintend and conduct said voteings or elections in the cities and counties, with such powers and under such regulations as are prescribed and given to them at other city and county elections; and to make their returns as at other elections. The mayors and county judges shall examine and compare the polls of the vote taken in their respective cities, counties, or parts of counties, and declare and certify the result thereof, which, if in favor of the proposition submitted, shall be recorded in the city or county clerk's office of the respective cities and counties. And the propositions so accepted shall constitute obligations on said cities, counties, and parts of counties respectively, the full performance of which may be enforced as other contracts.

§ 7. And upon the compliance of said railroad company with the stipulations of the respective propositions so ratified by said cities, counties, and parts of counties, the mayor and council of said cities, and county courts of said counties, shall levy upon all the property of said cities, counties, and parts of counties, subject to State revenue tax, ad valorem taxes sufficient to pay the various sums agreed to be paid as they become due, allowing for the usual delinquencies in collections and commissions to officers; and any deficiency shall be made up from the funds usually raised by county levy in the counties, and in the cities from the city treasury; and any surplus shall be turned over to such funds. And they shall cause the collections to be made by the same officers, under the necessary bonds and securities, with the same power and authority granted, and under the same liabilities imposed by law, as other taxes are collected in said cities and counties, and paid over to said railroad company. And the mayor and council of said cities, and county courts of said counties respectively, are hereby fully empowered and authorized to do all other things necessary to carry out all contracts between their several cities, counties, and parts of counties, and the railroad company, made in pursuance of this and the foregoing section.

§ 8. Said railroad company may construct or purchase and own a telegraph line near their road and branches, or may become owners of stock in any company which may construct such line of telegraph.

§ 9. Said railroad company may charge for receiving, forwarding, and storing such articles and packages as may be consigned to them or deposited in their warehouses, or with their agents, for safe-keeping, or to be forwarded; and they may establish by their by-laws rates of storage and other fees for such services. And said company may establish an express company over their line of railroad, branches and connections, and become owners of stock in such a company, with the usual privileges of such companies, and subject to the usual restrictions upon them.

§ 10. Said railroad company may receive and enjoy any corporate rights, franchises, and privileges in other States which they may receive from the Legislatures thereof, or which they may acquire therein, not inconsistent with this charter or the laws of this Commonwealth.

§ 11. Said company, its officers, engineers, agents, contractors, or employees, may enter upon, survey, use, excavate, or fill up, any land which may be required for the site of said road, branch or branches, or the depots, warehouses, machine shops, or wharves thereof; and for the construction, use, or repair of the same, or its works and appurtenances; and may take and use any earth, timber, stone, gravel, or other material, which may be useful and necessary for the construction, use, or repairs of the same; may cross roads and streams, and change the same when necessary; and may construct and have tunnels, bridges, and wharves, provided said bridge or bridges shall not materially and continually obstruct the navigation of any navigable stream.

§ 12. That upon the application of said company or its agents to the presiding judge of the county court of the several counties through which said road or its branches may be surveyed, the presiding judge of such court shall appoint two impartial commissioners, whose duty it shall be, with an engineer of the company, to take from the owners and proprietors of lands, or those having an interest therein, and through which it is proposed that said road or any part thereof shall pass, a grant of the use and right of way through the same, and of grounds for depots, warehouses, machine shops, and buildings; and said engineer and commissioners, or either of them, shall have the same power to take acknowledgments of the grantor that clerks of the county court now have; also to take privy examinations of married women, and certify such acknowledgments. And it shall be the duty of the county clerk to receive and record the said grants and certificates the same as other deeds; and such grants, so certified, shall vest in said company all the rights thereby expressed or intended; and any or all grants to the said company may be for the fee of the lands granted, or any lesser estate, and may include the full and absolute right and disposal of all the earth, stone, gravel, fuel, timber, and materials so granted to said company, provided that said company may acquire said grants by contract or purchase, on such terms as may be agreed with the proprietors.

§ 13. That in all cases where the owners and proprietors of lands shall fail or refuse to grant or sell the right of way, or grounds for the depots, warehouses, work-shops, sidetracks, turnouts, bridges, &c., required for said road, it shall be lawful for said engineer and commissioners, or any two of them, and it shall be their duty, from their own view and such proof as shall be presented, to value the land required for the road separately, and the advantages the road will be to the adjoining lands of the proprietors separately; and the disadvantages to such adjoining lands separately, and make report of the same, together with a description of such land so required, and a map of the road through such county, to the clerk of the county court of such county, with names of the owners of such lands, and their residence, if known, and whether they are adults or infants; and it shall be the duty of the clerk of such county to issue a summons against all such owners, to show cause why the grant of the right of way, or use of such lands, for the purposes aforesaid, shall not be made on the payment of the damages for the land required, if any so reported; and upon the service of such summons upon the owner, if in the county, and if not, upon the agent in the county, if such owner have any, ten days, the presiding judge of the county court shall have jurisdiction on said report, upon the payment of the assessed value of the land and amount of damages, if any, after deducting the value of the assessed advantages to the adjoining land, or tender of the same, or upon a deposit of the same with the clerk of the court, subject to the order of the party entitled thereto, to order a grant of the right of way or use of the land for the purposes aforesaid, to be executed to the company by a commissioner to be appointed by the presiding judge of the court for that purpose: Provided, That if the owner is out of the county, and have no known agent in the same, it shall be lawful to send the summons to any county in the State where the owner or his authorized agent may be. But if the owner be not a resident of the State, and have no known agent in it, the presiding judge of the court shall make an order of appearance, by a day named, not less than four weeks, and appoint an attorney to correspond with the owner and defend for him; and when the owner is an infant or a lunatic, the court shall appoint a guardian, ad litem, to appear for such infant or lunatic and make defense; and it shall be lawful for the court to take up the case as to any one owner who is before the court, without waiting until all are served with notice: Provided, In no case shall the actual value of the land taken by such company be diminished by the estimated advantages to the balance of the land. That said engineer and commissioners, before they proceed to act, shall swear (or affirm, as the case may be) that they will well and truly discharge the duties of their said appointment or office, under this act, to the best of their skill and judgment; and said engineer and commissioners shall receive a fair and reasonable compensation for their services, to be approved by the court, and taxed as a part of the cost; and the sheriff, clerk, and other officers of the court shall have and be entitled to the same fees as they are now entitled by law for like services, to be taxed by the clerk and paid by said company.
§ 14. That it shall be lawful for the company, or for the owner, to traverse the report, or for both to traverse it, and claim a jury to value the land required for any of the purposes mentioned in the foregoing section, and to assess the damages to the adjoining land, and the advantages the road will be to the same, all of which shall be retained separately; and, thereupon, the court shall cause a jury to be empannelled to try the traverse or traverses in open court, and under its direction; and it shall be the duty of the court, on motion of either party, to order an actual view by the jury, under charge of the sheriff, of the premises required; and to order the damages assessed by the jury to be paid, and also the damages to the adjacent land of the proprietors, first deducting therefrom the amount of estimated advantages so assessed, to be paid upon the taking of the same by said company; and the court shall have a right to grant to either party a new trial for the same causes for which new trials are ordinarily granted at law; and either party may appeal to the circuit court of the county; but no appeal shall prevent the company from proceeding to locate and construct their road or branches upon the payment of or tender of payment of assessed value of the land and damages: Provided, That if the President and Directors of said company, after having selected a route for said railway or branches, find any obstacle to continuing said location either by the difficulty of construction or procuring right of way at reasonable cost, or whenever a cheaper or better route can be had, they shall have power to run the route and change the location. In case of traverse or appeal, the additional cost thereby created shall be adjudged by the court against the unsuccessful party. And in every case when the owner of the land, or other property sought to be condemned, or the owner of any interest therein, is an idiot, lunatic, infant, or unmarried woman, or is absent from the State, and not actually served with process, the judge shall not render judgment or condemnation of such property without the intervention of a jury to assess the value thereof and inquire into the damages, as hereinbefore provided.

§ 15. That said company shall be entitled to collect such tolls and rates for travel and transportation over their road and branches as their board of directors may adopt and order to be charged, not to exceed the rates of tariff now established by law for the Lexington and Frankfort and the Louisville and Frankfort railroad companies, except the ten per cent. extra allowed those companies in an act for their benefit passed February 14th, 1865.

§ 16. The stockholders, or a majority in interest, in person or by proxy, shall meet in the city of Lexington or Covington at such place and time as they may appoint; and the majority in interest then present shall proceed to elect from their own number or otherwise a board of any number, not less than seven nor more than thirteen Directors, as they may from time to time determine, to manage the affairs of said company; and said Directors shall elect from their own body a President for said company. In all elections or proceedings by stockholders (except the annual meetings) the majority in interest, in person or represented, shall form a quorum to do business; and every stockholder shall be entitled to one vote for each share of stock owned or held by him, her, or it, and may depute by writing any other stockholder to vote and act as his, her, or its proxy. The stockholders present shall appoint judges of the elections of Directors; and the President and Directors shall hold their offices until their successors are elected, subject to the by-laws of the company.

§ 17. The Directors shall be chosen annually by the stockholders present or represented, at such convenient place in Lexington or Covin-ton as the President and Directors may designate, on the second Tuesday in May of every year. The Directors of said company, or a majority of them, shall allow the President such compensation for his services as they may deem proper; and if any vacancy shall occur by death, resignation, neglect, or refusal to act, of any President or Director, before his term of office has expired, a person to fill such vacancy may be appointed by the President and Directors, or a majority of them. And all elections which are, by this act, or the by-laws of said company, to be made on a particular day, or at a particular time, if not made on such day or at such time, may be made at any time within thirty days thereafter.

§ 18. A general meeting of the stockholders may be called at any time during the interval between the annual meetings, by the President and Directors, or a majority of them, or by the stockholders owning at least one fourth of the whole stock subscribed, upon giving thirty days public notice of the time and place of holding the same, which shall be in Lexington or Covington, and named in the advertisement; and when such meeting is called, the notice shall specify the particular object of the call; and if, at any such called meeting, a majority in interest of the stockholders of such company are not present, in person or by proxy, such meeting may be adjourned from time to time for any period not exceeding three days, without transacting business; and if within that time stockholders having a majority in value of the stock subscribed do not attend, such meeting shall be dissolved.

§ 19. Said bill was then read a third time as follows, viz:

§ 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That it shall be the duty of the sheriffs and other officers conducting the next annual election, to be held on the first Monday in August next, to open a poll in the various precincts in their respective counties, and take the sense of the qualified voters of this Commonwealth upon the propriety and expediency of imposing an additional tax of five cents on each one hundred dollars' worth of property in the State, for the purpose of increasing the Common School Fund of Kentucky.

§ 2. That it shall be the duty of the sheriff, in each election precinct in the State, to propound distinctly to each voter the question: "Are you for or against levying an additional tax of five cents on each one hundred dollars' worth of property to increase the Common School Fund?" and it shall be the duty of the clerk of the election to record the vote for or against the tax, according to the response of the voter.

§ 3. That it shall be the duty of the several sheriffs and other returning officers to make out a correct list of the vote required to be taken under the provisions of this act, and cause the same to be delivered to the Secretary of State at the same time at which the other returns of the election are delivered to him; and, upon a failure to do so, they shall be fined in the sum of one thousand dollars, to be recovered against them as other fines are recovered under the existing laws regulating elections in this State.

§ 4. That when the Board of Examiners shall have compared the returns, it shall be the duty of the Governor to issue his proclamation of the result; and if it shall appear that a majority of the qualified voters of the State have voted in favor of levying the aforesaid additional tax, such tax shall be levied accordingly thenceforward annually and paid into the Treasury, and disbursed for the benefit of the common schools of the State as the present five cents State school tax is levied and paid into the Treasury and disbursed.

days before the election at which the vote mentioned in this act is to be taken.
