The Senate, in pursuance of adjournment, met at the State Capitol this day, and, on a call of the roll, the following Senators were present and answered to their names, viz:

Mr. Speaker (Johnson), Lyttleton Cooke, Philip Swigert,
Jos. M. Alexander, A. H. Field, Harrison Thompson,
F. M. Allison, Joseph Gardner, A. C. Vallandingham,
Robert Boyd, G. A. C. Holt, Ben. J. Webb,
John B. Clarke,

Hon. E. D. Stansfield, successor to the Hon. Boyd Winchester, resigned, appeared, produced a certificate of his election, and having taken the oath required by the Constitution and laws of the State, repaired to his seat.

There being no quorum present, on motion, the Senate adjourned to meet on to-morrow, at 10 o'clock, A. M.
WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1869.

The Senate convened, and, on a call of the roll, the following Senators were present and answered to their names, viz:
Mr. Speaker (Johnson), Wm. A. Dudley, John W. F. Parker,
Jos. M. Alexander, A. H. Field, W. H. Payne,
F. M. Allison, Joseph Gardner, E. D. Standeford,
Robert Boyd, Evan M. Garriott, Philip Swigert,
John B. Bruner, W. C. Halbert, H. Thompson,
John G. Carlisle, G. A. C. Holt, A. C. Vallandingham,
Jos. H. Chandler, O. P. Johnson, W. L. Vories,
John B. Clarke, Henry C. Lilly, Ben. J. Webb,
A. D. Cosby, I. T. Martin,

Mr. Bruner moved the following resolution, viz:
Resolved, That a committee be appointed, whose duty it shall be to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate have met and organized, and that they, in conjunction with a similar committee to be appointed by the House of Representatives, wait upon the Governor, and inform him that the two Houses of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky have met and organized, and that they were now ready to receive any communication he might wish or see fit to make.
Which was adopted.

Whereupon, Messrs. Bruner and Carlisle were appointed said committee.

A message was received from the House of Representatives, announcing that they had met and organized, and that they, on their part, had appointed a committee, to act in conjunction with a similar committee appointed on the part of the Senate, to wait upon the Governor, and inform him that the two Houses of the General Assembly had convened and organized, and that they were now ready to receive any communication he might wish or see fit to make.

After a short time, the committee heretofore appointed returned, and informed the Senate that they had discharged the duties assigned them, and that the Governor informed them that, in a few moments, he would make to them a communication in writing.

A message was received from the House of Representatives, announcing that they had adopted a resolution, entitled Resolution requesting the Governor to return certain bills.
Which was taken up and read as follows, viz:
Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That the Governor be requested to return to the House of Representatives, unsigned, a bill, entitled "An act to incorporate the Exchange Bank," and also return to the Senate a bill, entitled "An act to incorporate the Green River Bank."
Mr. Carlisle moved to amend said resolution as follows, viz:

Add to the resolution the following: "Also, an act to incorporate the Eastern Kentucky Coal, Iron, and Railroad Company."

Which was adopted.

The question was then taken on concurring in the adoption of said resolution as amended, and it was decided in the affirmative.

A message in writing was received from the Governor by Mr. Churchill, Secretary of State.

Which was taken up, and read as follows, viz:

Fellow-Citizens of the Senate and House of Representatives:

You return to the Capitol, at the beginning of a new year, to resume and complete your legislative trusts.

I congratulate you that you reassemble under most favorable auspices. The past year has been one of marked prosperity to our common constituency.

Their labor has been crowned with joyous harvests; industry has revived in new and multiplied channels of business; general health has blessed every portion of our Commonwealth; and universal peace prevails throughout all our borders.

Such signal blessings awaken in our hearts renewed expression of grateful praise to Almighty God for his continuing and protecting care, and I invoke you, upon the threshold of your official labors, as a fit prelude to their commencement, to unite with me in fervent supplication to Him for their providential and merciful continuance.

Since your last adjournment, the permanency of American representative government has undergone a new test. The American people have passed safely through their twenty-first quadrennial election of President and Vice President of the United States. The excited and angry discussions which marked, so recently, the conflict of opinion between two great opposing parties of the nation, and the extraordinary exertions made by each in that political struggle for success, have now subsided and passed away! All yield a patriotic and ready assent to the voice of the American people, expressed under the prescribed forms and sanctions of the Constitution, by which two distinguished citizens of the Republic have been called to discharge the high and responsible duties of President and Vice President of the United States for the term of four years from and after the 4th of March next. Although the electoral vote of Kentucky was not cast, at that election, for the President elect, yet I am quite sure I faithfully reflect the voice of her people in saying, that they look to him now, not as the President of a party, but as the President of the entire country. As such, they will all unite, "as with one heart and one mind," irrespective of the past, in yielding a cordial support to all his official acts and measures having for their object the supremacy of the Constitution of the United States; the restoration and perpetuity of the American Union; "the support of the State governments in all their rights, as the most competent administrations for our domestic concerns, and the surest bulwarks against anti-republican tendencies;" economy and rigid accountability of all officials in the administration of the government; the supremacy of the civil over the military authority; a sound and stable circulating currency; the sacred preservation of the public faith; friendship, peace, and unrestricted commercial intercourse with all nations —entangling alliances with none; and the constitutional independence of the executive, legislative, and judicial departments from attempted encroachment of one upon the other.

Have we not a right to hope for the fearless vindication of these fundamental principles of civil liberty from the incoming administration? Nay, more—to trust that the successful military leader, in assuming the eventful responsibilities of the high office to which he has been called by his confiding and trusting fellow-countrymen, in the zenith of a boundless personal popularity, rising to the grandeur of a nobler patriotism over party and faction, will win more enduring laurels by saving his country from the perils and disasters that now threaten it.

A few months will test the foundation upon which these anticipations rest. Whatever the result, let the people of Kentucky, unmindful of that partisan aspersion, from within or from without, which would malign their patriotism, still continue nobly to exert themselves for the restoration "to social intercourse, of that harmony and affection, without which liberty, and even life itself, are but dreary things." Let us, above all, never surrender our right to think freely, and to speak and write what we think. Let us test every measure of political action presented for our approval or rejection by the standard of the Constitution. We should reject none offered by those who have differed from us in the past, if it accords with the exactions of that instrument; and we should approve and sanction none, though urged by those who have acted with us, if not fully up to that orthodox test.

The moral, educational, and material interests of the Commonwealth should now command, with singleness of heart, the united and untiring efforts of her people.
The Reports of the Auditor and Treasurer, which accompany this communication, will acquaint you with the financial condition of the Commonwealth.

To meet promptly this remnant of indebtedness, we have other resources of the Sinking Fund consisting of bank stocks, railroad stocks, turnpike stocks, the annual rent of the penitentiary, which, in value and description, were set out so fully in my former message as to require no further enumeration at this time.

I am deeply impressed with the conviction that wisdom and sound policy alike demand the entire extinction of our State indebtedness at the earliest practicable moment.

Many of our bonds are not yet due. Some that have matured have not been presented.

I recommend, however, that the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund be clothed with power and discretion to discharge and pay off any and all bonds that may be offered for redemption, irrespective of their maturity.

I also recommend that power and authority be given to the Sinking Fund Commissioners to dispose of the turnpike and bank stocks belonging to the State, if necessary to pay any of the outstanding State bonds which can be had.

While I am gratified in being able to present so flattering and sound a condition of the financial condition of the State, I feel it my duty to impress upon you the absolute necessity, at an early day, of an entire revision of all laws regulating and governing the assessment and collection of the State revenue. The entire system demands thorough revision and important amendments. No higher duty can devolve upon the representatives of the people. It will require patient investigation, and calm, thorough deliberation. The revenue of a State constitutes that portion of the property of every citizen which he contributes for the enjoyment and governmental protection of the remainder. How, and in what way, these contributions are to be levied, is a problem of the highest importance. An amount of revenue commensurate to the annual necessities of the State in its economical administration of the government, and a uniform and ratably equal tax, sufficient to produce certainly this requisite sum annually, levied upon the justly assessed value of all the property within its limits, constitutes, in my opinion, the true basis of taxation.

Justice and the Constitution alike demand that this taxation should be equal and uniform as far as the same is attainable, both as to the standard of the assessed value of the property subject to tax, as well as the amount of the tax imposed upon such valuation.

Perfect equality is impossible. Proximate uniformity can readily be arrived at.
A reference and examination of your revenue laws will satisfy you that they are sadly deficient in many of the well-established tests of uniform and equal taxation.

Many subjects which should justly contribute their quota to State revenue, owing to defects and uncertainty in your statutes, now escape assessment entirely; while many others are so unequally and imperfectly assessed, as to pay most infinitely small contribution, when compared with taxes exacted upon other property. I am informed that lands in many of the richest and most productive counties of the Commonwealth are assessed at a rate varying from one third to one fifth below their actual cash value, when tested by a specie standard; while poorer lands in other portions of the State, especially in the vicinity of our cities, are assessed at nearly their actual value, when tested by the standard of a paper currency.

This is eminently unjust, and demands prompt correction. There should be a uniform, fixed standard of valuation. The only safe and stable one is to be found in specie rather than paper. How far supervisory boards in each county, to be appointed by the Auditor, clothed with ample power to correct all unequal and partial assessments upon the assessor's list, will remedy this evil, must be determined by you.

Another evil upon this subject, which requires legislation, is the want of punctuality in payment of taxes by the tax-payer. A remedy for it is easily attained. It consists in a statute affixing a penalty, in addition to the assessment, upon default of non-payment on the day, which, by law, the tax becomes due.

The practical operation of such an enactment in exacting punctuality in the payment of taxes, has been successful in many of our sister States, as well as in many of the cities of this Commonwealth. Such a law has been in force for many years as to the non-payment of the State revenue by sheriffs into the State Treasury.

Its beneficial operation has recently been neutralized, I regret to say, by special legislative acts passed for the benefit of delinquent sheriffs, in which further time is given them to pay into the State Treasury the revenue of their respective counties. They may be styled special legislative indulgences. The period fixed in the general law for the payment of the revenue of the State into the Treasury is virtually repealed, for the benefit of a few designated delinquent sheriffs, in separate private acts, passed by the Legislature for their benefit.
I cannot too strongly impress upon you the impolicy of such legislation. It is partial, mischievous, and unjust. Its direct tendency has been and is to encourage official delinquency and neglect of duty. It is unequal in its operation—it should apply to all sheriffs, or to none, save in extreme cases of accidental, civil commotion, or other extraordinary circumstances requiring exception. Litigation and loss already mark such legislative relief from official responsibility.

The official returns in the Auditor's office will show large sums which will be entirely lost from special personal extensions given to sheriffs for the payment of their county revenue.

Nor does the evil stop there.

The danger of such legislation is further apparent in the fact, now patent, that the State is deprived, to the extent of the relief granted, of that much revenue, and which is required for the annual ordinary expenses of the government. Such postponement produces a deficit of revenue. The State must, to the extent of such deficit, either allow just debts to remain unpaid, or borrow money to supply the hiatus caused in its revenue. The loan, if made, is to benefit sheriffs who, through negligence or indulgence, have failed in official duty. During the past year the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, under special legislative authority, advanced to the revenue department proper, five hundred thousand dollars to supply deficits in its receipts of revenue, caused in a great degree, as the Auditor informs me, by such special legislative relief measures. If it be continued, it must sooner or later be followed by serious financial embarrassment. It must not be forgotten, either, that the resources of the Sinking Fund have been consecrated by constitutional enactment to the payment of the State indebtedness. While State bonds are outstanding, these resources are beyond legislative or Executive control. If special relief continue to be granted to delinquent sheriffs, the demand for such legislation will become more general, and increased loans will be required to be made in the market overt to supply increased delinquencies. Counties which, through punctual, upright sheriffs, paid their taxes once, may have increased assessments imposed upon them to supply deficiencies caused by such unwise and unjust legislation.

I have spoken thus plainly from a stern sense of official duty. My examination into the State finances, as affected by the results of this species of legislation, has impressed me with the conviction that embarrassment and loss must follow its continuance. I am fully sustained by the facts which I have taken the liberty of laying before you. I could not sustain it, in the least degree, without the author's name being omitted from the proceedings. Hon. Carl Schurz.

Our debt, as you know, is enormous and perhaps more than can be described. Our resources are limited, and although we have in cash on hand at 3 per cent. $106,900,000, the total deficit ever since 1856, is estimated at $100,000,000. The Hon. Carl Schurz, is engaged in the employments of the morning and evening papers, and his zeal and ability have caused him to lean upon his position and to urge the necessity of approbation and approbation proceeding from the highest quarter for the admission of the subject of taxation, and increased taxation being brought into the past and present day, to meet the demands of the Government and dockets.

The employment of me, as a Senator, is to engage in an active and constitutional way in the business of the country.

The decisions of the Court of Appeals under the laws of Kentucky,} sustained in my views upon this subject by the Auditor and what has taken place.

I commend to your careful consideration the estimated receipts and expenditures for the next fiscal year, contained in the Auditor’s Report, and I hope that you will provide the means by sufficient taxation to meet all estimated expenditures, and such extraordinary appropriations which the necessities of the public may induce you to make during your present session.

STATE AGENCY.

Our State Agent at Washington is pressing with energy and zeal our unsettled claims against the General Government. We have received from him since your last adjournment the sum of $106,977.87.

WOLFE ISLAND.

A suit has been pending in the Supreme Court of the United States for several years, between the State of Missouri and this Commonwealth, as to the ownership of Wolfe Island, in the Mississippi river. An appropriation was made, under an act approved 10th March, 1856, for the expenses of this litigation. The late James Harlan, Hon. Reverdy Johnson, and Wm. R. Bradley, were the counsel engaged on the part of this Commonwealth. Mr. Bradley was employed, as I am informed, to take the proof, and Mr. Johnson and Mr. Harlan to attend to the preparation and argument of the cause. Mr. Harlan has been dead for several years, and Mr. Johnson has recently gone abroad in the service of his country. The appropriation made has been entirely exhausted. It will devolve upon you to take such steps and make such further appropriation for the employment of additional counsel, as the importance of the subject may, in your judgment, demand. I have been within the past week notified, by our State Agent, that it will be called on the docket in a few days.

CIVIL RIGHTS BILL.

The Congress of the United States, upon 9th April, 1866, passed an act, entitled “An act to protect all persons in the United States in their civil rights, and furnish the means of their vindication.”

The asserted jurisdiction by the United States Courts in Kentucky under this statute, and their action thereunder over the people of Kentucky, is becoming seriously oppressive, and tends to create popular irritation. Citizens in every portion of the Commonwealth are, under the coercive process of these tribunals, brought daily from their distant homes to Louisville, at heavy costs, to answer alleged violations of this statute.

If this enactment be a valid exercise of legislative power by Congress, under the Constitution of the United States, then no one has any just cause of complaint. Its requirements will then be entitled to ready obedience. The act was passed over the veto of the President of the United States. Its validity has been seriously doubted by the most eminent legal minds in our country. It has, however, been adjudged to be constitutional by the Judges of the Circuit and District United States Courts in Kentucky; and their ruling is binding until the same shall have been reversed by the Supreme Court of the United States. The questions involved in its validity are vital to the lives and liberties of our people. But recently, two persons, John Blyew and George Kennard, were arrested and indicted in the Lewis circuit court, of Kentucky, for alleged murders committed by them in Lewis county, upon the 30th August, 1868, a place over which the jurisdiction of the United States did not extend; and while so in custody of a State court, of competent and unquestioned jurisdiction to try them, these two prisoners were, by the coercive process of the Federal court, forcibly taken from the custody and control of State authority, and against its consent, to Louisville, tried in the Federal court there for the commission of the same identical offenses for which they were indicted and held in custody by the State court, found guilty, and sentenced, by the District Court Judge of the United States, to suffer death during the present month, under the jurisdiction conferred upon him by civil rights bill.

The validity of this act directly involves the integrity of the reserved rights of the States to defend the lives, liberties, and property of their citizens within their own territorial limits, through their own judicial and local tribunals. With all proper respect for the judges who hold to the validity of this act, my own opinion has been always against its constitutionality.

I shall not, however, discuss this question. Impressed, with a deep sense of the importance which its ultimate decision by the Supreme Court of the United States must have upon the vital rights of the people of this Commonwealth, and bound by my oath of office to uphold and defend the rights of Kentucky and her people, I recommend that provision be at once made for carrying the question, by appeal, to that court, and that the most eminent counsel be employed to defend the rights of this Commonwealth before it.

STATE HOUSE AND PUBLIC GROUNDS.

I again renew the recommendation contained in my last annual message, that prompt action be taken by you for enlarging and reconstructing the present State House by such additions as shall provide appropriate accommodations, within the building, for the General Assembly, the Federal and appellate courts, and the various offices and bureaus attached to the State government.

Such improvements are imperiously demanded by the public interest. The present buildings are wholly insufficient for the transaction of the public business. They are rapidly decaying, and are utterly insecure. Many of them are absolutely unsafe. None of the public offices belonging to the State are fire-proof. The Commonwealth has too great an interest in the preservation of her archives, and the interests of her people are too vitally involved in their preservation, to allow them to remain longer in their present unsafe depositories.

PENITENTIARY.

I herewith submit the annual Report of the Inspectors of the Penitentiary. Its recommendations deserve, and should receive, your favorable consideration. The health of the prison is good, and the comfort of the prisoners is cared for by the present humane and efficient keeper.

In my last annual message I submitted several suggestions in regard to this institution, recommending a proposed change in its discipline, by a classification and separation of the convicts. Time has satisfied me of their correctness, and I am fully satisfied that a wise and enlightened policy demands their adoption.

Upon the 9th day of March, 1863, the penitentiary contained two hundred and forty-seven convicts. Upon the 31st of December, 1868, the number had increased nearly three-fold.

In 1866, the penitentiary contained but three hundred and thirty-six cells. The necessity for further additions to the prison became so self-evident, that the Legislature, during that year, appropriated one hundred and nine thousand and twenty-seven dollars and seventy-nine cents for enlarging the old buildings and the erection of new ones.
The present General Assembly, by an act approved 7th March, 1868, made a further appropriation of twenty-two thousand dollars for still further additions. The Executive was empowered to appoint five commissioners to superintend the disbursement of this last appropriation. I continued the commissioners named in the former act, except I substituted Mr. Edward Hensley for Mr. Gill, and appointed Mr. James W. Tate as an additional commissioner. All the improvements contemplated by these acts are now fully completed. I am gratified to say that they have been well designed, and the work of their construction faithfully executed.

Three hundred and twelve new cells have been built, the hemp factory has been remodeled and enlarged, and a new and commodious hospital, with separate apartments for males and females, has been completed.

During the past year, three hundred and forty-three convicts were received at the prison—a sad but pregnant fact of the rapid increase of crime. Upon 31st December, 1868, the entire number of convicts was six hundred and sixteen.

Such a statement demonstrates, without cavil, that great enlargement of the present grounds and buildings must be soon provided for, or another prison must be erected elsewhere.

I still urge a separation and classification of the convicts, based upon the respective character and degrees of crime.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.

I am impelled, by a personal knowledge of the necessity of such a charity, to urge earnestly upon you the establishment and erection of a House of Refuge. It is only in such an institution that youthful offenders can be properly cared for—punishments suited to their age and offenses be properly administered—and where, under moral government and quasi-parental control, they may become trained to industrial, scientific, and mechanical pursuits and occupations, which, in after years, afford means of ample and respectable support.

Punishment, while looking, primarily, to the prevention of crime, must, in all enlightened and Christian communities, regard, at the same time, the reformation of the offenders. Its administration should secure both of these results, if possible.

Under our present system of prison discipline, where no provision is made for a classification and separation of the convicts, based upon the degree of guilt and character of offenses, reformation in young offenders would be miraculous. I have myself witnessed, since my sojourn at the Seat of Government, with anguish, juvenile offenders, under fifteen years of age, upon their conviction of some petit larceny—seduced, it might have been, by some old and adroit offender, to take this, their first, step in crime—brought to this dreary abode of crime and degradation, to be ruthlessly consigned to an inhuman fellowship, for months and years, with callous and abandoned profligates in infamy, or the still more hardened adepts in blood.

Again and again has Executive clemency interfered to save children from such utter, hopeless, sheer, absolute ruin; but it does not, cannot reach the evil. The only remedy is in the House of Correction now urged upon you. We know that the sins of the fathers are visited upon the children; but can any system of prison discipline in this nineteenth century be morally right, which excludes every ray of hope and love from our penitentiaries? Nay, more—a system which almost transforms them into charnel-houses, where all alike, irrespective of guilt, age, or sex, beyond the hope of reformation, must share alike the common infamy and hopeless despair of the great first fratricide. Our moral, not less than our representative responsibilities, earnestly forbid it. Enlightened legislation and Gospel Christianity alike promptly demand the appropriation requisite for the founding of this asylum, as the preventative of so great a wrong to youth and innocence. The entire popular heart of Kentucky will approve it.

PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

The report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction will be laid before you. I commend its suggestions as to its requirements for imparting increased vigor to the system, and for extending its advantages through more effective agencies to every portion of the Commonwealth. All free government rests upon the virtue and education of its people. Knowledge is power. Our common schools, when thoroughly successful, become bulwarks of popular safety.

So deeply fixed is a well-regulated, efficient system of public instruction in the hearts and affections of our people, that no recommendation from me is required to secure a liberal appropriation for its success at the hands of a Legislature composed of their representatives.
I beg leave to submit herewith a most interesting report of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky, by J. B. Bowman, Esq., the efficient and estimable Regent of the Kentucky University. The interesting operations and success of this institution inaugurates a new era in Kentucky upon the important subject of agricultural and mechanical science, and the distribution of this report among the people of the Commonwealth cannot fail to add to its success.

GEORGE ROGERS CLARKE.

I have recently learned that the ashes of General George Rogers Clarke lie interred in Jefferson county, in this State. No stone marks that consecrated spot, and but a few old men, who must soon pass away, can even now mark the grave which covers his venerated dust. Is it meet and right that the bones of this typical model of a hero and patriot should rest in a spot unknown to the people of Kentucky? His military genius impressed itself upon all that came within its sphere, while his self-sacrificing, memorable, and invaluable services in protecting the whole Western frontier from Indian sacrilege and depredation, have impressed his name with undying lustre upon the page of his country's history. Will not this Commonwealth, that cherishes with such affectionate regard a recollection of his virtues, take charge of his remains and inter them with the others of Kentucky's distinguished dead, sleeping in yonder cemetery, and mark the spot with a monument worthy of his fame? I earnestly recommend it.

GOVERNOR CHARLES S. MOREHEAD.

I am deeply grieved in announcing to you that Charles S. Morehead, late Governor of this Commonwealth, no longer lives. He died suddenly near Greenville, Mississippi, upon 23d day of December, 1868. His remains, I learn, will probably be brought to the cemetery near Frankfort to sleep beneath the blue grass of his own loved and native Commonwealth, in the bosom of that constituency whom he served so long and loved so well, and who, with stricken hearts, will be true mourners at his grave.

You require no suggestions from me to insure at your hands, such tokens of respect to his memory, which his long, faithful, and distinguished public services in the Federal and State service, alike, so justly demand.
It gives me pleasure to commend to your kind consideration, the Institution for the Education of Feeble-minded Children, located near the Capital.

A few weeks since, in company with several friends, I passed a day within the walls of this Institution. An examination which we witnessed of the interesting little inmates was full of touching interest, and awakened sad pathos in the hearts of all who were present. It is wonderful to observe, how children, to whom there seems scarcely to have been granted a wandering ray of intellect, can be taught by patient and persevering instruction. I should be faithless if I did not hear a deserved tribute, which I now gladly do, to the worthy Superintendent, and his most accomplished and efficient assistants, in the persons of the Misses Holding.

This noble charity appeals most touchingly to the sympathy of every heart, and I recommend that additional buildings, as originally contemplated, be added for the accommodation of a larger number of this unfortunate class of our population. The present capacity of the building is by no means adequate to the wants of the State. It occurred to me that there was a serious defect in the heating apparatus of the building, for which a proper appropriation will, no doubt, be made, and which I cordially recommend.

GREEN AND BARREN RIVER IMPROVEMENT.

Upon the 9th April, 1868, I approved the bond of the Green and Barren River Navigation Company, executed by Wm. H. Payne, as president thereof, with Wm. Brown, John V. Sproule, E. B. Seeley, C. G. Smallhouse, C. J. Vanmeter, W. S. Vanmeter, D. R. Haggard, H. C. Murrell, D. C. Turner, O. P. Johnson, and M. D. Hay, as his sureties, in the penalty of five hundred thousand dollars, and upon that day executed and delivered to him a written order for the delivery of the entire improvement to said company, under the act approved 9th March, 1868. Said bond is filed in the archives of my office, and is conditioned according to the requirements of the law under which said transfer was made.

LICKING RIVER.

Under the joint resolution, approved March 9th, 1868, directing me to appoint a commissioner or commissioners to inquire what has become of the property of the State on Licking river, and take proper steps for its recovery, I, upon 17th April, 1868, appointed Culvin Sanders, of Shelby, and, subsequently, on 30th October last, I added to the commission John W. Leathers, of Kenton. They were directed to report directly to you, and will, no doubt, promptly do so.

LAW AND ORDER.

No official communication has come to me, since your last adjournment, from any county, or its officials, asking aid in the maintenance of the law, or in the suppression of any unlawful combination seeking its overthrow. I have seen and heard, however, through the press and privately, of an occasional violation of law. While, perhaps, no more disturbances occur in Kentucky than in many of the adjoining States, I must invoke our people to seek safety alone in the inviolable majesty and maintenance of law. Let all secret combinations and organizations, if any such exist, having for their object the infliction of punishment without law, whatever the motive, be given up and at once abandoned. Let the courts and juries see to it, that no violation of law goes unpunished. The Constitution and laws are the only regis of popular safety under our forms of representative free government.

Every organization, or every private individual, who is permitted to trample upon the law with impunity, weakens, to that extent, the cause of self-government. I invite your attention to an examination of the statutes, to see if any further legislation be required to protect life and property from violence.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

I beg leave to offer a few suggestions upon the importance of a completion of the Geological Survey of the State.

This measure was commenced in 1854, and continued, annually, until 1860, when, owing to the death of the director of the survey, and the approach of serious civil disturbances, the appropriations were suspended, and the work discontinued. During the six years this survey was in operation, at a comparatively small expense to the Commonwealth, much valuable information concerning its mineral and agricultural wealth was collected and published in the several reports detailing the progress of the work. A great deal of it, which was collected and prepared, has never been published, in consequence of the suspension of the work.

Sidney S. Lyon, one of the assistants in the late survey, has asked my permission to publish statistical information thus acquired, at his own cost, and for his own benefit; but I had no authority to grant his request. All unpublished memoranda and statistical information of this survey belong to the Commonwealth, and cannot be published upon private account without legislative assent.

The reports of this survey, which were published, establish the interesting fact of the exceeding richness of the two immense coal fields which give to Kentucky a greater available area of coal of good quality than is contained within the limits of any other State in the world. It proved that Kentucky has a total area of coal-bearing lands of twelve thousand eight hundred and seventy-one square miles, or eight million, two hundred and thirty-six thousand nine hundred and forty acres, being nearly five thousand square miles more than the total coal-bearing area of Great Britain. In this report the thickness and quality of the seams within this coal-bearing area is quite equal to that in the English fields. It follows that in this most important source of wealth we are far richer than Great Britain, where there is raised from the earth two hundred millions of dollars' worth of coal per annum, giving employment to three hundred thousand operatives or more. The rich deposits of iron ores, which accompany the coal, were also shown to be equal, both in amount and quality, to the best beds of similar minerals in any other region.

It is a subject of regret that the survey, though carried far enough to assure us that our Commonwealth, in the most important sources of mineral wealth, is very rich, was not brought to that point where its ascertained results would have been practically useful. The vast amount of valuable data, which was collected and published by the survey, has not been put in a shape to become practically useful in the development of the resources which it showed to exist. Such information is especially needed now, for distribution in cheap shape, at home and abroad. Before the geological survey of any region can give to the miner that guidance, which will enable him to reach, with his works, any given seam of coal, or bed of ore, an accurately prepared map, with the surface of the sheet and the diagramatic sections of the rocks beneath it, so colored, as to indicate the precise nature of the minerals and their distribution beneath its square mile of territory, is required. That such a degree of accuracy is obtainable, has been clearly demonstrated by the surveys of Great Britain, Belgium, France, and other continental States of Europe. The maps and other publications of these surveys, especially of Great Britain (one of which is now in my possession), have proven of incalculable value in the rapid development of the resources of those regions, the interior structure of which they have so clearly depicted. Indeed, I am credibly informed, that in the coal-fields of Great Britain, the accurate maps of the geological survey, prepared on a scale of six inches to the mile, are of incalculable value to the miners.

The geological part of the labor, requisite for the preparation and construction of accurate geological maps, is attended with comparatively small cost.

A carefully executed, colored, topographical map of the sections of the State, of which accurate information is desired, is essentially necessary, and imperatively demanded by the most important interests of the State. We possess no such map now. Those previously published, have been based on the most cursory survey of the country represented, and are, in many particulars, inaccurate. The most general features of the surface contour, matter of great importance in the execution of such internal improvements as roads and railways, are not represented. During the progress of the geological survey in Kentucky, much was done toward the preparation of trustworthy maps of the coal-fields of the eastern and western portions of our Commonwealth. This work, though incomplete, remains in such a state, that it could be readily assumed without loss of what has been already done. The need of an accurate topographical map of the Commonwealth, is so self-evident, whether the survey be resumed or not, that it would hardly seem necessary that I should further urge its importance. Without it, the work already done by the geological survey will lose much of its value, and data, already obtained, but not published, will be entirely lost.

It has occurred to me, that, through your action, we might have the benefit and assistance of the United States Coast Survey and their accomplished engineers in the prompt completion of this work.

I have recently received reliable information, that Professor Pierce, the director of the United States Coast Survey, has recently made his estimates for extending its operations into the valleys of the Ohio and Mississippi, so as to include our western streams, as far as Cincinnati and St. Louis. I am satisfied that an extension of the proposed plan, so as to include Kentucky, would meet the approval of Professor Pierce, and greatly increase the value of the observations and work of the Coast Survey. I am sure a much more accurate mapping of the State can be thus obtained than under the direction of a newly-organized State corps, and we should thus complete our
JOURNAL OF THE SENATE.

Geological Survey, and have a new and accurate topographical map of the Commonwealth, at the mere cost of tracing and publishing the maps embodying the work of the United States survey.

When it is remembered, that this map, would be of great advantage to the government of the United States, and, further, that the inland States have cheerfully contributed for twenty-five years past to the support and expenses of the Coast Survey, without any immediate benefits within their own limits, can we doubt that a request by the General Assembly, asking that Kentucky be included in the proposed survey of the United States, would be favorably received and acted upon by Congress?

If you concur in these views, resolutions ought immediately to be passed by the General Assembly, asking the Congress of the United States to authorize the director of the United States Coast Survey, wherever any State has instituted a geological survey of its territory, to co-operate in such work, by making all necessary triangulations, and other necessary delineations, necessary to facilitate the work of mapping the results.

In addition to the inexhaustible mineral resources which the proposed topographical work would develop to the world, as contained in Kentucky, another source of wealth belonging to it, hitherto comparatively unnoticed, would then assume importance. I refer to the water-power which our streams upon every side afford. The rapid descent of many of our water-courses, while unfitting them for navigation, afford somewhat compensatory equivalents by giving valuable sources of power, well fitted for driving every description of machinery. This, as a source of increased wealth and population, will at some future day become incalculable.

LABOR AND EMIGRATION.

A change in the domestic polity of Kentucky has become forced upon her people by a fundamental alteration of her domestic institutions. Wise statesmanship, and enlightened public policy, alike demand, prompt, popular adaptation to this new condition of affairs as speedily as possible. The present need of the State is a sufficient supply of efficient labor. It can only be obtained by largely increased white foreign emigration. This is now an essential requisite to our prosperity. It lies at the root of all social and material wealth. It is a question which towers in importance at this time over any, except the revenue, upon which you will be called to act. Every step which can be taken, to invite foreign emigration to Kentucky, should be taken promptly. Europe is limited in soil, and groans under an excess of population, while America contains more land, than she has laborers to cultivate. It only requires that an effort should be made to bring before the people of Europe, the claims, which Kentucky presents to the emigrant for making it his future home.

Prominent, among the questions proposed by every emigrant, in search of a new home, in a new country, are those touching health, climate, its temperature, and adaptation to the production of the grand staples of food and its rate of taxation.

Our Commonwealth possesses all these advantages in an eminent degree, and to them, many others might be added.

Lying in the center of the Mississippi Valley, it has been justly styled, the “Garden of the American Union.” Its area contains thirty-seven thousand six hundred and eighty square miles, lying between thirty-five and forty degrees of north latitude. It has a desirable climate, and is unsurpassed in health. Indian corn, tobacco, wheat, mules, horses, and cattle, constitute its chief surplus for export. With an inexhaustibly fertile soil, its productions of fruits, herbs, flowers, animals, or minerals, challenge competition. It abounds in forests heavily timbered; the grasses of Kentucky are justly celebrated for their nutrition, and afford pasturage to the finest sheep, cattle, horses, and mules. The State is well watered, and upon its undulating slopes, and southern exposures the grape vine flourishes, and is largely and profitably cultivated in certain portions of the State. Our highways, the surest indices of the condition and prosperity of a people, are multiplying. In 1835, Kentucky had but fifteen miles of railroad. She has in 1868, eight hundred and five miles, completed. The means and mode of disseminating throughout Europe, in cheap and authentic form, the inducements Kentucky holds out to the emigrant for settlement, should command your early attention.

Many applications from abroad and at home, are daily made to me, for reports and statistics as to Kentucky, which I have been unable to supply.

No care has been taken of State publications. A connected series of the Reports of the Auditor and Treasurer for many past years can scarcely be had.
I recommend the establishment of a bureau of statistics, and a Register, who shall prepare and take charge of them. It shall be his duty to take charge of all surplus copies of State documents, maps, &c., which have been, or may hereafter be prepared. It might be accomplished at small expense, by attaching such a department to the duties of the Register of the Land Office, and increasing his compensation.

Or, if it be deemed more desirable, an Agricultural Bureau might be established, charged with the duty of preparing, preserving, and disseminating such statistical information, in addition to being charged with the agricultural interests of the State. This, as an instrumentality and agency of the State, would do much more good to the great cause of agriculture, upon which at last all material prosperity depends, than the present organization of the State Agricultural Society, which wants both power and means to make its efficiency felt. As a State agency, adapted to the object of collecting statistical information, ascertaining the success in various modes of culture in Kentucky in its different sections; the analysis of soils, and numerous details and experiments connected with agricultural and mechanical science, it would doubtless prove as eminently successful here as such a department has proved to be in many of our sister States.

Some department of statistics should be established.

As to the mode of disseminating our statistics in Europe, it could easily be done through the instrumentality of emigration societies, and land companies, now in operation in the United States.

Besides, we might have agencies in the principal towns in Europe with very inconsiderable cost. Proposals have been suggested to me, informally, to undertake such agencies, and to open offices in the principal cities of England and Scotland, free of compensation, save that Kentucky should furnish, gratuitously, all statistics, and pay a small amount for their advertisement in the European papers.

I have thus endeavored, at perhaps too much length, and with the utmost freedom, to present to you, as co-workers with me in the State government, the condition of State affairs; and to offer to your consideration, suggestions in regard to certain objects of interest which I think require legislation.

If they meet your approval, you will give them shape, and take such action as shall render them efficient and practical. They have been prompted by an ardent wish for the welfare of the people of this Commonwealth, and with my solemn conviction that their adoption will be found conducive to their happiness and prosperity.

In conclusion, invoking the Divine blessing upon your deliberations and legislative action, I assure you of a faithful and cordial concurrence, upon my part, in every constitutional measure tending to the welfare of the people of this Commonwealth, which shall receive your sanction.

J. W. STEVENSON.

The following Report of the Inspectors of the Penitentiary accompanied the Governor’s message, viz:

FRANKFORT, December 30th, 1868.

To His Excellency Governor Stevenson:

Sir: In presenting our closing report for the present year relative to the Kentucky Penitentiary, we need not reiterate anything we have heretofore said concerning its general management, the fitness of the Keeper for his position, and his humane treatment of the prisoners. Its sanitary condition is good, and within the past year the health of the inmates has been remarkable. At the present time not one single convict is confined to his bed.

The new cells have been completed, and the Keeper is furnishing them as rapidly as possible. We observed, however, that many of the locks on the old cell are, from natural wear and tear, becoming very defective, and should at once be replaced with new ones. The number required is two hundred (200). A few of the cells on the lower tier are supplied with bars, in addition to the locks, for the purpose of greater security in confining the more desperate characters, and as the number of convicts is now quite large, we would recommend that all the cells on this tier be thus secured. It would be no difficult matter for a few determined prisoners to quietly effect an exit, release others, and overpower the guard, and our suggestions on this point, we think, should receive prompt attention.

There is another matter of equal importance. We allude to raising the walls and so guarding the top, either by sentinels or some mechanical contrivance, as to effectually prevent escape by scaling them. The facility with which a rope can be thrown over and a prisoner ascend, we have mentioned in former reports, and the comparative speed with which the feat is accomplished is almost incredible. Competent architects have looked into the matter, and various modes have been proposed to effect the object; and we now recommend that steps be taken to that end.

The condition of the front office was made the subject of a special report to your predecessor, and at the last session of the Legislature plans and specifications were presented in relation to an entire change of the whole front, by which the office could be made comfortable and genteel in appearance, and the gate more secure. No appropriation was made, however, for the purpose, and hence we call attention to it again.

In regard to suggesting appropriations year after year for the improvement of the institution, we would say, that, in our opinion, the fault has been in neglecting these matters too long. We are fortified in this by the facts connected with the old buildings destroyed by fire. They had been permitted to approach a state of dilapidation without anything being done except occasional patching, until at last the necessities of the case arising out of the conflagration compelled the erection of new ones; and when erected, they were made of such a substantial character as to last for long years to come. Now we firmly believe, that if a thorough and complete renovation of such parts of the Penitentiary as require it would be made, and made in the most substantial manner, it would be true economy to do so. This, perhaps, would require a large appropriation; but what is the difference between doing it at once and doing it in detail, especially when the State has the ability to accomplish it?

There is a subject that we have mentioned to your Excellency upon which we had hoped to be ready to present some tangible and definite proposition, viz: a reform in prison management and discipline. But it is a matter that requires much time and thought, and more investigation than we have been able to give it. It has not by any means escaped our attention, but we preferred to have greater sources of information from which to collate and arrange in a direct form, any opinions we might deduce therefrom. In this connection a kindred subject, however, claims notice.

We refer to the establishment of a House of Reform for females and young men. It is deeply to be regretted that the noble sentiments springing from a true philanthropic and Christian spirit, and so admirably expressed in your last annual message, did not meet with a more decided response from the General Assembly. True, a move was made in that direction, but on too limited a scale, and not in accordance with the high importance of the object. It may be plead ed in extenuation that the subject was something new, and should not be dealt with in haste; and whilst we would give due consideration and respect to the judgment and wisdom of the Legislature, yet we fear the necessity of the matter was not fully appreciated. It must be evident to all that the demoralized condition of the country growing out of the unhappy civil war afforded temptations almost irresistible to the commission of crime. To these temptations the youth of the land became easy victims, and the proportion of such in the various penal institutions is large. Now, if aught can be done in the way of reform, whilst the sentence of the law is being carried out at the same time, certainly the best subjects are those in the earlier periods of life. Let provision be made, therefore, for the enforcement of such salutary regulations as will impress the juvenile offender with the idea, that though he stands convicted of misdemeanor which deserves punishment, yet there is felt for him that kindly interest which would take him by the hand and gently lead him in the path of rectitude. The most effectual way to attain this end is, in our opinion, such an institution as the one in question. One more remark on this subject. If the Legislature should feel inclined to establish a House of Reform, it must be approached in a more liberal spirit than at the last session. The limited amount appropriated was not at all compatible with the desired aim, and would scarcely lay the foundation for such an enterprise. If there exists the necessity for it, let it be met as its importance demands.

In conclusion, we would state that the Rev. James Black, a venerable minister of the Baptist Church, has been employed as Chaplain to the Penitentiary since the month of July last, at a salary of six hundred dollars per annum. He not only holds religious services on the Sabbath, but also visits the prison at various times within the week, and endeavors to impart wholesome moral instruction. The appointment is a satisfactory one.

Very respectfully,
J. M. MILLS,
RICHARD SHARP,
GEO. A. ROBERTSON,
Inspectors Kentucky Penitentiary.

Mr. Carlisle moved the following resolution, viz:

Resolved, That four thousand copies of the message of His Excellency, the Governor, be printed for the use of the members of the Senate, and that the same shall be furnished with envelopes and stamps.

Which was adopted.

Which was granted, and the bill delivered to the messenger.

The Senate, according to order, took up for consideration a bill from the House of Representatives, entitled

An act for the benefit of the common school system.

Which was read the third time as follows, viz:

ducing the next annual election, to be held on the first Monday in August next, to open a poll in the various precincts in their respective counties, and take the sense of the qualified voters of this Commonwealth upon the propriety and expediency of imposing an additional tax of fifteen cents on each one hundred dollars' worth of property in the State, for the purpose of increasing the Common School Fund of Kentucky.

§ 2. That it shall be the duty of the proper officers conducting said election to propound distinctly to each voter the question: “Are you for or against levying an additional tax of fifteen cents on each one hundred dollars' worth of property in the State in order to increase the Common School Fund?” If said voter shall answer the affirmative, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the election to record his vote in favor of levying the tax for the purposes aforesaid. If he shall answer in the negative, it shall be the duty of said clerk to record his vote against it.

§ 3. That it shall be the duty of the sheriffs and other returning officers to make out a correct list of the vote required to be taken under the provisions of this act; and it shall be the duty of the county judges and county clerks of the several counties to compare and certify said lists of their respective counties; and said county clerks shall cause the same to be delivered to the Secretary of State within sixty days after the date of the said election; and upon a failure of any one of them to do so, he shall be fined in the sum of two hundred dollars, to be recovered against him as other fines are recovered under existing laws regulating elections in this State.

§ 4. If it shall appear that a majority of the votes cast under the provisions of this act are cast in the affirmative, it shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to report to the General Assembly, within five days after its next convening after the said election, a statement of the vote directed to be taken, as so cast, when it shall be the duty of the Legislature to adopt such measures as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this act.

§ 5. That it shall be the duty of the Public Printer to print and deliver to the Secretary of State fifteen hundred copies of this act; and it shall be the duty of said Secretary of State to forward fifteen copies of the same for each representative district of the Lower House of the Legislature, to the various clerks of the county courts, in proportion to representation, by the first of July preceding the said election; and the said clerks are required by this act to deliver said copies to the sheriffs of their respective counties, and to take a receipt therefor; and it shall be the duty of said sheriffs to put one copy of this act at the place of holding elections in each election precinct in their respective counties, at least twenty days before the election at which the vote mentioned under this act is to be taken.

§ 6. That any person, other than a qualified voter of this State, who shall vote for or against the propositions in this act mentioned, shall be subject to all the fines and penalties now in force under the existing laws regulating elections.

§ 7. Should it be found that a majority of the votes cast at the said election, under the provisions of this act, are in favor of levying the proposed additional tax, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, as soon as the fact is ascertained, shall proceed to prepare a revised or remodeled code of laws for the better organization and management of the Common School System of Kentucky, by the next meeting of the General Assembly; and, to aid him in this work, he may, with the counsel and advice of the other members of the Board of Education, the Attorney General, and Secretary of State, provide himself with the means and facilities for consulting the most experienced and competent men of the State, with such other authorities as may be thought necessary, in order to the highest improvement of the system.

§ 8. In order to defray any expenses of revising and remodeling the code of laws for the Common School System, that may be found necessary to that end, the Superintendent of Public Instruction may draw, through the Auditor of Public Accounts, upon the Treasurer of Kentucky, and his warrants shall be paid out of the School Fund: Provided, That the aggregate expenses thus paid shall not exceed five hundred dollars.

Tate, of the State of Mississippi, be, and they are hereby, appointed commissioners, under the direction of whom, or any three of whom, subscriptions may be received to the capital stock of the Elizabethtown, Lexington, and Big Sandy Railroad Company, which is hereby incorporated; and they may cause books to be opened, at such times and places as they may direct, for the purpose of receiving subscriptions to the capital stock of said company, after having given such notice as they deem proper; and if such amount of subscriptions to the capital stock of said company as is necessary to its incorporation shall not have been obtained, said commissioners, or a majority of them, may cause said books to be opened, from time to time, and may adjourn to such place as they may deem proper, until the sum necessary to its incorporation shall be subscribed: Provided, That any subscription, tendered at any time and place other than those advertised, that may be received by said commissioners, or any one of them, shall be as valid against the parties subscribing, as if received at the time and place advertised; and if any of said commissioners shall die or resign, or refuse to act during a continuance of the duties devolved upon them by this act, others may be appointed in their stead by a majority of those remaining.

§ 2. That the capital stock of the Elizabethtown, Lexington, and Big Sandy railroad company shall be five millions of dollars, in shares of one hundred dollars each, which may be subscribed by any individual, company, or corporation; and as soon as two thousand shares of said stock shall be subscribed, the subscribers, their successors and assigns, shall be, and are hereby, to be declared incorporated into a company, by the name of the Elizabethtown, Lexington, and Big Sandy railroad company; and by this name shall be capable of purchasing, holding, selling, leasing, and conveying real estate, not exceeding ten thousand acres, and personal estate so far as the same may be necessary for the purposes of the corporation, and shall have perpetual succession; and by said corporate name may sue and be sued, contract and be contracted with, and may have and use a common seal, and alter or renew the same at pleasure, and shall have any, and enjoy all the privileges, which other similar corporate bodies may lawfully do.
§ 3. The residue of said subscription shall be payable in installments, at such times as may be required by the board of directors of said company. But no such payment shall be demanded, until at least ten days' notice shall have been given, by publication in one or more newspapers published on the line of said road; and if any subscriber shall fail to pay any installment, or part of any installment, when so demanded, the same may be recovered by an action in the name of the corporation, before any court having jurisdiction in such cases; and in all such actions, it shall not be necessary to prove any other demand than the publication provided for in this section; or, in case such failure to pay any installment, or part of installment, so demanded, shall continue for the space of sixty days after the time the same is required by such demand to be paid, the board of directors may, at their discretion, order the same to be forfeited to the company, and may, if they think proper, sell said share or shares for the benefit of the company, or, in the event of the highest bid being less than the unpaid balance and interest on said subscription, then the company may become the purchaser, and shall retire said subscription. But the board of directors, by a majority of the whole, may remit such forfeitures on such terms as they may think proper: Provided, It shall be lawful for the commissioners, or board of directors, to receive subscriptions to said capital stock, payable in contracts, well secured, to build any parts of said road, or any bridge or bridges on the same, or to perform any work, or furnish any materials which may be accepted by the company: And provided further, That subscriptions to said capital stock may be made in real estate, situated in Kentucky, if said subscriptions shall be tendered to the board of directors after their organization; and real estate to be taken at its cash value, to be assessed at the time by three commissioners on oath, of whom two shall be selected by the company, and one by the person proposing to subscribe. Upon their report in writing, describing the land, and assessing its cash value, the company may receive the same at its value and issue a stock certificate, and may take a deed of conveyance in fee simple; and the real estate received for stock subscriptions, and which the company is hereby authorized to receive, shall be over and above the ten thousand acres mentioned in the second section of this act.

§ 4. That at the expiration of the period for which the books are first opened, if two thousand shares of the capital stock shall have been subscribed, and if not, as soon thereafter as the same shall be subscribed, said commissioners, or a majority of them living, shall call a meeting; at such time and place as a majority of those acting shall designate, giving at least ten day's notice of the time and place in one or more newspapers published as aforesaid; and at such meeting, said commissioners shall lay the subscription books before the subscribes then present, and thereupon said subscribers or a majority of them then present, shall have power to elect out of their own number, by ballot, nine directors to manage the affairs of said company, and these nine directors, or a majority of them, shall have power to elect a president of said company from among the directors, and to allow him such compensation for his services as they may think proper; and at such election, and on all other occasions where a vote of the stockholders of said company is to be taken, each stockholder shall be allowed one vote for every share of stock owned by such voter; and any stockholder may, in writing, depute any other person to act as proxy for it, him, or her; and said commissioners aforesaid, or any three of them, shall be judges of said first election.

§ 5. That to continue the succession of the president and directors of said company, nine directors shall be chosen annually on the first Saturday in June of each year, at such place as the president and directors may appoint, by the stockholders of said company: Provided, That the president and directors may change the time and place of holding elections upon publishing such change, not less than thirty days prior to the election, in the newspapers aforesaid; and that the directors of said company, or a majority of them, shall have the power to appoint judges of all elections, and to elect a president of said company from among themselves, and to allow him such compensation for his services as they may deem proper; and if any vacancy shall occur by death, resignation, or refusal to act, of any president or director, before the year for which he was elected shall have expired, a person to fill such vacancy shall be appointed by the president and directors, or a majority of them, and that the president and directors of said company shall hold and exercise their offices until their successors are duly elected and enter upon the discharge of their duties; and all elections which are by this act, or by the by-laws of said company, to be made at a particular time, if not made at such time, may be made in ninety days thereafter, upon notice published in the newspapers aforesaid.

§ 6. That a general meeting of the stockholders of said company may be called at any time during the interval between the annual meetings by the president and the directors, or a majority of them, or by the stockholders owning one half of all the stock subscribed, upon giving thirty days’ notice of the time and place of holding the same in the newspapers aforesaid; and when any such meeting is called by the stockholders, such notice shall specify the object of the call; and if, at any such called meeting, a majority of all the stockholders are not present in person or by proxy, the same shall be adjourned, from day to day, without transacting any business, for any time not exceeding five days; and if, within said five days, stockholders having a majority in value of all the stock subscribed do not attend in person or by proxy, such meeting shall be dissolved.

§ 7. That the president and directors of said company in office for the preceding year shall, at the regular annual meeting of the stockholders, exhibit a clear and distinct account of the affairs of said company; that at any called meeting of the stockholders, or a majority in value of the whole of the stock subscribed being present, may demand and require similar statements from the president and directors, whose duty it shall be to furnish such statement when so required.

§ 8. That the president and directors of said company, before he or they act as such, shall swear or affirm, as the case may be, that they will well and truly discharge the duties of their respective offices to the best of their skill and judgment; and the said president and directors, or a majority of them, shall have power to elect or appoint a treasurer of said company, and require and take of him a bond, in such penalty, and with such securities as they may prescribe, payable to said company, conditioned for the faithful keeping and disbursing of all such money as may come into his hands, and with such other conditions as may be prescribed, upon which bond recovery may be had for a breach of the conditions thereof, by suit in the name of the company, and in any court having jurisdiction.

§ 9. That if any of the stock authorized by this act shall remain unsubscribed until after the election of president and directors, as provided for in the fourth section of this act, the said president and directors, or a majority of them, shall have power to open the books and receive subscriptions to the stock which shall remain unsubscribed, or to sell and dispose of the same for the benefit of the company, not under the par value of such stock; and the subscribers or purchasers of such stock shall have all the rights of original subscribers, and be subject to the same regulations and liabilities.

§ 10. That said president and directors, or a majority of them, may appoint all such officers, agents or servants, as they may deem expedient for the business of the company, and may remove the same at pleasure, or said board of directors may delegate to their president the power to appoint or remove any or all such employees, subject to their approval at their first meeting thereafter. That they, or a majority of them, may determine by contract the pay of such officers, agents or servants, and regulate by by-laws the manner of adjusting all accounts against the company, and the extent of the liability of the company to its employees; that they shall have power to erect, carry on, conduct, and control work-shops, eating houses, warehouses, and any buildings or edifices necessary or convenient for the use of said company; that they shall have power to direct and regulate in what manner and by what evidence stock in said company may be transferred; and to pass all by-laws they may deem necessary and proper for exercising the powers hereby vested in said company and for carrying into effect this act, and to alter the same at pleasure, provided the same be not contrary to the Constitution and laws of the United States or of this State.

§ 11. That if the capital stock of said company shall be deemed insufficient for the purpose of this act, it shall be lawful for the president and directors to increase the same as much as they may deem necessary, not exceeding the sum of ten millions of dollars, giving notice as hereinbefore required; and the said company may borrow any sum of money, not exceeding five millions of dollars, and secure the payment of the same by the issue of first mortgage bonds of their road, or in such way as may be agreed upon.
§ 12. That the president and directors of said company are hereby vested with all powers and rights necessary to the construction of a railroad from Elizabethtown to a point on the Big Sandy, at or within twenty miles of its mouth, along such route as may be selected by the president and directors; and that they may cause to be made contracts, which shall be signed by the president, with any corporations, companies, or individuals, for making said road, or any part of it; and that they may purchase or lease any road or roads connecting with their said road, and that they, their agents, engineers, etc., or those with whom they may contract for surveying or making the same, or any part thereof, may enter upon, use, and excavate any land which may be wanted for the site of said road or the erection of warehouses or other structures or works necessary and convenient to said road or for its use, or for any other purpose necessary or useful in the construction and repair of said road or its works and appurtenances; and they may build bridges and construct tunnels, provided such bridges shall not obstruct navigation on any navigable stream; and may fix scales and weights, take and use timber, earth, gravel, stone, and other materials necessary or useful in the construction and repair of said road.

§ 13. That the president and directors, or a majority of them, or their authorized agents, may agree with the owners of any land, earth, stone, timber, or other materials or improvements which may be wanted for the construction or repair of said road or any of their works, for the purchase in fee simple, or the use and occupation of the same; and if they cannot agree, or if the owner or owners of any of them be a tenet covert, under age, non compos mentis, or out of the county in which the property may lie, application may be made to any justice of the peace of said county, who shall, thereupon, issue his warrant, directed to the sheriff or any constable of said county, requiring him to summon twenty discreet men, not related to the owner, nor in any way interested, to meet on the land, or near the property or materials to be valued, on a day named in said warrant, not less than ten nor more than twenty days after the issuing of the same; and if, at the time and place, any of the said jurors do not attend, said sheriff or constable shall forthwith summon as many jurors as may be necessary, with the jurors in attendance, and from them each party, if present, or, if not present, by agent or otherwise, the sheriff or constable, for the party absent, may strike off four jurors, and the remaining twelve shall act as the jury of inquest of damages. The sheriff or constable may adjourn the jury from day to day; and if they cannot agree upon a verdict, it shall be his duty to discharge them and summon another, to meet as soon as convenient. Before the jury acts, the sheriff or constable shall administer to them an oath or affirmation, that they will justly and impartially fix the damages which the owner or owners will sustain by the use and occupation of said property required by said company; and the jury, in estimating the damages, shall find the owner or owners the actual value of the land or other thing proposed to be taken; but in estimating damages resulting incidentally to the other land or other property of such owners, they shall offset the advantages to such residue to be derived

§ 14. That the president and directors of said company are hereby vested with all powers and rights necessary to the construction of said road, and they may cause to be made contracts, which shall be signed by the president, with any corporation, companies, or individuals, for making said road, or any part of it; and that they may purchase or lease any road or roads connecting with their said road, and that they, their agents, engineers, etc., or those with whom they may contract for surveying or making the same, or any part thereof, may enter upon, use, and excavate any land which may be wanted for the site of said road or the erection of warehouses or other structures or works necessary and convenient to said road or for its use, or for any other purpose necessary or useful in the construction and repair of said road or its works and appurtenances; and they may build bridges and construct tunnels, provided such bridges shall not obstruct navigation on any navigable stream; and may fix scales and weights, take and use timber, earth, gravel, stone, and other materials necessary or useful in the construction and repair of said road.

§ 15. That the president and directors, or a majority of them, or their authorized agents, may agree with the owners of any land, earth, stone, timber, or other materials or improvements which may be wanted for the construction or repair of said road or any of their works, for the purchase in fee simple, or the use and occupation of the same; and if they cannot agree, or if the owner or owners of any of them be a tenet covert, under age, non compos mentis, or out of the county in which the property may lie, application may be made to any justice of the peace of said county, who shall, thereupon, issue his warrant, directed to the sheriff or any constable of said county, requiring him to summon twenty discreet men, not related to the owner, nor in any way interested, to meet on the land, or near the property or materials to be valued, on a day named in said warrant, not less than ten nor more than twenty days after the issuing of the same; and if, at the time and place, any of the said jurors do not attend, said sheriff or constable shall forthwith summon as many jurors as may be necessary, with the jurors in attendance, and from them each party, if present, or, if not present, by agent or otherwise, the sheriff or constable, for the party absent, may strike off four jurors, and the remaining twelve shall act as the jury of inquest of damages. The sheriff or constable may adjourn the jury from day to day; and if they cannot agree upon a verdict, it shall be his duty to discharge them and summon another, to meet as soon as convenient. Before the jury acts, the sheriff or constable shall administer to them an oath or affirmation, that they will justly and impartially fix the damages which the owner or owners will sustain by the use and occupation of said property required by said company; and the jury, in estimating the damages, shall find the owner or owners the actual value of the land or other thing proposed to be taken; but in estimating damages resulting incidentally to the other land or other property of such owners, they shall offset the advantages to such residue to be derived from the building and operating of said road by, through, or near such residue. The jury shall reduce their verdict to writing, and sign the same, and it shall be returned by the sheriff or constable to the clerk of the circuit court of his county, and such clerk shall receive and file it in his office; and such verdict shall be confirmed by the circuit court at its next regular term, if no sufficient reason is shown by either party for setting it aside; and when so confirmed, it shall be recorded by the clerk, at the expense of said company; but if set aside the court shall direct another inquisition to be held by the sheriff of the county in the manner above prescribed: Provided, That the company may proceed to construct their said road as soon as the first verdict of the jury shall be returned, whether the same be set aside and a new jury ordered or not; and every inquisition shall describe the property or the bounds of the land condemned, and the duration of interest in the same, valued for the company; and such valuation, when tendered or paid to owner or owners of said property, or to the sheriff of the county in which said inquest is held, when the owner or owners do not reside in such county, shall entitle said company to the use or interest in the same thus valued as fully as if it had been conveyed to it by the owner or owners thereof; and the valuation of the same, if not received when tendered, may, at any time thereafter within one year, be received from the company without costs or interest by the owners, his, her, or its legal representatives: Provided, That land condemned for road-way shall not be more than one hundred feet wide, unless said company shall file with the justice, at the time of applying for a warrant, the affidavit of some one of its engineers, stating that a greater width is necessary, and how much more is required, when the inquisition shall be for the quantity thus stated.

§ 14. That whenever it shall be necessary for said company to have, use, or occupy any land, material, or other property, in order to the construction or repairing of said road or their necessary works or buildings, the president and directors, or their agents, or those contracting with them for constructing or repairing the same, may immediately take and use the same, they having first caused the property wanted to be viewed by a jury formed as hereinbefore prescribed; and it shall not be necessary, after such view, in order to the use and occupation of the same, to wait the issue of the proceedings upon such inquest; and the inquest of the jury, after the payment or tender of such valuation, shall be a bar to all actions for taking and using such property, whether before or after such confirmation or payment of such valuation.

§ 15. That any county, town, or city through which said proposed road shall pass, is hereby authorized to subscribe stock in said railroad company in any amount any such town, city, or county may desire; and the county court of any such county is authorized to issue the bonds of their respective counties, in such amount as the county court may direct; and the chairman and board of trustees, or mayor and aldermen of any town, or the mayor and aldermen or council of any city, are hereby authorized to issue the bonds of their respective towns or cities in like manner. All said bonds shall be payable to

They are also authorized and required to make provision for paying said bonds at their maturity; and to enable them to do this, they may establish a sinking fund, and loan out the same at any rate of interest they can obtain, and, if necessary, collect the same by law, or may adopt such other means as to them may seem proper and expedient, and may levy and collect taxes annually or otherwise on the property aforesaid for this purpose. The person collecting said tax shall give tax receipts for the same, and any tax-payer paying tax to said road under the provisions of this act shall be entitled to stock in said railroad company to the amount of taxes he may pay, and the towns, cities, and counties under whose subscription the tax is levied shall direct said stock to the extent of stock issued on said receipt; and whenever such receipts to the amount of one share or more shall be presented to the company, or an officer or agent designated by it, a certificate of stock shall be issued to the holder and owner of the receipt; but no certificates shall be issued for a fractional part of a share: Provided, That the said towns, cities, and counties shall receive no dividends on their...

stock, but the holders of stock issued on said receipts as aforesaid shall be entitled to the same dividends, and to all the rights and privileges, as original and cash stockholders: And provided further, That said company may, in any way that may seem expedient to it, provide for pay, each or any year, to the towns, cities, counties, or any of them, the amount of tax levied by reason of said bonds, and thus stop the collection of the tax for that year: And provided further, That the company may purchase said bonds and surrender them at any time to the towns, cities, and counties issuing them, and have the same canceled; and the mayor and aldermen or chairman and board of trustees of any town, or the mayor and aldermen or council of any city, or the county court of any county, may appoint collectors for said tax, or may require the sheriffs or marshals of the counties, cities, or towns to collect the same; all of whom shall have the same powers and remedies, and shall proceed in the same way for the collection of said tax, as the sheriffs in the collection of the State revenue. The mayor and aldermen or chairman and board of trustees shall require and take from the person collecting the tax a bond, with sufficient sureties, conditioned as they may think best. If the collections are made by the sheriff or marshal, they shall settle and pay over the tax at the same times that sheriffs are required to pay the State revenue; and for their services in collecting, they shall in no case be allowed more than three per cent. commission on the amount collected.

The constitutional provision as to the third reading of said bill being dispensed with,
Resolved, That said bill do pass, and that the title thereof be as aforesaid.

Mr. Gardner, from the Committee on Enrollments, reported that the committee had examined enrolled bills, which originated in the House of Representatives, of the following titles, viz:

An act to amend chapter 61 of the Revised Statutes, title "Laws;"
An act for the benefit of Sanford M. Collins, of Mason county;
An act for the benefit of the Frankfort city school;
An act for the benefit of the Board of Internal Improvement for Scott county;
An act to amend the charter of the Mayslick and Sardis turnpike road;
An act to incorporate the Orangeburg and Tollsboro turnpike road company, in Mason county;
And enrolled bills, which originated in the Senate, of the following titles, viz:

An act to incorporate the Barren River Bridge Company;
An act to amend an act, entitled "An act to amend an act to levy a tax to aid in building turnpike roads in Lewis county;"
An act to amend and continue in force the 1st and 2d sections of an act to amend section 3 of article 6, chapter 27, of the Revised Statutes, approved February 22, 1865;
An act to authorize the Hancock county court to appropriate the excess of county levy for the year 1867 to the payment of the deficiency in the court-house fund for the year 1868;
And had found the same truly enrolled.
Said bills having been signed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Speaker of the Senate affixed his signature thereto, and they were delivered to the committee to be presented to the Governor for his approval and signature.

After a short time, Mr. Gardner reported that the committee had performed that duty.

The Senate, according to order, took up for consideration a resolution from the House of Representatives, entitled Resolution in favor of Mrs. L. B. Helm.

Which reads as follows, viz:

WHEREAS, The Hon. John L. Helm, late Governor of this Commonwealth, departed this life within one week after his inauguration as Governor; and whereas, he spent the services of a long life in the interest, and for the benefit, of his native State, with comparatively little compensation therefor; and as a further acknowledgment of his invaluable services to the State, therefore,

Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That there is hereby appropriated out of the Treasury, to Mrs. Lucinda B. Helm, wife of the late Hon. John L. Helm, the sum of five thousand dollars, an amount about equal to one year's salary, with the perquisites of the office, of Governor of this Commonwealth; and the Auditor is directed to draw his warrant on the Treasury in favor of Mrs. Lucinda B. Helm for the same.

Mr. Boyd then moved to amend said resolution as follows, viz:

That there is hereby appropriated to the heirs of Governor George Madison, who died soon after his inauguration as Governor of illness contracted while a soldier in the service of his country, the sum of five thousand dollars.

That there is hereby appropriated to the heirs of Governor John Breathitt, who died while in office as Governor of Kentucky, the sum of five thousand dollars.

That there is hereby appropriated to the heirs of Governor James Clark, who died while in office as Governor of Kentucky, the sum of five thousand dollars.

To the widow and heirs of James H. Garrard, the sum of twenty-four hundred dollars, being one year's salary.

Mr. Dudley moved the previous question.

And the question being taken, "Shall the main question be now put?" it was decided in the affirmative.

The question was then taken on the adoption of the amendment proposed by Mr. Boyd, and it was decided in the negative.

The yeas and nays being required thereon by Messrs. Lilly and Payne, were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That said bill be referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

The Speaker laid before the Senate the following response of the Secretary of State to a resolution heretofore introduced by Mr. Lindsay, viz:

OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE.
FRANKFORT, KY., January 29th, 1869.

Hon. Wm. Johnson, Speaker of the Senate:
I have received a resolution which passed the Senate in relation to the distribution of the public books for the year 1869.
In said resolution, the Secretary of State is requested to report to the Senate what steps have been taken in accordance with law to have said books distributed, and to report whether or not any further legislation is necessary to enable the State Department to have the public books distributed at the various counties within a reasonable time after they are ready for distribution.
I have the honor to state, that, in compliance with the law, after publication, I awarded the contract for the delivery and distribution of said books to John D. Mannen, who was the lowest bidder for the same; but, at his request, he not wishing to undertake this business, the contract was given to Peter Jett, who had been the contractor for this same work for many previous years.
Mr. Jett has always been regarded as a most efficient and faithful agent, and, for the year 1868, has filed in my office receipts for the safe delivery of the books from all the clerks of the various counties, with the exception of some five or six. A delay occurred in the delivery of the books to some of the counties, from the fact that they were burnt whilst in transit to their points of destination.

In reply to one of the inquiries of the resolution, I will remark, that, in my opinion, no further legislation is required upon this subject.

Most respectfully, your obedient servant,

SAMUEL B. CHURCHILL,
Secretary of State.

On motion of Mr. Leslie, Mr. Halbert was added to the Committee on Finance.

A message was received from the Governor by Mr. Samuels, Assistant Secretary of State, announcing that the Governor had approved and signed enrolled bills, which originated in the Senate, of the following titles, viz:

Together with the amendments heretofore proposed.

Said bill reads as follows, viz:

§ 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That the sum of one hundred thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, be, and the same is hereby, appropriated, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be paid in current funds, for the purpose of erecting a building or buildings to contain suitable apartments and fire-proof rooms for the principal public officers of the State, required by law to reside at the Seat of Government.

§ 3. That the contract or contracts for the work shall be given to the lowest and best bidder or bidders, at the option of the commissioners, after being first advertised, as directed, for the space of one month. The said commissioners, in deciding thereon, shall have due regard to the ability and competency of the bidder to execute the same, and shall take bond of the said bidder, with good security, for the faithful performance of his contract.

§ 4. That said commissioners shall have the authority and are hereby directed to select a competent architect, whose duty it shall be to give strict and constant attention to the said improvements until complete, and who shall receive such compensation as said commissioners shall allow; and he shall be subject at any time to be removed and to have another employed in his stead.

§ 5. § 6. It shall be the duty of the Auditor of Public Accounts to draw his warrant upon the Treasurer for such sums of money as the said commissioners may, from time to time, order in the prosecution of said work, not exceeding in all the sum appropriated by this act.

§ 7. § 9. That said buildings shall be made of stone, and as near fireproof as may be.
§ 10. This act to take effect from its passage.

§ 11. The appropriation made in the first section of this act shall be held and intended to mean for the erection of a building or buildings to contain suitable apartments and fire-proof rooms for the offices of the State, required by law to be kept at the Seat of Government.

The amendment proposed by Mr. Chandler reads as follows, viz:
Add to the first section—

Provided, That said appropriation is made exclusively for the erection of suitable buildings for the public offices aforesaid, and that no part thereof shall be used in the improvement, alteration, or extension of the State House or Capitol building, and that the plans and specifications of said buildings shall look to no greater cost than the one hundred thousand dollars hereby appropriated, and in no event shall exceed in cost the said amount.

The amendment proposed by Mr. Leslie as a substitute for the original bill and proposed amendment reads as follows, viz:

§ 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That at the regular election in August, 1869, for Representatives to the next Legislature of Kentucky, there shall be a poll opened, by the officers conducting said election, at the several voting places in the State, and the vote of the people of the State taken upon the question of whether or not five hundred thousand dollars shall be appropriated for the enlarging and improving the present Capitol of the State, at Frankfort. At said election, every citizen entitled to vote for county Representative in the State Legislature shall be allowed to vote on said question; and it shall be the duty of all the judges and clerks and sheriffs conducting said elections to have pronounced to each voter who shall vote the question, "Are you for the appropriation of five hundred thousand dollars to improve the Capitol at Frankfort, or against it?" It shall be the duty of said clerks, judges, and sheriffs to record each voter's name, and place his vote as he may answer, either for or against said appropriation, and certify the result on the poll-book, and return it as now required by law; and it shall be the duty of the sheriffs and other returning officers to certify the vote of their respective counties to the Governor of the State, and transmit the same to him on or before the first day of September, 1869; and, within ten days thereafter, it shall be the duty of the Governor and Secretary of State to carefully count the votes so certified as having been cast for the appropriation and those cast against it, and cause the same to be published to the people of the State by the Public Printer; and if a majority of said votes are found to have been cast for said appropriation, said Governor and Secretary shall so certify to said commissioners, who shall thereupon proceed to the discharge of the duties assigned them under the preceding sections of this act. But this act is not to take effect till after said election, nor until said Governor and Secretary of State shall certify that a majority of said votes have been given in favor of said appropriation.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
FRANKFORT, February 3d, 1869.

Hon. William Johnson, Speaker of the Senate:

By an act passed at the last session, the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund were directed to investigate, audit, and settle the accounts of N. Craig, late Keeper of the Penitentiary, and to report to the adjourned session of the General Assembly the result of their examinations. In compliance with this law, the Commissioners have given much time and consideration to this subject, and beg leave, through you, to present to the Legislature the accompanying report as the result of their researches and consultations.

The report is signed by all the Commissioners with the exception of his Excellency the Governor, who, on account of the pressure of official business, has not been able for some weeks to attend the meetings of the Board of Commissioners.

Most respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

SAM'L B. CHURCHILL,
Chairman pro. tem.

REPORT.

To the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

By an act of the Legislature, approved March the 7th, 1868, the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund were authorized and directed to investigate and audit and settle the accounts of N. Craig, late Keeper of the Penitentiary, and to report the result of such investigation to the adjourned session of the General Assembly.

In compliance with the provisions of this act, the Commissioners herewith respectfully submit the following report:

By an act of the Legislature, approved March 8th, 1843, it will be guaranteed that justice that, covenanted that the profits of the State should not be less than five thousand dollars per annum, and that the Governor was authorized, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to appoint a clerk, whose duty it was to keep a true and faithful account of all transactions pertaining to the Penitentiary.

Craig and the State thus became partners—the State entitled to two thirds and Craig one third of the profits; and although Craig covenanted that the profits of the State should not be less than five thousand dollars per annum, still we think it nothing but common justice that, in case of accident by fire or otherwise, the State should sustain two thirds of the loss, as she was to receive two thirds of the profits.

This would be the law between individuals and merchants, and why not between the State and her own citizens?

By the act of the 8th of March, 1843, above quoted, it will be seen that the State appointed her own clerk; and it will be seen, by reference to section seven of an act approved February 10th, 1845, that Craig was released from all liability to the State on account of the loss sustained by the burning of the Penitentiary, except so much as he was legally bound as partner to bear one third of said loss. It would appear from this that the State expressly recognized the fact that she ought to sustain two thirds of the loss or damages by fire. The books do not show that Craig has ever been paid the sum, or any part of it; and, in our opinion, he is justly entitled to it.

The Commissioners would here remark that Craig, in the first place, was a partner with W. Henry, who died in 1847, and the Legislature in February, 1847, passed an act declaring that the contract with Craig & Henry should be continued with Craig, requiring him to give a new bond, which was complied with.

The second claim presented by Craig is for the building of a wall around a lot of ground purchased of A. P. Cox, by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, for the purpose of enlarging the area of the Penitentiary. This wall was built under an act of the Legislature, approved the 23d of February, 1846, at an estimated cost of four thousand seven hundred and thirty-one dollars; but, upon actual measurement of said wall by A. P. Cox, one of the Commissioners... appointed to audit the accounts of N. Craig, in order to make a settlement with said Craig, it was found that this wall contained three thousand three hundred and twenty-one perch of solid masonry, commencing five feet below the surface of the ground, rising to the height of thirty feet, being six feet thick at the bottom and three at the top. At three dollars per perch this would amount to the sum of nine thousand nine hundred and sixty-three dollars. In addition to this, there was one hundred and fifty perch of loose stone on top of said wall, which, at one dollar per perch, amounts to one hundred and fifty dollars, and seven hundred yards of excavation, which, at twenty-five cents per yard, amounts to one hundred and seventy-five dollars, making the total cost of the whole wall ten thousand two hundred and eighty-eight dollars. Of this amount Craig received a credit on the books of the Penitentiary for the sum of four thousand seven hundred and thirty-one dollars, leaving him to pay the balance, which is five thousand five hundred and fifty-seven dollars.

We do not think that three dollars a perch for this work is too high. Messrs. Cox and Page, in their report to the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, say that many of the stones used in the construction of this wall weighed more than a ton each, and that it was necessary that they should be large in order to secure the safe-keeping of the prisoners. They say in their report that this wall could not then have been built for less than four dollars per perch; but that, in 1845, when living was much cheaper than at the time of their report, it could have been built for three dollars per perch. In fixing a price upon this work we have been governed by their estimates.

It will be seen, by reference to the sworn statements of Governor James F. Robinson, hereto annexed, that he and M. C. Johnson met Governor Morehead and Judge Mason Brown, to whom was referred the matter in controversy between Captain Craig and the State, as arbitrators, and, after a full and long discussion, a basis of settlement was agreed upon, and Austin P. Cox and Thomas B. Page were selected as accountants, to take all the books and papers and make a full and complete settlement.

The settlement was made by Cox and Page, showing a large balance in favor of Craig against the State; which, says Governor Robinson, to his surprise, was set aside by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund.

It has been many years since the transactions herein described have taken place; but, with all the lights before us, we have come to the conclusion that Newton Craig was entitled to receive from the State four thousand two hundred and sixty-two dollars and eighty-one cents on account of the loss by fire, and the sum of five thousand five hundred and fifty-seven dollars for the wall, which two sums amount to nine thousand eight hundred and nineteen dollars and eighty-one cents.

It remains for the Legislature to say whether or not interest should be added. If six per cent. interest should be allowed, the whole would amount to the sum of twenty-three thousand three hundred and forty-one dollars and seventy-one cents.
The facts herein stated are taken from the records of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, which are in the custody of the Auditor, and from the evidence of the Hon. James F. Robinson, General William Johnson, and George W. Craddock, which is hereto appended; all of which is most respectfully submitted by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund to the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

SAMUEL B. CHURCHILL,
Chairman pro tem.,
JOHN RODMAN,
D. HOWARD SMITH,
JAMES W. TATE.

At a meeting of the Board of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, at the office of the Secretary of State, December 8, 1868—present: Samuel B. Churchill, Chairman pro tem., John Rodman, James W. Tate, D. Howard Smith, Secretary—General Johnson was sworn, and introduced as a witness for Craig. He states: "I was one of the four Commissioners appointed under an act of the Legislature of 1861-2; I think, and Messrs. Hord, Jos. Belt, and Geo. W. Craddock were the others. The award rendered by said Commissioners was afterwards the judgment of the court, which is on file in the Franklin circuit court.

"I recollect distinctly that the claims of Craig for mistake in the measurement of the wall around the prison, and loss by fire in the prison during his term as keeper, were not allowed by the Commissioners. Witness cannot distinctly recollect what items were allowed, nor all of those rejected by the Commissioners.

"I recollect that the claims of Craig were twice as large as what were allowed him by the Commissioners, leaving out the claim for wall and by burning. In the settlement made by the Commissioners, the wall and burning claims were rejected. This I distinctly recollect."

Ex-Gov. James F. Robinson was sworn, and testified as follows: "M. C. Johnson, Esq., and myself met Gov. Morehead and Judge Mason Brown (to whom was referred the matter in controversy between Capt. Craig and the State as arbitrators) at the Capital Hotel, in Frankfort, on the — day of ———; and, after a full and long discussion as to the principle upon which said settlement was to be made, finally agreed upon a basis of settlement; and, under this agreement, Austin P. Cox and Thomas B. Page were selected as accountants, to take all the books and papers and make a full and complete settlement on the basis and agreement agreed upon. That settlement was made by Cox and Page, showing a large balance in favor of Craig against the State, which was, greatly to my surprise, rejected by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund. I thought and understood that the action of the arbitrators was to be final and conclusive in the case, both against the State and Craig. This was in writing. When the action of the arbitrators was laid before the.

Commissions.
Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, they took the liberty of striking out whatever they pleased, and thus, I thought, greatly outraged and wronged Craig.

"But after all this, as the friend of Captain Craig, I advised him, as he had ‘his head and hand in the lion’s mouth,’ as he was perfectly in the power of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, to take whatever he could get, and look to the Legislature for the balance he was entitled to. He acted on my advice, and the settlement was entered up.

"I am perfectly satisfied that the matter of mistake in building of wall and burning of Penitentiary was not settled. They were thrown out—never settled.

"The books of the Kentucky Penitentiary, under Craig’s administration, were miserably kept. They showed against Craig a balance which I am satisfied was incorrect, and which the report of Cox and Page showed was incorrect.

"There is no question of the fact that Craig never received the compensation he claimed he was entitled to, for building an extension of the wall around the Penitentiary, in the settlement made with the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, nor what he claimed was due him in consequence of the fire which occurred in the Penitentiary. My decided opinion is, that he was entitled to the amounts he claimed.

"When the settlement made by Cox and Page was rejected by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, it was stated by Governor Morehead and the Commissioners that Craig was to go to the Legislature for the relief he asked for what were stricken out of the report; that they had no power to allow them. The mistake in regard to the wall was discovered after the act of the Legislature for the benefit of Craig was passed. Craig pressed it on the Commissioners, but they refused to allow it, and said he must look to the Legislature for relief."

George W. Craddock was sworn, and testified as follows:

"The suit was in the name of the State, against Craig, for a balance of two or three thousand dollars. This suit was referred to Gen. W. Johnson, L. Hord, Jos. Belt, and myself, as arbitrators. Captain Craig set up divers claims as set-offs. The arbitrators could not agree, and Col. A. W. Dudley was selected as umpire. Finally, we agreed that each party should pay their own costs, and the suit be dismissed. To this agreement Craig objected as unjust to him, as the State was indebted to him.

"The matter of the loss by the fire in the Penitentiary—I never knew much or anything about it. In regard to the building of the stone wall, it was not embraced in the settlement. Recently, I had occasion to examine the papers in the suit brought by the State. They do not show much about what was done. The arbitration was made a sort of lumping business. Craig was not allowed for the wall; which I thought he was entitled to. The claims set up by Craig went considerably beyond what the State claimed; but I do not recollect the amount. Gen. Johnson and I agreed, and advised Craig to let
The facts herein stated are taken from the records of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, which are in the custody of the Auditor, and from the evidence of the Hon. James F. Robinson, General William Johnson, and George W. Craddock, which is hereunto appended; all of which is most respectfully submitted by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund to the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

SAMUEL B. CHURCHILL,
Chairman pro tem.,
JOHN RODMAN,
D. HOWARD SMITH,
JAMES W. TATE.

At a meeting of the Board of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, at the office of the Secretary of State, December 8, 1868—present: Samuel B. Churchill, Chairman pro tem., John Rodman, James W. Tate, D. Howard Smith, Secretary—General Johnson was sworn, and introduced as a witness for Craig. He states: "I was one of the four Commissioners appointed under an act of the Legislature of 1861-2, I think, and Messrs. Hord, Jos. Belt, and Geo. W. Craddock were the others. The award rendered by said Commissioners was afterwards the judgment of the court, which is on file in the Franklin circuit court."

"I recollect distinctly that the claims of Craig for mistake in the measurement of the wall around the prison, and loss by fire in the prison during his term as keeper, were not allowed by the Commissioners. Witness cannot distinctly recollect what items were allowed, nor all of those rejected by the Commissioners.

"I recollect that the claims of Craig were twice as large as what were allowed him by the Commissioners, leaving out the claim for wall and burning. In the settlement made by the Commissioners, the wall and burning claims were rejected. This I distinctly recollect."

Ex-Gov. James F. Robinson was sworn, and testified as follows: "M. C. Johnson, Esq., and myself met Gov. Morehead and Judge Mason Brown (to whom was referred the matter in controversy between Capt. Craig and the State as arbitrators) at the Capital Hotel, in Frankfort, on the day of ——; and, after a full and long discussion as to the principle upon which said settlement was to be made, finally agreed upon a basis of settlement; and, under this agreement, Austin P. Cox and Thomas B. Page were selected as accountants, to take all the books and papers and make a full and complete settlement on the basis and agreement agreed upon. That settlement was made by Cox and Page, showing a large balance in favor of Craig against the State, which was, greatly to my surprise, rejected by the Commissioner of the Sinking Fund. I thought and understood that the action of the arbitrators was to be final and conclusive in the case, both against the State and Craig. This was in writing. When the action of the arbitrators was laid before the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, they took the liberty of striking out whatever they pleased, and thus, I thought, greatly outraged and wronged Craig.

"But after all this, as the friend of Captain Craig, I advised him, as he had 'his head and hand in the lion's mouth,' as he was perfectly in the power of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, to take whatever he could get, and look to the Legislature for the balance he was entitled to. He acted on my advice, and the settlement was entered up.

"I am perfectly satisfied that the matter of mistake in building of wall and burning of Penitentiary was not settled. They were thrown out—never settled.

"The books of the Kentucky Penitentiary, under Craig's administration, were miserably kept. They showed against Craig a balance which I am satisfied was incorrect, and which the report of Cox and Page showed was incorrect.

"There is no question of the fact that Craig never received the compensation he claimed he was entitled to, for building an extension of the wall around the Penitentiary, in the settlement made with the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, nor what he claimed was due him in consequence of the fire which occurred in the Penitentiary. My decided opinion is, that he was entitled to the amounts he claimed.

"When the settlement made by Cox and Page was rejected by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, it was stated by Governor Morehead and the Commissioners that Craig was to go to the Legislature for the relief he asked for what were stricken out of the report; that they had no power to allow them. The mistake in regard to the wall was discovered after the act of the Legislature for the benefit of Craig was passed. Craig pressed it on the Commissioners, but they refused to allow it, and said he must look to the Legislature for relief."

George W. Craddock was sworn, and testified as follows:

"The suit was in the name of the State, against Craig, for a balance of two or three thousand dollars. This suit was referred to Gen. W. Johnson, L. Hord, Jos. Belt, and myself, as arbitrators. Captain Craig set up divers claims as set-offs. The arbitrators could not agree, and Col. A. W. Dudley was selected as umpire. Finally, we agreed that each party should pay their own costs, and the suit be dismissed. To this agreement Craig objected as unjust to him, as the State was indebted to him.

"The matter of the loss by the fire in the Penitentiary—I never knew much or anything about it. In regard to the building of the stone wall, it was not embraced in the settlement. Recently, I had occasion to examine the papers in the suit brought by the State. They do not show much about what was done. The arbitration was made a sort of lumping business. Craig was not allowed for the wall; which I thought he was entitled to. The claims set up by Craig went considerably beyond what the State claimed; but I do not recollect the amount. Gen. Johnson and I agreed, and advised Craig to let the settlement stand, and look to the Legislature for what he claimed was right.

"My recollection is distinct that Craig never had any allowance made him for the building of the stone wall over and above what he had previously received; nor was anything allowed him in consequence of the burning of the Penitentiary. My impression is, that the wall and the loss by the fire were not considered by the arbitrators. Craig pressed them before us, but they were thrown out for some reason I do not now recollect."

Which were concurred in.
The Senate took up for consideration a bill to regulate the sale of tobacco at Louisville.

Together with the amendment heretofore proposed by Mr. Leslie.

Said bill reads as follows, viz:

§ 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That any person or persons now owning, or who shall hereafter own, or have a warehouse or warehouses in the city of Louisville, for the reception, storage, or sale of tobacco, shall cause the same to be constructed so as to keep safely and securely from fire, the dampness of the earth, and from the weather, all tobacco stored therein; and such houses shall, at all times, be kept open and in good repair for receiving, storing, inspecting, selling, and delivering tobacco in hogsheads.

§ 2. That the proprietor of each warehouse shall keep a well-bound book of proper size, in which shall be entered the marks, numbers, gross, tare, and net weight of each hogshead inspected and sold, together with the owner's name, and the name of the purchaser, and the price sold for per hundred pounds, and the amount each hogshead sold for, the date when sold, and collect and pay over to the planter or seller of each hogshead the sum due him. He shall make account of sales for the planter or seller, stating the number of hogsheads, gross, tare, net price per hundred, the date, and price each hogshead comes to. He shall provide, and continually keep in his warehouse, and in good order, a pair of scales of sufficient size and strength to weigh at least one ton weight, and shall have them tested at least once every year, and oftener if necessary, by the standard weights and measures. He shall provide a sufficient number of cooperers to do the coopering, and handle tobacco stored, inspected, and sold in his warehouse, and to do all things needful in receiving, storing, and selling tobacco. The said warehouse proprietor shall superintend the weighing of each hogshead of tobacco, and see that the empty cask is properly weighed, and that the proper weight, gross, tare, and numbers are marked on one of the heads of the same. They shall cause each hogshead to be uncased, and shall furnish the necessary hands to break the same. The inspectors shall then cause it to be broken in not less than three places, and oftener, should they deem it necessary; and shall draw fair samples from each hogshead of the quality thereof, and said samples shall belong to the purchaser of the hogshead.

§ 3. That the proprietor or operator of each warehouse, before he or they shall receive into such house any tobacco for the purposes aforesaid, shall enter into a covenant to the Commonwealth of Kentucky, with good security, to be approved by the mayor and city council of the city of Louisville, in the sum of ten thousand dollars, conditioned to pay over to the planter or seller the proceeds of all sales made by him for said planter or seller; and that he will, at all times, keep such house, and preserve and take such care of all tobacco received there, as this act requires, and in all things else pertaining to said warehousing act, in obedience to, and in compliance with, the law. Any person injured by a breach of said covenant may sue thereon, and have judgment for his damages. If said covenant is not given with the security aforesaid, the warehouseman is forbidden to receive upon storage, or for inspection or sale, any tobacco whatever into his said house; and if he does so, shall be fined in any sum not less than one thousand dollars, upon the indictment of a grand jury. No storage shall be charged upon any hogshed of tobacco for the first six months it lies in the warehouse; but if it remains there beyond that time, a fee of twenty cents per month thereon, may be charged on each hogshed as storage. They shall not, however, store, or be required to store, in their warehouses, to such an extent as to impede the selling or delivery of tobacco.

§ 4. That the Governor of this Commonwealth shall, on the first day of March of each year, appoint four fit and competent persons for the inspection of tobacco in the tobacco warehouses in the city of Louisville, and four competent persons for the weighing of tobacco at the said warehouses in the city of Louisville. Each of said inspectors and weighers shall hold his office one year, but may be removed at any time by the Governor. Each of said inspectors and weighers shall, before he enters upon the duties of his office, take an oath and subscribe thereto, in writing, before the clerk of the Jefferson county court, that he will honestly and faithfully, clear of the influences of favor, affection, partiality, or prejudice, execute and perform all the duties required of him by the laws of the State, as such inspector or weigher; and that he will not, directly or indirectly, during his continuance in his office, buy, sell, or incur any interest in the purchase or sale of any tobacco sold at, or to be brought to and sold at, any of said warehouses, or that has been there and sold; and shall also execute a bond before said clerk, with good security, to be approved by the clerk, in the sum of five thousand dollars, conditioned for the faithful and full performance of all his duties under the law, as such inspector or weigher; and for any injury sustained by any one on account of a breach of any of the conditions of said bond, an action shall lie, and a recovery be had thereon in his favor in any of the circuit courts of this Commonwealth.

§ 5. That it shall be the duty of said inspectors, two at least of them being together, to draw from each and every hogshed of tobacco brought into and offered at public sale in any of said houses, fair samples of the same; and, after said samples are drawn, they shall place each sample securely and neatly, so as to designate in order the breaks from which said sample was drawn. After thus tying the sample with suitable twine, and placing therein a card with printed name of the warehouse, and the number of the hogshed, the cards, wax, and twine to be furnished by the proprietor of the warehouse, they shall seal and stamp said sample with sealing-wax, a suitable seal to be furnished by said inspectors; and said inspectors shall alternate daily in the duties of sampling, tying, and sealing.

§ 6. That it shall be the duty of said weighers to attend daily, at such time as the proprietors of said warehouses may designate, and weigh all tobacco offered for sale, deducting ten pounds, and no more, for sample and waste, and, after such deduction, mark the gross weight distinctly on each head of the hogsheds. After the tobacco is placed in the break and stripped, they shall take the tare weight of each cask, and mark the same distinctly on the side. After the sale they shall personally attend the coopering of the tobacco, and see to it that all the tobacco properly belonging to each hogshead of tobacco is placed therein, and that the same is well coopered; and it shall be the duty of the proprietors of each warehouse to furnish all the best appliances known for the screwing down and securing tobacco in the cask, and all necessary facilities for coopering; and upon their failure to do so, after reasonable notice, it shall be the duty of said weighers to furnish the same at the expense of the proprietors of the warehouse failing to comply. The said weighers shall alternate daily between each of said warehouses, and perform their various duties aforesaid at such hours as the proprietors of said houses may designate. After each hogshead of tobacco has been sold and properly re-coopered, it shall again be correctly weighed by the same weigher, and this weight also distinctly marked on the head of the hogshead, using some mark to distinguish the first and second weighings. The proprietor of the warehouse shall settle with the seller according to the first weight, and with the purchaser according to the second weight, deducting the proper tare in each instance. No owner of tobacco, when the same is cried off at auction in any of said houses, shall be compelled to abide the sale, but shall have the right, at the time it is cried off, to accept it as a sale or reject it. If he rejects the sale, however, he will be bound for the fees and charges as if the sale was accepted; and a lien is hereby given to the proprietors of the warehouse, and the inspectors and weighers, on all tobacco and proceeds, for their fees and charges on the same.

§ 7. That said proprietors of said warehouses shall be allowed to charge, collect, and receive, as compensation for receiving, storing, and selling said tobacco, and receiving and paying over the proceeds to the owner, three dollars and fifty cents on each hogshead, and no more, one half to be paid by the seller, and the other half by the purchaser; and said inspectors and weighers shall be entitled to receive, for each hogshead of tobacco inspected and weighed, forty cents, and no more, which shall be equally divided between them, one half to be paid by the seller, and one half by the purchaser.

§ 8. That the duties fixed and imposed by this act upon said inspectors and weighers of tobacco shall be performed by them in person; and any inspector or weigher of tobacco who shall fail to be present in person, and attend to and perform the duties assigned him under this act, for more than one day at a time, except in case of sickness with himself or family, shall be subject to removal from his said office.

§ 9. That it shall not be lawful for any proprietor of any one of said warehouses, or any one who has any interest therein, whether directly or indirectly, or either of said inspectors or weighers, to buy or sell any tobacco brought to or sold, or offered to be sold, at any of said houses, or which has been sold or offered for sale in that market, or which shall be brought there for sale; nor shall said proprietors, or any one interested in the business of either of said houses, or said inspectors or weighers, be interested as co-partners, or otherwise, with any person or persons in the sale or purchase, or in handling, in any
The weight of any tobacco which shall be brought to that market, or which shall be there, or which has been there; and any one violating these provisions of this act, shall be subject to indictment of the grand jury, and fined not less than one thousand dollars for each offense, one half of which shall go to the Commonwealth, and the other to the informer.

§ 10. That all laws in this State in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed; and all laws allowing any further, greater, or additional fees and charges to be made upon tobacco received, inspected, or sold at said warehouses, are hereby repealed.

§ 11. This act to take effect from its passage.

The amendment proposed by Mr. Leslie reads as follows, viz:

Provided, however, if, at any time, any of said inspectors or weighers shall be absent from said warehouses when tobacco is to be inspected or weighed, it shall be the duty of the warehouseman to appoint an alternate to do such inspection or weighing during such absence; and the alternate so appointed and doing the work shall receive and be entitled to the fees for such inspection and weighing, and it shall be paid to him instead of the regular inspector or weigher; and the said regular weighers and inspectors shall not receive any fees or compensation upon any hogshead of tobacco except those actually inspected and weighed by them; but before such alternate, appointed as aforesaid, shall proceed to the duties of inspection or weighing, he shall take and subscribe the same oath required of the regular inspectors and weighers, which shall be filed in the clerk's office aforesaid; and for a violation of that oath by him, or for a violation of the oath aforesaid of any inspector or weigher, he or they shall be subject to all the pains and penalties denounced against perjury and false swearing.

The question was then taken on the adoption of said amendment, and it was decided in the affirmative.

The yeas and nays being required thereon by Messrs. Leslie and Chandler, were as follows, viz:

Mr. Lindsay then proposed to amend the bill as follows, viz:

Strike out all after the enacting clause and insert—

§ 1. That the proprietors of the tobacco warehouses in the city of Louisville shall be allowed to collect and receive as compensation for receiving, storing, coopering, and selling each hogshead of tobacco, the sum of twenty-two and one half cents on each one hundred pounds of tobacco therein contained up to fifteen hundred pounds, and ten cents on each one hundred pounds exceeding such amount, one half to be paid by the seller, and one half by the buyer; and for collecting and paying over the proceeds of tobacco, said proprietors may charge not exceeding one per cent on the amount so collected and paid over.

§ 2. That in case either of the inspectors or weighers of tobacco in said city shall fail to discharge the duties imposed upon him by law, except when prevented by the sickness of himself or family, he shall forfeit his right to the fees allowed by law during the time he is so absent; and in case either of such inspectors or weighers shall, without such reason, fail for five days in any one month to discharge his said duties, he may be fined ten dollars for each day he so fails, to be entered by proceeding under indictment in the Jefferson circuit court, and shall be liable on his bond to the seller or buyer of tobacco, or to the warehouseman for any damages they, or either of them, may sustain by reason of his said failure.

§ 3. This act shall take effect from its passage.

The Senate took up for consideration a resolution, entitled Resolution to test the constitutionality of a certain congressional enactment therein named and jurisdiction of the United States courts thereunder.

Said resolution reads as follows, viz:

WHEREAS, The United States courts and authorities claim and exercise the power to arrest and imprison, and the jurisdiction to try and punish, the citizens of this Commonwealth, under an act of Congress, entitled "An act to protect all persons in the United States in their civil rights, and furnish the means of their vindication," and passed 9th day of April, 1866; and whereas, said courts have, in several instances, tried and convicted citizens of this Commonwealth for alleged crimes and offenses charged to have been committed in violation of the State laws only, and exclusively cognizable by the State courts; and whereas, it is believed by the General Assembly of this Commonwealth that said act of Congress is unconstitutional and void, and that the Federal Court in Kentucky has no jurisdiction to try alleged offenders charged alone with a violation of the criminal or penal laws of this Commonwealth, and that said act is not applicable to such cases; therefore, be it, Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That the Governor of this Commonwealth be, and hereby is, authorized and requested to immediately take such steps as he may deem proper and necessary to test and determine if said act be constitutional; and whether, under it, the Federal Court in Kentucky can rightfully assume jurisdiction to try persons charged alone with a violation of the criminal or penal laws of Kentucky; and, to that end, he may employ counsel, and do such other acts as he may deem necessary to accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution; and, to meet the necessary expenses, he is authorized to make his requisition upon the Auditor, who shall draw his warrant upon the Treasury for whatever sum may be incurred by him for said purpose.

The select committee, to whom was referred a bill to regulate the sale of tobacco at Louisville,

Together with the pending amendments,

Reported the same, with sundry amendments thereto.

Said bill, as amended, reads as follows, viz:

§ 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That any person or persons now owning, or who shall hereafter own, or have a warehouse or warehouses in the city of Louisville, for the reception, storage, or sale of tobacco, shall cause the same to be constructed so as to keep safely and securely from fire, the dampness of the earth, and from the weather, all tobacco stored therein; and such houses shall, at all times, be kept open and in good repair for receiving, storing, inspecting, selling, and delivering tobacco in hogsheads.

of sales for the planter or seller, stating the number of hogsheads, gross, tare, net price per hundred, the date, and price each hogshead comes to. He shall provide, and continually keep in his warehouse, and in good order, a pair of scales of sufficient size and strength to weigh at least one ton weight, and shall have them tested at least once every year, and oftener if necessary, by the standard weights and measures. He shall provide a sufficient number of cooper to do the coopering, and handle tobacco stored, inspected, and sold in his warehouse, and to do all things needful in receiving, storing, and selling tobacco. The said warehouse proprietor shall superintend the weighing of each hogshead of tobacco, and see that the empty hogshead is properly weighed, and that the proper weight, gross, tare, and numbers are marked on one of the heads of the same. They shall cause each hogshead to be uncased, and shall furnish the necessary hands to break the same. The inspectors shall then cause it to be broken in not less than three places, and oftener, should they deem it necessary; and shall draw fair samples from each hogshead of the quality thereof, and said samples shall belong to the purchaser of the hogshead.

§ 3. That the proprietor or operator of each warehouse, before he or they shall receive into such house any tobacco for the purposes aforesaid, shall enter into a covenant with the Commonwealth of Kentucky, with good security, to be approved by the mayor and city council of the city of Louisville, in the sum of ten thousand dollars, conditioned to pay over to the planter or seller the proceeds of all sales made by him for said planter or seller; and that he will, at all times, keep such house, and preserve and take proper care of tobacco received there, as this act requires, and in all things pertaining to said warehousing act, in obedience to, and in compliance with, the law. Any person injured by a breach of said covenant may sue thereon, and have judgment for his damages. If said covenant is not given with the security aforesaid, the warehouseman is forbidden to receive upon storage, or for inspection or sale, any tobacco whatever into his said house; and if he does so, shall be fined in any sum not less than one thousand dollars, upon the indictment of a grand jury. No storage shall be charged upon any hogshead of tobacco for the first six months it lies in the warehouse; but if it remains there beyond that time, a fee of twenty cents per month thereafter may be charged on each hogshead as storage. They shall not, however, store, or be required to store, in their warehouses, to such an extent as to impede the selling or delivery of tobacco.

§ 4. That the Governor of this Commonwealth shall, on the first day of March of each year, appoint four fit and competent persons for the inspection of tobacco in the tobacco warehouses in the city of Louisville, and four competent persons for the weighing of tobacco at the said warehouses in the city of Louisville. Each of said inspectors and weighers shall hold his office one year, but may be removed at any time by the Governor. Each of said inspectors and weighers shall, before he enters upon the duties of his office, take an oath and subscribe thereto, in writing, before the clerk of the Jefferson county court, that he will honestly and faithfully, clear of the influences of favor, affection, partiality, or prejudice, execute and perform all the duties required of him by the laws of the State, as such inspector or weigher; and that he will not, directly or indirectly, during his continuance in his office, buy, sell, or in any way be interested in the purchase or sale of any tobacco sold at, or to be brought to and sold at, any of said warehouses, or that has been there and sold; and shall also execute a bond before said clerk, with good security, to be approved by the clerk, in the sum of five thousand dollars, conditioned for the faithful and full performance of all his duties under the law, as such inspector or weigher; and for any injury sustained by any one on account of a breach of any of the conditions of said bond, an action shall lie, and a recovery he had thereon in his favor in any of the circuit courts of this Commonwealth.

§ 5. That it shall be the duty of said inspectors, two at least of them being together, to draw from each and every hoghead of tobacco brought into and offered at public sale in any of said houses, fair samples of the same; and, after said samples are drawn, they shall tie each sample securely and neatly, so as to designate in order the breaks from which said sample was drawn. After thus tying the sample with suitable twine, and placing thereon a card with printed name of the warehouse, and the number of the hoghead, the cards, wax, and twine to be furnished by the proprietor of the warehouse, they shall seal and stamp said sample with sealing-wax, a suitable seal to be furnished by said inspectors; and said inspectors shall alternate daily in the duties of sampling, tying, and sealing.

§ 6. That it shall be the duty of said weighers to attend daily, at such time as the proprietors of said warehouses may designate, and weigh all tobacco offered for sale, deducting ten pounds, and no more, for sample and waste, and, after such deduction, mark the gross weight distinctly on one head of the hoghead. After the tobacco is placed in the break and stripped, they shall take the tare weight of each cask, and mark the same distinctly on the side. After the sale, they shall personally attend the cooping of the tobacco, and see to it that all the tobacco properly belonging to each hoghead of tobacco is placed therein, and that the same is well cooped; and it shall be the duty of the proprietors of each warehouse to furnish all the best appliances known for the screwing down and securing tobacco in the cask, and all necessary facilities for cooeping; and upon their failure to do so, after reasonable notice, it shall be the duty of said weighers to furnish the same at the expense of the proprietors of the warehouse failing to comply. The said weighers shall alternate daily between each said warehouses, and perform their various duties aforesaid at such hours as the proprietors of said houses may designate. After each hog-head of tobacco has been sold and properly re-cooped, it shall again be correctly weighed by the same weigher, and this weight also distinctly marked on the head of the hoghead, using some mark to distinguish the first and second weighings. The proprietor of the warehouse shall settle with the seller according to the first weight, and with the purchaser according to the second weight deducting the proper tare in each instance. No owner of tobacco, when the same is cried off at auction in any of said houses, shall be compelled to abide the sale, but shall have the right, at the time it is cried off, to accept it as a sale or reject it. If he rejects the sale, however, he will be bound for the fees and charges as if the sale was accepted; and a lien is hereby given to the proprietors of the warehouse, and the inspectors and weighers, on all tobacco and proceeds, for their fees and charges on the same.

§ 7. That said proprietors of said warehouses shall be allowed to charge, collect, and receive, as compensation for receiving, storing, and selling said tobacco, and receiving and paying over the proceeds to the owner, three dollars and fifty cents on each hogshead, and to more, one half to be paid by the seller, and the other half by the purchaser; and said inspectors and weighers shall be entitled to receive, for each hogshead of tobacco inspected and weighed, forty cents, and no more, which shall be equally divided between them, one half to be paid by the seller, and one half by the purchaser.

§ 8. § 2. This act shall take effect from its passage.

The amendment proposed by the committee reads as follows, viz:

Whereas, Judgment was rendered by the Franklin circuit court against A. W. Nickell and his securities for the revenue of 1866, besides cost and damages, due from him as sheriff of Johnson county; and whereas, execution issued upon said judgment, which was levied upon certain lands of said Nickell and his securities, situated in said county, which were afterwards sold by the sheriff of Floyd county, and were bid for by the State of Kentucky by her agent, but at prices less than two thirds of their value; the sales, however, amounted to a sufficiency to finish paying off said execution; and it is now represented that the defendants, whose said lands were sold, contemplate redeeming them before the one year expires from the day of sale;
therefore,

§ 1. It is enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That, in the event that said sheriff, Nickell, or any of his securities, shall pay into the Treasury the principal, interest, cost, Attorney General's fees, and all other costs and charges to which the State has or may be subjected on account of said failure to pay said revenue, on or before the first day of October, 1809, then all the balance of the damages in said execution is to stand released and forever remitted; and the Auditor is directed to settle with said parties accordingly.

§ 2. This act to take effect from its passage.

The question was then taken on the adoption of the amendment proposed by the committee, and it was decided in the affirmative.

To the Senate of Kentucky:

It is due to the Southern Life Insurance Company to state, that the comments of your committee in their recent report upon the condition of said company were based upon the sworn answers of Mr. E. T. Hopkins, the Secretary of the Kentucky Department, to the interrogatories propounded by your committee, as published in said report. We are now satisfied that our report did that company injustice. We had furnished Mr. Hopkins with blank forms for said company to make a report of its condition several months before the assembling of the present session of the General Assembly, and we are now satisfied that the Chief Secretary of said company had made out a report of its condition in accordance with the requirements of your committee, and the same had been forwarded to Mr. Hopkins to be delivered to us; but, for some cause to us unknown, the said statement was never delivered. Since our report said statement has been furnished to us by Mr. May, Secretary of the Memphis Department, and Gen. Gordon, President of the Atlanta Department, and said statement, in a condensed form, will follow this supplementary report. It will be observed that this statement exhibits said company to be in a sound condition. It affords us pleasure, in view of the facts now before us, to make this public reparation to said company.

Together with the amendment proposed by Mr. Turner.

The amendment proposed by the committee as a substitute for said bill reads as follows, viz:

§ 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That hereafter any number of persons, not less than twelve, may associate to form an insurance company for any other purpose than life insurance; they shall publish a notice of such intention once in each week for at least four weeks, in a public newspaper in the county in which such insurance company is proposed to be located, and shall, also, under their hands and seals, make a certificate specifying the name assumed by such company and by which it shall be known, the object for which said company shall be formed, the amount of its capital stock, and the place where the principal office of said company shall be located, which certificate shall be acknowledged, certified, and forwarded to the Auditor, who shall submit the same to the Attorney General for examination; and if found by him to be in accordance with the provisions of this act, and not inconsistent with the Constitution and laws of this State and of the United States, he shall certify the same and deliver it back to the said Auditor, who shall have the right to reject any name or title of any company applied for, when he shall deem the name too similar to one already appropriated, or likely to mislead the public.

§ 2. Upon the approval of said certificate by the Attorney General and the Auditor, the said Auditor shall cause it to be recorded in a book to be kept for the purpose; and said persons, when incorporated, and having in all respects complied with the provisions of this act, are hereby authorized to carry on the business of insurance, as named in said certificate of incorporation; and by the name and style provided therein, shall be deemed a body corporate, with succession; they and their associates, successors, and assigns, to have the same general corporate powers, and be subject to all the obligations and restrictions of this act.

§ 3. No joint stock company shall be incorporated under this act with a smaller capital than one hundred thousand dollars nor more than one million dollars, as may be specified in the certificate of incorporation, which stock shall be divided into shares of one hundred dollars each; nor shall any company, on the plan of mutual insurance, commence business in this State until agreements have been entered into for insurance, with at least two hundred applicants, the premiums on which shall amount to not less than fifty thousand dollars, of which at least twenty-five thousand dollars shall have been paid in cash, and notes of solvent parties, founded on actual and bona fide applications for insurance, shall have been received for the remainder. No one of the notes received as aforesaid shall amount to more than five hundred dollars, and no two shall be given for the same risk, or be made by the same person or firm, except where the whole amount of such notes shall not exceed five hundred dollars; nor shall any note be represented as capital stock unless a policy be issued upon the same within thirty days after the organization of the company, upon a risk which shall be for no shorter period than twelve months. Each of said notes shall be payable in full or in part, at any time when the directors shall deem the same requisite for the payment of losses by fire or inland navigation, and such incidental expenses as may be necessary for transacting the business of said company. And no note shall be accepted as part of such capital stock, unless the same shall be accompanied by a certificate of a justice of the peace of the town or city where the person making such note shall reside, that the person making the same is, in his opinion, peculiarly good and responsible for the same; and no such note shall be surrendered during the life of the policy for which it was given.

§ 4. Having published the notice and filed publisher's proof of such publication with the Auditor, together with the certificate as required by the first section of this act, the persons named in the certificate of incorporation, or a majority of them, shall be commissioners to open books for the subscription of stock in the company, at such times and places as they shall deem convenient and proper, and shall keep the same open until the full amount specified in the certificate is subscribed; or, in case the business of such company is proposed to be conducted on the plan of mutual insurance, then open books to receive propositions and enter into agreements in the manner and to the extent specified in the third section of this act.

§ 5. The affairs of any company organized under this act shall be managed by not more than twenty-one nor less than five directors, all of whom shall be stockholders. Within one month after the subscription books shall have been filed, a majority of the subscribers shall hold a meeting for the election of directors, each share entitling the holder thereof to one vote; and the directors then elected shall continue in office until the first or third Monday in January thereafter, as the by-laws of the company may direct, and until others have been chosen to succeed them in the trust, and have accepted the same.

§ 6. It shall be lawful for any insurance company organized under this act, or incorporated under any law of this State, to invest its capital and the funds accumulated in the course of its business, or any part thereof, in bonds and mortgages, or deeds of trust or unencumbered improved real estate within the State of Kentucky, worth fifty per cent. more than the sum loaned thereon, exclusive of buildings, unless such buildings are insured, and the policy transferred to said company; and also in the stocks of this State, or stocks or treasury notes of the United States; and also in the stocks and bonds of any county or incorporated city in this State, authorized to be issued by the Legislature, and to lend the same, or any part thereof, on the security of such stocks or bonds, or treasury notes, or upon bonds and mortgages and deeds of trust, as it may determine; and to change and reinvest the same as occasion may, from time to time, require; but any surplus money over and above the capital stock of any such insurance companies, or any insurance companies incorporated under any law of this State, may be invested in or loaned upon the pledge of the public stock or bonds of the United States, or any one of the States, or the stocks, bonds, or other evidences of indebtedness of any solvent insurance company, or companies incorporated under the laws of this State, or of any other of the States of the United States, except their own stock; Provided always, That the current market value of such stocks, bonds, or other evidences of indebtedness, shall be at all times, during the continuance of such loans, at least ten per cent, more than the sum loaned thereon; and any such company may sell and convey the same in accordance with any agreement made and entered into, in writing, between any such company and the party making the pledge of such securities.

§ 7. Upon receiving notification that the proceedings required by the sections foregoing have been had, the Auditor shall cause an examination to be made, either by himself or by some disinterested person, specially appointed by him for that purpose, who shall certify under oath the capital herein required of the company named, according to the nature of the business proposed to be transacted by such company, has been paid in, and is possessed by it in money, or in such stocks and bonds and mortgages as are required by the sixth section of this act; or if a mutual company, that it has received, and is in actual possession of, the capital, premiums, or bona fide engagements of insurance, or other securities, as the case may be, to the extent and value required by the sixth section of this act; and the name and residence of the maker of each premium note forming part of the capital, and the amount of such note, shall be returned to the said Auditor; and the corporators or officers of such company shall be required to certify, under oath, that the capital exhibited to those persons is bona fide property of the company. Such certificates shall be filed in the office of the said Auditor, who shall thereupon deliver to such company a certified copy of said certificates, which, on being placed on record in the office of the clerk of the county court where the company is to be located, by the said clerk, in a book provided for that purpose by him, shall be their authority to commence business and issue policies; and such certified copy of said certificates may be used in evidence for or against said company, with the same effect as the originals.

§ 8. It shall be lawful for any company organized under this act, first, to insure houses, buildings, and all other kinds of property, against loss or damage by fire, in and out of the State; and to make all kinds of insurance on goods, merchandise, and other property, in the course of transportation, whether on land or water, or on any vessel or boat, wherever the same may be; second, to make insurance upon the health of individuals, and against personal injury, disablement, or death, resulting from traveling or general accidents by land or water; third, to insure the fidelity of persons holding places of public or private trust; fourth, to receive on deposit and insure the safe-keeping of books, papers, money, stocks, bonds, and all kinds of personal property; fifth, to insure horses, cattle, and other live stock, against loss or damage by accident, theft, or death, or any unknown or contingent event whatever, which may be the subject of legal insurance; to lend money on bottomry or respondentia, and to cause itself to be insured against any loss or risk it may have incurred in the course of its business, and upon the interest which it may have in any property by means of any loan or loans which it may have made on mortgage, bottomry, or respondentia, and generally to do and perform all other matters and things proper to promote these objects: Provided, That no company shall be organized to issue policies of insurance for more than one of the above five mentioned purposes; and no company that shall have been organized for either of said purposes, shall issue policies of insurance for any other; and no company organized under this act, or transacting business in this State, shall expose itself to loss on any one risk or hazard, to an amount exceeding twenty per cent. of its paid up capital, unless the excess shall be reinsured by the same in some good and reliable company: And provided, That the restriction as to amount of risk any company shall assume, shall not apply to companies organized to guarantee the fidelity of persons in places of public or private trust, nor to companies that receive on deposit and guarantee the safe-keeping of books, papers, money, and other personal property.

§ 9. The annual meeting for the election of directors shall be held on the first or third Monday in January, as the by-laws of the company may direct: Provided, however, That if, for any cause, the stockholders shall fail to elect directors at any annual meeting, they may hold a special meeting on some subsequent day for the purpose, by giving notice thereof thirty days in some newspaper in general circulation in the county where the principal office of the company shall be kept; and the directors chosen at any such annual or special meeting shall continue in office until the next annual meeting, and until their successors duly elected shall have accepted.

§ 10. The directors shall choose a president from their own number, and shall fill all vacancies that may arise in the board or in the presidency thereof; and the board of directors thus constituted, or a majority of them, when convened at the office of the company, shall be competent to exercise all the powers vested in them by this act.

§ 11. The directors of any such company shall have power to appoint a secretary, and any other officers or agents necessary for transacting the business of the company, paying such salaries, and taking such securities as they may judge reasonable; they may ordain and establish by-laws and regulations not inconsistent with this act, or with the Constitution and laws of this State and of the United States, as shall appear to them necessary for regulating and conducting the business of the company; and it shall be their duty to keep full and correct entries of their transactions, which shall at all times be open to the inspection of the stockholders.

§ 12. All policies or contracts of insurance made or entered into by the company, may be made, either with or without the seal thereof; they shall be subscribed by the president or such other officer as may be designated by the directors for that purpose, and shall be attested by the secretary, and being so subscribed and attested, they shall be obligatory on the company.

§ 13. Transfers of stock may be made by any shareholder, or his legal representative, subject to such restrictions as the directors shall, from time to time, make and establish in their by-laws, except as provided in sections thirty-one and thirty-two of this act.

§ 14. That whenever any company organized under this act, with less than the maximum capital limited in section three, shall, in the opinion of the directors thereof, require an increased amount of capital, they shall, if authorized by the holders of a majority of the stock, file with the Auditor of State a certificate setting forth the amount of such desired increase, not exceeding said maximum, and thereafter such company shall be entitled to have the increased amount of capital fixed by said certificate; and the examination of securities composing the capital stock thus increased, shall be made in the same manner as is provided in section seven of this act, for capital stock originally paid in.

§ 15. It shall not be lawful for the directors, trustees, or managers of any insurance company to make any dividend, except from the surplus profits arising from their business; and in estimating such profits there shall be reserved therefrom a sum equal to fifty per cent. of the amount received for premiums on unexpired risks and policies, which are hereby declared to be unearned premiums; and also, there shall be reserved all sums due the corporation on bonds and mortgages, bonds, stocks, and book accounts, or other securities, of which no part of the principal or interest thereon has been paid during the last year, and for which foreclosure or suit has not been commenced for collection, or which, after judgment obtained thereon, shall have remained more than two years unsatisfied, and on which interest shall not have been paid; and also, there shall be reserved all interest due or accruing, and remaining unpaid. Any dividend made contrary to these provisions shall subject the company making the same to a forfeiture of its charter to be enforced by a proceeding in the nature of a quo warranto, which shall be prosecuted by the attorney for the Commonwealth in any county in which said company has an office or transacts business.

§ 16. No company organized under this act shall purchase, hold, or convey, real estate, excepting for the purposes and in the manner herein set forth, to-wit:

1. Such as shall be requisite for its convenient accommodation in the transaction of its business; or,
2. Such as shall have been mortgaged to it in good faith, or conveyed by deed of trust, by way of security for loans previously contracted, or for money due; or,
3. Such as shall have been conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in their legitimate business, or for money due; or,
4. Such as shall have been purchased at sales upon judgment, decree, or mortgage, or deed of trust obtained or made for such debts; and it shall not be lawful for any such company to purchase, hold, or convey real estate in any other case, or for any other purposes; and all such real estate as may be acquired as aforesaid, and which shall not be necessary for the accommodation of such company in the transaction of its business, shall be sold and disposed of within five years after such company shall have acquired title thereto, unless the company shall procure a certificate from the Auditor that the interests of the company will suffer materially by a forced sale thereof, in which event the sale may be postponed for such period as the said Auditor shall direct in said certificate.

§ 17. All notes deposited with any mutual insurance company at the time of its organization, as provided in section three, shall remain as security for all losses and claims until the accumulation of the profits, invested as required by the sixth section of this act, shall equal the amount of cash capital required to be possessed by stock companies organized under this act, the liability of each note decreasing proportionately as the profits are accumulated; but any note which may have been deposited with any mutual insurance company, subsequent to its organization, in addition to the cash premium on any insurance effected with such company, may, at the expiration of the time of such insurance, be relinquished and given up to the maker thereof, or his representative, upon his paying his proportion of losses and expenses which may have accrued thereon during such term. The directors or trustees of any such company shall have the right to determine the amount of the note to be given in addition to the cash premium by any person insured in such company; but in no case shall the note be more than four times the whole amount of the cash premium. And every person effecting insurance in any mutual company, and also their heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns, continuing to be so insured, shall thereby become members of said corporation during the period of insurance, and shall be bound to pay for losses and such necessary expenses as aforesaid, accruing in and to said company, in proportion to the amount of his deposit note or notes. The directors shall, as often as they deem necessary, after receiving notice of any loss or damage by fire sustained by any member, and ascertaining the same, or after the rendition of any judgment against said company for loss or damage, settle and determine the sums to be paid by the several members thereof as their respective portion of such loss, and publish the same in such manner as they shall see fit, or as the by-laws shall have prescribed; and the sum to be paid by each member shall always be in proportion to the original amount of his deposit note or notes, and shall be paid to the officers of the company within thirty days next after the publication of said notice. And any member shall, for the space of thirty days after the publication of said notice, and after personal demand for payment shall have been made, neglect or refuse to pay the sum assessed upon him as his proportion of any loss as aforesaid, in such case the directors may sue for and recover the whole amount of his deposit note or notes, with cost of suit; but execution shall only issue for assessments and costs as they accrue, and every such execution shall be accompanied by a list of losses for which the assessment is made. If the whole amount of deposit notes shall be insufficient to pay the loss occasioned by any fire or fires, in such case the sufferers insured by the said company shall receive, toward making good their respective losses, a proportional share of the whole amount of said notes, according to the sums by them respectively insured; but no member shall ever be required to pay, for any loss occasioned by fire or inland navigation, more than the whole amount of his deposit note.

§ 18. Every insurance company hereafter organized as provided in this act shall, if it be a mutual company, embody the word "mutual" in its title, which shall appear upon the first page of every policy and renewal receipt; and every company doing business as a cash stock company shall, upon the face of its policy, in some suitable manner, express that such policy is a stock policy. § 22. It shall be the duty of the Auditor to cause to be prepared and furnished to each of the companies, and to the attorneys or agents of companies incorporated by other States and foreign governments, printed forms of the statements required by this act; and he may, from time to time, make such changes in the form of such statements as shall seem to him best adapted to elicit from the companies a true exhibit of their condition in respect to the several points hereinbefore enumerated.

§ 23. It shall be the duty of the Auditor to cause the information contained in the statements required by the foregoing section to be arranged in a tabular form, and prepare the same in a single document for printing, including a report of the receipts and expenditures of his office in this department during the year. Auditor a written instrument, duly signed and sealed, appointing an attorney for such company in the county in this State in which the principal office or agency of such company is located, to acknowledge service of process for and in behalf of such company in this State, consenting that service of process, mesne or final, upon any such attorney, shall be taken and held to be as valid as if served upon the company according to the laws of this or any other State, and waiving all claim or right of error by reason of such acknowledgment or service; and also a certified copy of their charter or deed of settlement, together with a statement, under the oath of the president or vice president, or other chief officer, and the secretary of the company, for which he or they may act, stating the name of the company and place where located; the amount of its capital, with a detailed statement of the facts and items as required from companies organized under the laws of this State, as per section nineteen; also a copy of the last annual report, if any, made under any law of the State by which such company was incorporated; and no agent shall be allowed to transact business for any company whose capital is impaired to the extent of twenty per cent, thereof, while such deficiency shall continue: Provided, That no agent of such company authorized to effect or procure insurance shall be appointed attorney, as aforesaid, for any such company; and service of process upon such attorney in any county in this State shall be deemed good and valid, and authorize a trial of the cause in the court whence such process issued.

§ 23. Before the Auditor shall issue license to any agent of any insurance company incorporated by any foreign government, or any association or partnership acting under the laws of any foreign government, there shall be filed in his office a statement setting forth the act of incorporation or the articles of association, or by laws under which they act, and setting forth the matters required by the preceding section of this act to be specified; and satisfactory evidence shall be furnished to the Auditor that such company has on deposit in the United States, for the protection of its policy-holders who are residents of the United States, the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, invested in the bonds of some one or more of the States or of the United States, or in some safe dividend-paying stocks in the United States, or in mortgages upon improved real estate, worth fifty per cent. more than the sum loaned thereon, which statement shall be verified by the oath of the president of such company, its general agent in the United States, or the agent applying for such license; and, upon due filing of such statement and furnishing the Auditor with satisfactory evidence of such deposit or investment, it shall be his duty to issue license to the agent or agents applying for the same: Provided, however, That the current market value of such deposits or investments shall not at any time be less than two hundred thousand dollars.

§ 24. The statements and evidences of investment required of foreign companies, as above, shall be renewed from year to year, in such manner and form as may be required by said Auditor, with an additional statement of the amount of premiums received and losses incurred in this State during the preceding year; so long as such agency continues; and the said Auditor, on being satisfied that the capital, securities, and investments remain secure, as hereinbefore provided, shall furnish a renewal of his certificate, as aforesaid, and the agent or agents obtaining such certificate shall cause the same to be recorded in the office of the clerk of the county in which such agency shall be established within the month of January. But any company organized under or incorporated by any foreign government may furnish and file such annual statements and evi-

§ 27. Any violation of any of the provisions of the foregoing sections relating to foreign companies shall subject the party violating to a penalty of five hundred dollars for each violation, and of the additional sum of five hundred dollars for each month during which any such agent shall neglect to file such affidavits and statements as are herein required. Every agent of any insurance company shall, in all advertisements of such agency, publish the location of the company, giving the name of the city, town, or village, in which the company is located, and the State or government under the laws of which it is organized. The term agent or agents, used in the foregoing sections, shall include an acknowledged agent or surveyor, or any other person or persons, who shall, in any manner, directly or indirectly, aid in transacting the insurance business of any insurance company not incorporated by the laws of this State. The provisions of the foregoing sections shall apply to all foreign companies, partnerships, associations, and individuals, whether incorporated or not.

§ 28. In case of neglect or refusal to make such annual statement, as aforesaid, all persons acting in this State as agents, or otherwise in transacting the business of insurance for said companies, corporations, associations, partnerships, or individuals, shall be subject to the same penalties provided by law in case of the failure of any insurance company, organized under the laws of this State, to make an annual statement as now provided by law; and, in addition thereto, shall be liable to indictment in any court of competent jurisdiction; and, upon conviction, shall be confined in the penitentiary for not less than six nor more than twelve months, at the discretion of the jury.

§ 29. It shall be the duty of the Auditor, whenever he shall deem it expedient so to do, at his option, to appoint one or more persons, not officers of any insurance company doing business in this State, who, before entering upon the discharge of the duty, shall take an oath to perform faithfully and impartially the business with which they are charged, to examine into the affairs of any insurance company incorporated in this State, or doing business by its agents in this State, or to make such examination himself; and it shall be the duty of the officers or agents of such company doing business in this State to cause their books to be opened for the inspection of the Auditor, or the person or persons so appointed, and otherwise to facilitate such examination so far as it may be in their power to do; and for that purpose the said Auditor, or person or persons so appointed by him, shall have power to examine, under oath, the officers and agents of any company relative to the business of said company; and whenever the said Auditor shall deem it for the interest of the public so to do, he shall publish the result of such investigation in one or more papers in this State; and whenever it shall appear to the said Auditor, from such examination, that the assets of any company incorporated in this State are reduced more than twenty per cent. below the capital stock required by this act, or its charter, he may direct the officers thereof to require the stockholders to pay in the amount of such deficiency.
within such period as he may designate in such requisition, not exceeding ninety days, or he shall communicate the fact to the Attorney General, whose duty it shall then become to apply to any circuit or chancery court for an order requiring them to show cause why the business of such company should not be closed, and the court shall thereupon proceed to hear the allegations and proofs of the respective parties; and in case it shall appear to the satisfaction of said court that the assets and funds of said company are not sufficient, as aforesaid, or that the interests of the public so require, the said court shall decree a dissolution of said company and distribution of its effects. The court shall have power to refer the application of the Attorney General to a referee, to inquire into and report upon the facts stated therein.

§ 30. Any company receiving the aforesaid requisition from the said Auditor, shall forthwith call upon its stockholders for such amounts as will make its capital equal to the amount fixed by the charter of said company; and in case any stockholder of such company shall refuse or neglect to pay the amount so called for, after notice personally given or by advertisement, in such time and manner as the said Auditor shall approve, it shall be lawful for the said company to require the return of the original certificate of stock held by such stockholder, and in lieu thereof to issue new certificates for such number of shares as the said stockholder may be entitled to in the proportion that the ascertained value of the funds of the said company may be found to bear to the original capital of the said company; the value of such shares for which new certificates shall be issued to be ascertained under the direction of the said Auditor, and the company paying for the fractional parts of shares; and it shall be lawful for the directors of such company to create new stock and dispose of the same, and to issue new certificates therefore, to an amount sufficient to make up the original capital of the company. And in the event of any additional losses accruing upon new risks, taken after the expiration of the period limited by the said Auditor in the aforesaid requisition for the filling up of the deficiency in the capital of such company, and before said deficiency shall have been made up, the directors shall be individually liable to the extent thereof.

§ 31. If, upon such examination, it shall appear to the said Auditor that the assets of any company chartered on the plan of mutual insurance under this act are insufficient to justify the continuance of such company in business, it shall be his duty to proceed in relation to such company in the same manner as herein required in regard to joint stock companies; and the trustees or directors of such company are hereby made personally liable for any losses which may be sustained upon risks taken after the expiration of the period limited by the said Auditor for filling up the deficiency in the capital, and before such deficiency shall have been made up. Any transfer of the stock of any company organized under this act, made during the pending of any such investigation, shall not release the party making the transfer from his liability for losses which may have accrued previous to the transfer.

§ 32. The Auditor shall be authorized to examine into the condition and affairs of any insurance company, as provided for in this act, doing business in this State, not organized under the laws of this State, or cause such examination to be made by some person appointed by him; and whenever it shall appear to the satisfaction of said Auditor that the affairs of any such company are in an unsound condition, he shall revoke the certificates granted in behalf of such company, and cause a notification thereof to be published in one or more newspapers of general circulation.

Such penalties may also be sued for and recovered in the name of the State of Kentucky, by the Attorney General; and when sued for and collected by him, shall be paid into the State Treasury.

§ 34. Every county court clerk shall demand and receive for recording the certificates or licenses mentioned in this act the same fees that are allowed by law for recording deeds and other instruments of writing.

§ 35. Whenever the existing or future laws of any other State of the United States shall require of insurance companies incorporated by or organized under the laws of this State, and having agencies in such other States, or of the agents thereof, any deposit of securities in such State for the protection of policy-holders, or otherwise, or any payment for taxes, fines, penalties, certificates of authority, license fees, or otherwise, greater than the amount required for such purposes from similar companies of other States by the then existing laws of this State, then, and in every such case, all companies of such States establishing or having heretofore established an agency or agencies in this State shall be, and are hereby, required to make the same deposit for a like purpose with the Auditor of this State, and to pay to said Auditor for taxes, fines, penalties, certificates of authority, license fees, or otherwise, an amount equal to the amount of such charges and payments imposed by the laws of such State upon the companies of this State and the agents thereof.

§ 36. It shall be the duty of every insurance company of the kind provided for in this act, doing business in this State, organized under the laws of this State or of any other State or nation, to publish, at least once a year, in some newspaper of general circulation, in every county where such company has an agent or transacts business, a certificate from the Auditor that such company has, in all respects, complied with the laws of the State relating to insurance. Said certificate shall also contain a statement, under the oath of the president or secretary of such insurance company, of the actual amount of paid up capital, the aggregate amount of assets and liabilities at the date of such certificate, together with the aggregate income and expenditures of such company for the year preceding the date of such certificate.

§ 37. The necessary expenditure of any examination made, or ordered to be made, by the Auditor under this act, shall be certified to by him, and paid by the company examined.

§ 38. That all insurance companies doing any business provided for under section one of this act, or heretofore incorporated by the laws of this Commonwealth, are required to make all the returns and perform all the requirements of companies organized under this act, and are hereby made subject to all the penalties and are entitled to all the benefits of this act, the same as if organized thereunder: Provided, however, That where the capital stock of such companies shall consist in part of stock notes, and at least fifty per cent. of the capital stock of such company shall have been paid before the first day of July, 1869, the remainder of said notes may continue to be held until they shall be paid up by the dividends of such companies, made in accordance with the provisions of section fifteen of this act, and all such dividends shall be applied to their payment, until said stock notes are fully discharged; and it shall be the duty of the said companies to furnish to the Auditor, in connection with their annual statement, a list of said stock notes, with names of the principals and sureties, the original amounts, and the amounts remaining unpaid, with the certificate of a justice of the peace of the town or city where the persons making such notes shall reside that the persons making them are, in his opinion, peculiarly good and responsible for the same.

§ 39. That hereafter whenever any company, association, partnership, or persons, or agent, transacting the business of insurance within this Commonwealth, under authority derived from any other State or country, shall show, to the satisfaction of the Auditor, that they have made an actual and bona fide investment of the total amount of its annual net premiums received in this Commonwealth, in the bonds of this Commonwealth, or in those of some county or incorporated city of this Commonwealth, authorized by law to issue such bonds, or in the mortgage bonds of some railroad company incorporated by the laws of this Commonwealth, or in the stocks or bonds of some solvent dividend-paying institution incorporated by the laws of this Commonwealth, such company, association, partnership, person or persons, or agent, shall pay, annually, into the State Treasury, at the time required by law, a tax of two and one half per centum upon the net amount of premiums received during the year for and on account of business transacted within this Commonwealth, after deducting all losses paid during the year within this Commonwealth, and said tax shall be in lieu of the tax of five per centum upon the gross receipts now required by law of such companies, associations, partnerships, person or persons, or agents: Provided, however, That the amount of said investments shall not, at any time, be impaired or diminished by any such company, association, partnership, person or persons, or agents, transacting the business of insurance in this Commonwealth.

§ 40. The agents referred to in the foregoing sections shall, on the first Mondays of May and November, in each year, file with the clerk of the county court of the county in which he resides and transacts business, a true and correct list and statement of all such premiums received, or agreed to be received, within the six months next preceding, verified by his oath before the clerk, and pay to the clerk the tax aforesaid. The agent or person who violates any of the provisions of this and the preceding section, or fails to comply with the same, besides the amount of tax, shall forfeit and pay one thousand dollars; and the principals of such agents shall also be liable to the like penalty, and may be proceeded against by proper remedies in law or equity, whereby to secure and compel the payment of the same.

§ 41. That all insurance companies doing business in this State shall pay to the Auditor of Public Accounts, for services rendered said companies, the following fees, viz: For filing and preserving certified copy of charter, ten dollars; for filing an original or annual statement, twenty § 42. That from and after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any company or companies to make any contract or contracts, to have effect within the limits of this Commonwealth, which, singly or in the aggregate, shall grant indemnity greater than three fourths in actual value of any loss occurring by fire originating on premises occupied by or under the control of the assured person for whose benefit said insurance was made: Provided, however, If any such contract be made, it shall not be void as between the parties to the same; but the corporation or other person granting it, shall forfeit the entire premium received for the same; and in the event of loss, the insured shall forfeit one half of the indemnity collected; in either case, one half of the penalty to go to the informer, and the other half to the credit of Sinking Fund.

§ 43. That all companies, associations, partnerships, persons, or agents doing business of insurance in this Commonwealth under authority derived from any other State or foreign government shall, on the first day of July, 1869, and on the first day of January, 1870, and semiannually thereafter, return to the Auditor, verified as now required by law, a complete account of the gross premiums received by such company, association, partnership, person, or agent, since the last returns were made, and the tax on premiums hereinbefore provided for shall be paid direct into the Treasury of the Commonwealth; and hereafter no clerk of a county court shall have authority to receive or receipt for any such tax.

§ 44. That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

The sheriff shall be responsible on his official bond for moneys so collected. The moneys hereby provided to be raised shall be for the payment of the salary of the judge of the Warren court of common pleas, and shall be applied to no other purpose whatever.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
FRANKFORT, KENTUCKY,
March 10, 1869.

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives:
I herewith transmit a concurrent resolution of Congress, entitled
"A Resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States."
The direct effect of this proposed change is to subvert the structure of our federative system of government under which we have lived and been so signally blessed with happiness, prosperity, and power, during the past eighty years.
It ignores the relations which the Government of the United States and those of the separate States bear to each other.
It obliterates and destroys the division between the delegated powers vested in the Government of the United States and those vested in the respective State governments, or reserved to the people of the several States respectively.
It utterly absorbs the reserved rights of the States.
Its purpose is to annihilate the State governments. It takes from them powers expressly vested and reserved, and, by abrogating the partition of power between the Federal and State governments, whose mutual action and reaction were looked to by our fathers as checks to prevent either from encroaching on and absorbing the powers of the other, and as limitations to keep each within their proper sphere, utterly destroys the equilibrium of the entire system. The result must be that a consolidated central government, with the States as mere abject appendages, will supplant the wise and beneficent duplex system of government, formed by the Constitution of the United States in 1787.
JOURNAL OF THE SENATE.

No one can deny that the ratification of the proposed amendment is a total revolution in the character of our governmental system.

It destroys and supersedes the original sovereign power of the several States, by depriving them of rights essential to their preservation as States.

This amendment elevates the Federal government to the absolute and supreme authority in our federal system against the intention of the framers of government, against the letter and spirit of the Constitution itself, and in violation of the understanding of the people of all the States, when they ratified and adopted it.

It is an amendment which must engender excitement and passion, when the people want peace.

It involves the very existence of the State governments, by destroying powers which the States reserved as self protecting checks upon Federal usurpation.

Again, this proposed amendment is to be hastily submitted, at a period when three of the States have not been allowed by Congress to exercise any of the franchises of sovereign States, and when eight more, though nominally admitted, are still deprived of self-government, and are, at this moment, the subjects of military rule.

Above all, this amendment is sought to be ratified by Legislatures chosen by the people before this amendment had passed the Congress of the United States, and therefore, not chosen as agents, who can safely, in their action, reflect the popular will in adopting or rejecting it.

Other objections on the score of policy and justice might be urged against this measure, but I forbear! I submit, therefore, the resolution, with the full assurance that you will receive it with that calm dignity and respect which every proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States should always be received; that you will consider it with a deliberation which wisdom and its own magnitude alike exact; and that you will then act as the honor, safety, and past renown of Kentucky demand.

The present dark hour sternly requires of us all to see that we yield to no wild theory—that we attempt no rash experiment! History and experience both admonish us that a period of angry, passionate, political excitement is not a time to meddle with the limitations and checks of our fundamental law, placed there by the wisdom of our fathers as barriers against the frenzy of popular excesses.

Let us rather stand with stouter hearts than ever by the old charter of our rights!

Let us adhere to the obligations imposed by our respective representative trusts, to uphold and preserve that valued instrument in its pristine vigor and spirit, solemnly impressed that, in despite of the efforts now seeking its overthrow, and the dark shadows which, for the present, obscure it, that can never perish which truth, patriotism, and duty alike bear up.

J. W. STEVENSON.

Mr. Clarke, from the Committee on Federal Relations, to whom had been referred resolutions from the House of Representatives, entitled Resolutions in regard to the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States,

Reported the same, with the expression of opinion that said resolutions should be concurred in.

Said resolutions read as follows, viz:

WHEREAS, The Congress of the United States did, at the last session of the Fortieth Congress, propose to the Legislatures of the several States, for their ratification, the following amendment to the Constitution of the United States, to-wit:

"ARTICLE XV.

"Sec. 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any State, on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

"Sec. 2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

And whereas, the same has been officially laid before the Legislature of Kentucky for its consideration and action; therefore, be it

1. Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That said proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States be not ratified, and that the proposition to amend the Constitution of the United States, as aforesaid, be, and the same is hereby, rejected.

2. Resolved, That the Governor be requested to forward the foregoing preamble and resolution to the President and Secretary of State of the United States, and also to the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, of the Congress of the United States.
Mr. Lilly, from the Committee on Federal Relations, made a minority report.

Which report reads as follows, viz:

1. Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That said proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States be not ratified, and that the proposition to amend the Constitution of the United States as aforesaid, be, and the same is hereby, rejected.

2. Resolved, That the Governor be requested to forward the foregoing preamble and resolution to the President and Secretary of State of the United States, and also to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States.

Mr. Lilly, from the same Committee, made the following minority report, which was ordered to be printed, viz:

The undersigned, one of the Committee on Federal Relations, to whom was referred the message of the Governor, inclosing the proposed Fifteenth Article of amendment, submitted by the Fortieth Congress to the several States for their ratification or rejection, is unable to agree with a majority of the Committee, or to concur with them in their report, for the reasons herein expressed, and for others which he has not time to include in this report.

The majority report that the said Fifteenth Amendment be not ratified, &c.

This report, in the opinion of the undersigned, ought not to be adopted:

1st. Because about two hundred and fifty thousand, or one fifth of the population of this State, are denied the right of representation or the elective franchise, or a voice in choosing their rulers, and, in fact, all political and most of their civil rights; and if this condition of things continues until the year 1870, when the next census will be taken, then the State will be reduced in her representation to seven Representatives in Congress, instead of nine, the present number. Kentucky cannot afford to lose this power in Congress, or in the Electoral College. Not only will this rule apply to Kentucky, but it will apply with equal force to other States. From the nature of things, the most of the colored population will remain in the late slave States; and if this or some similar amendment is not adopted the States having such population will have less power in the Congress of the United States, and in the choice of President and Vice President.

2d. The experience of the past is sufficient to convince all candid and impartial men that the colored citizens will never be allowed to enjoy their civil rights so long as the right to vote is denied them. In proof and support of this statement, I need only refer to the recent action of this Legislature in rejecting, by an overwhelming majority, any change in our laws admitting colored citizens to testify in our courts of justice. I need only refer your honorable body to the fact that the colored citizens are now required to pay taxes and render military service, and bear all civil burdens as other citizens; to pay the same county levy that white men do—the proceeds of which are used to defray all county expenses, including the support of white paupers; and, in addition thereto, every male colored citizen, over eighteen years of age, is required to pay a special poll-tax of two dollars to support colored paupers, and if there is a surplus, then to educate their children; but it seems there is always found a way to consume the entire amount, leaving nothing for the purpose of education. They are also required to pay a tax on all their taxable property into our Common School Fund, and are not allowed to draw out a single dollar to help them educate their children. The present and all former Legislatures have failed, if not in fact refused, to pass any laws to enable the colored citizens in this Commonwealth to have any system of common schools, leaving their children to grow up without education. That whilst the virtue of all white women is well protected by stringent criminal laws, that of colored women is left without any protection whatever—not even that which is afforded our dumb brutes. Many of our beneficial statutes are limited to white persons only, while in every criminal or penal statute, colored people are included; that whilst any white person can testify against any colored person in any court in this Commonwealth, the colored citizens are excluded and denied the right to testify in our courts of justice; so that if to-day, five hundred colored citizens of good moral character, and in good standing in the Baptist Church, here in the city of Frankfort, in the capital of the State, almost within a stone’s throw of your honorable body, were assembled in their church, worshiping God according to the dictates of their conscience, and a white man, with malice in his heart, were to go there and shoot down their minister while in his pulpit, in the presence of the whole congregation, he cannot be punished by our courts for such foul murder, if there should be no white person present to testify against him—colored citizens being excluded by law from giving evidence in our courts of justice against white persons in any case. This state of things cannot exist much longer without the whole civilized world condemning us in unmeasured terms. Yet, notwithstanding this cruel cause of legislation toward a helpless and dependent class of citizens, we find a number of persons, high in authority, claiming to be Christian gentlemen, who assert that the negroes are well cared for in Kentucky, and that no further legislation is necessary to protect them in their lives, liberty, and property.

3d. Because, as matters now stand, all citizens are not equal before the law; all citizens are not protected alike. Notwithstanding thousands of colored persons have been murdered in Kentucky by white men, there is not, it is believed, a single case on record where a white man has been executed for killing a negro, and scarcely a case where any notice of it has been taken by our courts.

All men are not allowed to make for themselves a name and a fortune as our Creator intended they should be. All citizens are not allowed to enjoy their inalienable rights, and have full protection to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, or the right to enjoy the fruits of their labor. All men have not proper stimulants to industry; they have not sufficient safeguards thrown around them. Notwithstanding our State Constitution declares "that absolute, arbitrary power over the lives, liberty, and property of freemen, exists nowhere in a Republic—not even in the largest majority" (see article 13, section 2, Bill of Rights, New Constitution of Kentucky); and in the fourth section, same article, it is declared "that all power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are founded on their authority, and instituted for their peace, safety, happiness, security, and the protection of property, and they have at all times an inalienable and indefeasible right to alter, reform, or abolish their government in such manner as they may think proper"—yet these provisions of our Constitution are so construed by the dominant party in Kentucky as to include only white persons; and that the Bill of Rights does not embrace the colored people, born and raised here in our midst, who never resided elsewhere. That the expression "all men," wherever found in our organic laws, only signifies "all white men;" that our fathers, in promulgating to the world, in the Declaration of Independence, "that all men are created free and equal," only meant all Englishmen. This argument was used by some, at least by one, of the majority of this Committee.

4th. There are still other reasons why this amendment should not be rejected, viz: There are now more than thirty States in the Union, and each State attempting to regulate the elective franchise, producing great inequality in different States, so that the right of suffrage means one thing in one State, and quite a different thing in another State. Should this condition of things be allowed to continue many years longer, great troubles will grow out of it. Now, for the sake of uniformity, and that suffrage shall be substantially the same everywhere in the United States, whether North, South, East, or West, the proposed amendment ought not to be rejected. With this amendment regulating suffrage, and the Civil Rights Bill, now entirely ignored, properly enforced, our rights would be the same everywhere in the Union; and we have abundant reason to hope and believe that peace, prosperity, quiet, contentment, and happiness would attend our people, and that sobriety and Christianity would flourish, and the blessings of Heaven rest upon us.

In view of these facts, and believing that this General Assembly will not ratify the proposed Fifteenth Amendment, I recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the further consideration of the question of the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States be postponed until the meeting of the next General Assembly.

All of which is most respectfully submitted.

H. C. LILLY.

Mr. Baker moved to postpone the further consideration of the subject until 7 o'clock, P. M.

Whereas, It has been represented to the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky that Cyrus and John Carlyle, citizens of this State, under indictment for the alleged murder of T. Y. Hampton, a citizen of the State of Indiana, were tried and convicted before the Spencer county court of common pleas of that State, in June, 1867, and sentenced each to the State Prison of said State of Indiana for the term of their natural lives; and whereas, it was in proof, on said trial, that the said alleged murder was committed, if at all, near the Kentucky shore of the Ohio river; and whereas, the said case of the "State of Indiana vs. Cyrus and John Carlyle," has been prepared for appeal to, and adjudication by, the supreme court of the State of Indiana, but the defendants are unable to employ counsel to prosecute said appeal; now, disclaiming all intention or desire of unwarranted interference with the judicial proceedings or findings of the courts of a sister sovereign State, of any expression of sympathy with crime or criminals, or of endeavor to shield our citizens from the legal consequences of their own misdeeds, and of which they may have been duly convicted; but, for this single purpose, that the legal questions involved in the settlement of the case, so far as jurisdiction over offenses charged to have been committed on the Ohio river, as between this and the State of Indiana, is concerned, may be properly presented before said court on behalf of this State,

Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That the sum of $1,500 be, and the same is hereby, appropriated for Chandler, of Evansville, Indiana, be employed as counsel for the Carlyles in the said case, between whom, or such of them as may act in the above capacity, the amount of said appropriation be equally divided.

Resolved, Whenever said case is docketed for trial before the supreme court of the State of Indiana, and the said attorneys, or such of them as may appear, have presented the legal questions involved in the case, by brief or oral argument, or both, and the case has been decided by said court, upon the presentation of a certificate to that effect, signed and attested by the clerk of said court, to the Governor of this State, and by him certified to the Auditor, it shall be the duty of the Auditor to draw his warrant or warrants upon the Treasurer of the State, payable to such of the attorneys named above as may have appeared before the supreme court of Indiana as counsel for Cyrus and John Carlyle, to the extent of the appropriation made in the first section hereof.
