Dear Hazel, Dick, Bill & Larry:

If we can drag ourselves out of bed after a late night of carousing with the Canadians, we will have our Charleston board meeting at 7:30 on Friday morning. Instead of going off into splendid isolation, we shall partake of the Continental breakfast that is being laid on by one of the publishers and then depart for a meeting room that Bruce is reserving. I've just sent off the enclosed letter to the committee chairs, asking them to join us, and I shall also invite Mary Smith and Ed Edmonds, the candidates for president-elect. (Since two of you, Hazel and Dick, also chair committees, much of the information in the letter applies to you.)

Be thinking about any particular concerns that you feel should be brought up either at the board meeting or the general business meeting on Saturday morning, and let me know within about two weeks so that I can prepare the agendas.

I've asked Wes Daniels to think about hosting the 1989 meeting in Miami and shall await his reply. If he isn't interested, I have no other specific ideas. So be thinking about that matter also.

Lolly will not arrive in Charleston until about 9:30 on Thursday evening, and one of the local firm librarians is picking her up at the airport. I hope that she will be able to join us for dessert or something. She will make her AALL speech on Saturday morning at the chapter breakfast.

After the official stuff ends on Saturday evening, I'm getting up a gang for a Dutch-treat dinner at a restaurant to be determined (but for which I shall do some research and make a reservation for a large estimated number). Lolly is definitely joining the party, and I hope some of you will honor us with your presence. Let me know if you—and whatever significant others you would like to include—would like to get in on the action.

Give me a call if you can think of anything that Hazel, Bruce, or I have forgotten to provide for or that you have questions about. I'm anxious to see you all.

'Til then--

Carol
