International Programs in the University of Kentucky Libraries (UKL) officially began with August of 2010 with the appointment of a program director. The director is assisted by the International Working Group (IWG), a group of individuals from various areas in the library who have an interest in international programs and activities. For the past 6 years this group has focused on areas of concentration that were developed in consultation with the University of Kentucky International Center.

Areas of Concentration:
- Support for Externally Focused Programs
- Support for Campus Activities
- Visibility for our Existing International Collections
- Library Initiated Projects
- Intercultural Workshops for Library Staff Who Serve Our Students

This poster focuses primarily on the IWG’s support for Campus activities. A complete review of the group’s activities can be found on the UKL International Program’s webpage.

UKL International Programs takes its programming to the World. With a few exceptions all of the exhibits have a virtual presence in UKnowledge (the institutional repository) as well as on the web page. When possible, programs are also made available in UKnowledge and electronic guides are created using the libguide software. UKL has also hosted 3 international visiting scholars through its International Programs.
