Dear Sue:

Enclosed for your files is a copy of the letter I sent per your request to Dean Speller at NCCU.

Also, I recently had the opportunity to speak to NCCU Law School’s Legal Research classes on the topic “Legal Research from the Law Firm Librarian’s Perspective.” Deborah Jeffries, Law School Librarian and Course Instructor, wanted me to stress the relevance of that course to their future work as clerks and practicing attorneys.

Attending the lecture was one of the Joint Degree candidates. (NCCU offers a joint degree in Librarianship and Law). We had the opportunity to discuss law librarianship during lunch. I was pleased to be able to represent our profession and to help carry out the Publicity and Public Relations Committee’s mandate.

Perhaps the Committee in future years might like to broaden its focus, reaching out to law schools as well as library schools.

Sincerely,

Constance M. Matzen
