As a member of the Southeastern Chapter of the American Association of Law Libraries Publicity and Public Relations Committee, I have recently received some materials which may be of interest to your students.

Enclosed is an American Association of Law Libraries brochure and a law library information sheet. Many students are unaware of career opportunities in law libraries. Positions are available in small and large law firm, academic, court, corporate and government libraries. In addition, students may not know the educational requirements for law librarians. A law degree is not mandatory for all library positions.

I also have enclosed several SEALL application/brochures. Students may be "associate" members for $10/year. Because your students are in the SEALL region, we are especially interested in keeping them informed of our meetings and activities. They are welcome to attend our annual spring meeting and institute in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, March 14-16, 1991. I will send you more detailed registration information in January.

Law libraries provide challenging career opportunities for graduate library students. We are interested in attracting qualified, talented individuals into the profession. If you need additional information or brochures, please do not hesitate to let me know. In addition, I am available to speak to student groups about law librarianship.

Please post these brochures and professional descriptions for your students' information. Also, please feel free to post a copy of this letter.

Sincerely,

Constance M. Matzen
