Dear Ms. Lizotti:

I am in receipt of your letter of September 9, 1986 regarding the membership categories of the Southeastern Chapter. As you know from reading our Constitution and Bylaws, our Chapter has five categories of membership: Individual, Institutional, Associate, Life and Honorary. Dues are paid by individual, institutional, and associate members. The privileges of voting and holding office are restricted to individual and institutional members. I have spoken with a number of our present and former officers to try to determine if there had been any controversies regarding these categories. We have not been able to remember any in the past 10-15 years. I have been a chapter member since 1978 but am not certain when the provision regarding associate members was added. One of its main benefits is to be able to disseminate information on the Chapter's activities to other interested parties. Our newsletter is the only source of such information and is distributed only to members. A subscription without membership is not available.

Because our bylaws are structured so that an individual member must be employed by a law library, we would consider an independent law librarian to be an associate member.

I hope this clarifies the Chapter's policies for you. Please do not hesitate to call me if you have further questions.

Sincerely,

Hazel Johnson
