Dear Jane:

Twice I have started a letter to you in answer to your letter of July 26th and because of interruptions have been unable to finish it. We have more or less been going around in circles here trying to wind up the fiscal year and get ready for the Law Teachers' Conference.

To say that I was disappointed upon learning that you would not be present would be putting it mildly. I had really looked forward to your visit and can assure you that you would be included in the social activities just as the law teachers themselves. The fact that we find it necessary to call off our library meeting may have confused some of you, who were especially invited to the Law Teachers' Conference, concerning your status. Though we were not having our library meeting, Dean Prince was interested in having certain ones of our group here.

I think that to a certain extent you are right in your opinion concerning a southeastern Law Librarians' meeting, however, it may be that we can at least get a substantial proportion of the members to a meeting, if we find the proper time. That is something that will have to be experimented with. I quite agree that biennial meetings of AALL would answer our problem.

Thanks for suggesting that I send a notice concerning our chapter organization to THE SOUTHEASTERN LIBRARIAN. I will try to get that off as soon as possible. I also appreciate your invitation to attend the Southeastern Library Association meeting, but as you state, there isn't much of interest to Law Librarians at those meetings. I have not made a habit of attending them, so do not suppose I will begin now, however, I do appreciate your hospitality.

Hope you will try to get over to Columbia sometime in the near future. Perhaps we can arrange a weekend for a visit after the Law Teachers' Conference is behind us.

Sincerely,

Sarah Lovernette
Law Librarian.
