Dear Miss Oliver:

April 20, 1953

Although you do not require an answer to your letter of April 4 about the regular fall meeting in September at Chapel Hill, I would like to acknowledge your invitation at once. I think that such an undertaking is very worth while and will bring law librarians in closer contact with the representatives of the law schools from this region. So few of the librarians have been able to attend the mid-winter meetings of the Law School Association. It has been my experience that we librarians still have a hard job to do in selling our services and gain recognition for possible accomplishments from the administration of the law schools.

Aside from this, many good ideas beneficial to the region will result from the discussions of a comparatively small group.

At the end of this week I shall have an occasion to discuss attendance of the meeting with Janet Riley from Loyola. I am hoping that we will be able to work out a schedule which permits us to attend the meeting. I shall let you know as soon as I can whether we will be able to come. I do not believe, however, that any member of our staff will accompany me.

Sincerely,

Kate Wallach
Law Librarian
