Dear Leah:

It was good to hear from you and I appreciate your invitation to me to be program chairman for the Southeastern Chapter meeting on St. Simons Island in August this year. Due to a heavy workload and heavy commitments, I regret very much that I will be unable to do this very important job.

I think that it is good that court and bar libraries participate and this would give us a little better opportunity to participate, but the active people in the Southeastern Chapter are primarily from the law schools. For that reason, I feel that one of our outstanding law school librarians would be a logical choice. There are two that you might want to consider. These are Bill Murray at the University of Alabama and Rick Surles at the University of Tennessee. Of course, we have many other outstanding law school librarians who would do an excellent job.

Please let me know if I should be doing anything concerning the Southeastern Chapter.

Sincerely yours,

William C. Younger
