THE SUMMER SESSION IN LAW.

The University of Kentucky will continue this summer to conduct a ten weeks' session in law, beginning Monday, June 14. It is hoped that an increasing number of members of the bar may find time to attend this session as it is generally recognized that a busy practitioner does not have the opportunity in his office of making a well-rounded study of an entire branch of the law. The summer sessions in law which are now commonly given by law schools throughout the country are attracting increasing numbers of practising lawyers who recognize that growth in professional scholarship is a matter of concentrated and continued effort. Five members of the bar returned for law work last summer at the University of Kentucky, and more are expected this summer. The total attendance last year was twenty-eight.

The summer session also affords an opportunity for young men who are beginning the study of law to take up one or two fundamental courses; other courses are arranged for those who have had some law work. The list of courses and instructors for the coming session is as follows:

- Common and Statute Law: Judge Lyman Chalkley
- Civil Procedure: Judge Lyman Chalkley
- Conflict of Laws: Prof. H. J. Scarborough
- Municipal Corporations: Prof. H. J. Scarborough
- Legal Research: Prof. H. J. Scarborough
- Property I: Prof. W. Lewis Roberts
- Property II: Prof. W. Lewis Roberts
- Oil and Gas: Prof. W. Lewis Roberts
- Suretyship: Prof. W. Lewis Roberts
