A question that is often asked is, "What preparation have the students of the University of Kentucky Law College?" Another, asked almost as frequently is, "From what states do they come?" The figures given below will answer both of these questions.

The regular students number 74. Of this number, 16 have a B. S. or a B. A. degree. Of the remainder, 17 have had two years or more of college literary work. In addition to the regular students, there are 34 registered in other colleges of the University who are devoting full time to law this year, who have met the requirements for entrance as first year law students, but who are candidates for other degrees at present, and under the rules of the University cannot register in the law college. There are four special students who are not eligible for a degree.

Twenty-two colleges and universities are represented by students with pre-law credits. Eleven of these schools are outside of Kentucky.

The colleges represented and the number from each are as follows: Berea College 3, Bethel College 1, Brennan College 1, Centre College 4, Eastern Kentucky State Normal 3, Cumberland College 2, Evansville College 1, Georgetown College 2, Kentucky Wesleyan College 1, Mississippi College 1, Ogden College 1, Ohio State University 1, Purdue 1, Union University 1, University of Cincinnati 1, University of Illinois 2, University of Kansas 1, University of Kentucky 43, University of Notre Dame 1, Virginia Military Institute 1, Washington & Lee University 2, Transylvania College 1, Western Kentucky State Normal 1.

The institutions represented by men holding degrees and the number from each are as follows: Brenan College 1, Centre College 2, Georgetown College 1, Mississippi College 1, University of Illinois 2, University of Kentucky 8, Washington & Lee University 1.

All except seven of the students claim Kentucky as their home. Of this seven, three are from Indiana, two from Tennessee, one from Mississippi and one from West Virginia.

The fact that many men who have attended other institutions where law colleges exist have chosen the University of Kentucky Law College speaks well for the law school.
