This document is a collective working inventory from LOEX participants of approaches that foster creative assessments and student-centered learning across the disciplines.

Framing questions:

- What alternative or project-based assessments have you seen on your campus?
- How have you collaborated on these alternative assessments? Or who are your campus collaborators?
- What do you consider to be your primary challenges for sustaining and/or scaling collaborative support for alternative assessments?
- What structures need to be in place and supported in order to achieve coordinated curricular support for student-centered, alternative assessments on your campus?

Reality Where you are	Needed Structures & Actions	Aspirations Where you want to be
