CONTRIBUTORS

Stephen Bernstein is currently a Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation Fellow at the University of Wisconsin—Madison. He is currently at work on a manuscript concerning the relationship of the Gothic novel to ideology and intertextuality.

James Alan Riley was a 1989 recipient of an Al Smith Fellowship from the Kentucky Arts Council, and he was a 1988 Fellow of the Ohio Arts Council. His fiction has appeared in West Branch, The Greensboro Review, and Wind, as well as other magazines. He is currently teaching in the Humanities Department of Pikeville College, where he is editor of The Pikeville Review.

Donald A. Ringe, Professor of English at the University of Kentucky, is the author of four books and numerous articles in American literature. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the SUNY edition of The Writings of James Fenimore Cooper and has just completed a four-year term (1986-1989) on the Board of Editors of American Literature.

John T. Shawcross is Professor of English at the University of Kentucky and author of studies in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, the most recent being Paradise Regain’d: 'Worthy Not to Have Remain’d So Long Unsung' (Pittsburgh: Duquense University Press, 1988). In 1985 he published The Collection of Works of John Milton in the Margaret I. King Library, University of Kentucky, the libraries’ Occasional Paper No. 8.
