Robert C. May was a photographer for the University of Kentucky Agriculture Information Department from 1956 to 1967. From 1967 to 1987 he held photographic, audio-visual, and publications management positions with International Business Machines in Lexington. Currently he teaches photography and photographic history in the Art Department at the University of Kentucky.

John T. Shawcross is Professor of English, University of Kentucky, and author of studies in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, the most recent being Paradise Regain'd: 'Worthy Not To Have Remain'd So Long Unsung' (Pittsburgh: Duquense University Press, 1988). In 1985 he published The Collection of Works of John Milton and Miltoniana in the Margaret I. King Library, University of Kentucky, the libraries’ Occasional Paper No. 8.

William S. Ward is Professor Emeritus in English at the University of Kentucky, where he served as chairman of the department (1951-1973) and was named Distinguished Professor of Arts and Sciences for 1972-1973. He is the author of six volumes dealing with the periodicals and literary reviews of the Age of Wordsworth. In retirement he has turned to the study of Kentucky literature and in November 1988 published A Literary History of Kentucky.

Edward W. Wolner teaches in the Department of Architecture, Ball State University, Muncie, Indiana.
