Contributors [v. 4, no. 2]

Follow this and additional works at: https://uknowledge.uky.edu/kentucky-review

Part of the Arts and Humanities Commons

Right click to open a feedback form in a new tab to let us know how this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation
Available at: https://uknowledge.uky.edu/kentucky-review/vol4/iss2/1

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the University of Kentucky Libraries at UKnowledge. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Kentucky Review by an authorized editor of UKnowledge. For more information, please contact UKnowledge@lsv.uky.edu.
THE KENTUCKY
REVIEW
THE KENTUCKY REVIEW

Volume IV Number 2 Winter 1983

CONTENTS

Congress Elects a President: Henry Clay and the Campaign of 1824
by Albert D. Kirwan ................................................................. 3
My Master Victor Hammer
by Harry Duncan ................................................................. 27
Eudora Welty: Listening to “Powerhouse” by Thomas H. Getz ................................................................. 40
Stephen Crane’s Concept of Death
by Joseph Katz ........................................................................ 49 Lost Places in Dreams and Texts: H.G. Wells’s The Autocracy of Mr. Parham by William J. Scheick ................................................................. 56

LIBRARY NOTES
The Peal Collection of Lamb Letters
by Edwin W. Marrs, Jr. ................................................................. 65
Selected Acquisitions ................................................................. 70
Donors ......................................................................................... 76

THE LIBRARY ASSOCIATES
Activities ..................................................................................... 78
Members ....................................................................................... 84
CONTRIBUTORS' NOTES

Harry Duncan prints Abattoir Editions at the University of Nebraska at Omaha Fine Arts Press and was recently hailed in Newsweek as "the father of the post-World War II private-press movement." Doors of Perception, a collection of his essays on book typography including the memoir in this issue, is forthcoming from W. Thomas Taylor, Austin, Texas.

Thomas H. Getz is Assistant Professor of English at the Pennsylvania State University, York Campus. He has written primarily on contemporary poetry and is currently working on John Gardner, Henry James, and John Ashbery.

Joseph Katz is Professor of English at the University of South Carolina. In addition to serving as editor of the Stephen Crane Newsletter and of Proof, he has prepared critical editions of many of Crane's works and published, as well, The Portable Stephen Crane (Viking, 1969), Stephen Crane in Transition (Northern Illinois University Press, 1972), and The Complete Poems of Stephen Crane (Cornell University Press, 1972).

Albert D. Kirwan was Professor of History at the University of Kentucky and its seventh president (1968-1969). Among his books are The Confederacy (Meridian, 1959), John J. Crittenden (Kentucky, 1962), and The South since Appomattox, with Thomas D. Clark (Oxford University Press, 1967).

Edwin W. Marrs, Jr., editor of The Letters of Charles and Mary Anne Lamb (Cornell University Press, 1975-), is Professor of English at the University of Pittsburgh. Since 1975 he has been a vice-president of the Charles Lamb Society. He also edited The Letters of Thomas Carlyle to His Brother Alexander, with Related Family Letters (Harvard University Press, 1968).