THE LIBRARY ASSOCIATES
CONTRIBUTORS' NOTES

James D. Birchfield, Curator of Rare Books at the University of Kentucky Libraries, has published articles in the Mark Twain Journal and in The Journal of Library History. His doctoral dissertation was "Swinburne: Views of Childhood" (Florida State University, 1976).

Holman Hamilton, whose death occurred June 7 of this year, was emeritus professor of history at the University of Kentucky. He has published extensively in American history and was an authority on Zachary Taylor, with Zachary Taylor: Soldier of the Republic and Zachary Taylor: Soldier in the White House (Bobbs-Merrill, 1941 and 1951) and The Three Kentucky Presidents: Lincoln, Taylor, Davis (University Press of Kentucky, 1978).

Andrew Lytle was for many years editor of the Sewanee Review as well as professor of English at the University of the South. He has written a biography of General Bedford Forrest, criticism, and novels, including A Name for Evil (Bobbs-Merrill, 1947) and The Velvet Horn (McDowell, Oblensky, 1957). His autobiography, A Wake for the Living (Crown), appeared in 1975. The introduction to his essay in The Kentucky Review is by J. A. Bryant, Jr., professor of English and chairman of the Department of English at the University of Kentucky.

Norma Prendergast is presently completing her doctorate in art history at Cornell University.

Hans Schmoller has served as director and consultant for Penguin Books and has received international awards for typography and book design. He has also lectured and written articles in the fields of book printing and design for such publications as The Times, Penrose Annual, and Signature.
